Message Set For Monday By Kennedy

President To Give His State Of Union Report At 12:30

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress at 12:30 p.m. Monday, the White House announced Tuesday.

The time and date for Kennedys' first appearance as President before a joint session of the Senate and House was fixed at a White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

The message, as outlined by presidential news secretary Pierre Salinger, will set forth Kennedy's assessment of world and domestic situations as he sees them after his first week in office.

It will be followed during the next couple of weeks by a series of messages presenting views and recommendations on the nation's economy, the budget, and specific legislative proposals.

Foreign Discussions Resumed

Tuesday's conference was devoted to disarmament problems and prospects for obtaining an agreement outlawing nuclear tests. It brought together the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, disarmament chief John J. McCloy, and other top advisers.

Kennedy Wednesday night will hold his first news conference as President. It will be carried live on major radio and television networks starting at 6 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The White House has announced that subsequent news conferences will be held alternately at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Weekly Meetings Planned

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told newsmen after the congressional leadership meeting with Kennedy that the session included a general discussion of problems facing the nation. Mainly, however, he said it was devoted to setting up arrangements for regular weekly meetings of party leaders and the President.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, predicting harmonious relations between Kennedy and Congress, has expressed belief Kennedy will include Republican leaders in briefings on vital international matters.

Fire Engulfs Oil Refinery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A series of explosions touched off a big fire at a refinery on the industry-crowded Houston ship channel Tuesday night.

First reports indicated at least three persons were injured at the Signal Oil & Refining Co. plant. A fire at the same plant a year ago injured seven.

The flames engulfed two huge storage tanks near the refinery's waterfront dock. Several other storage tanks were nearby.

Residents in the area reported hearing one loud blast and several smaller ones.

Macmillan Hopes To Meet Kennedy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday he hopes to meet President Kennedy in the near future, but that a date has still to be fixed. Macmillan spoke in the House of Commons in response to questions about a possible conference with Kennedy to discuss problems of the Western alliance and a summit meeting with the Soviet Union.

Hoffa Shouts 'Lie' At Probe

Denounces Wire Tape Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster President James R. Hoffa on Tuesday shouted, "It's a lie," when confronted with a tape recording quoting him as telling a local union official that "I don't care if you want to steal. . (but) don't get caught."

The fiery boss of the 1.4-million member truckers union shouted the rebuttal as he appeared under subpoena for questioning by the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, headed by his old antagonist, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Hoffa accused McClellan, who read from the transcript of the recording, of presenting "unfit" wire tape evidence which could be altered to disguise voices and even change the meaning of the conversation.

"You'd be the first to scream if someone 'bugged' your office," the teamster president told the senator.

Challenged Authority

Earlier, Hoffa challenged the authority of the Senate investigators to question him about charges that he has failed to rid the Teamsters of corrupt influences.

The challenge was immediately rejected by McClellan. But Hoffa, in a 55-minute argument, won several other concessions on ground rules under which he would testify.

He got McClellan to agree that he could look at his testimony after he was finished and make changes under oath if he felt they were necessary for an accurate record. McClellan also acquiesced to Hoffa's demand that television and still cameramen be barred from taking pictures while the fiery Teamster boss was testifying.

Hoffa coupled his protest with a demand for a "bill of particulars," complaining that the congressional investigators had not given him advance information on the questions he would be asked.

Rejected Protest

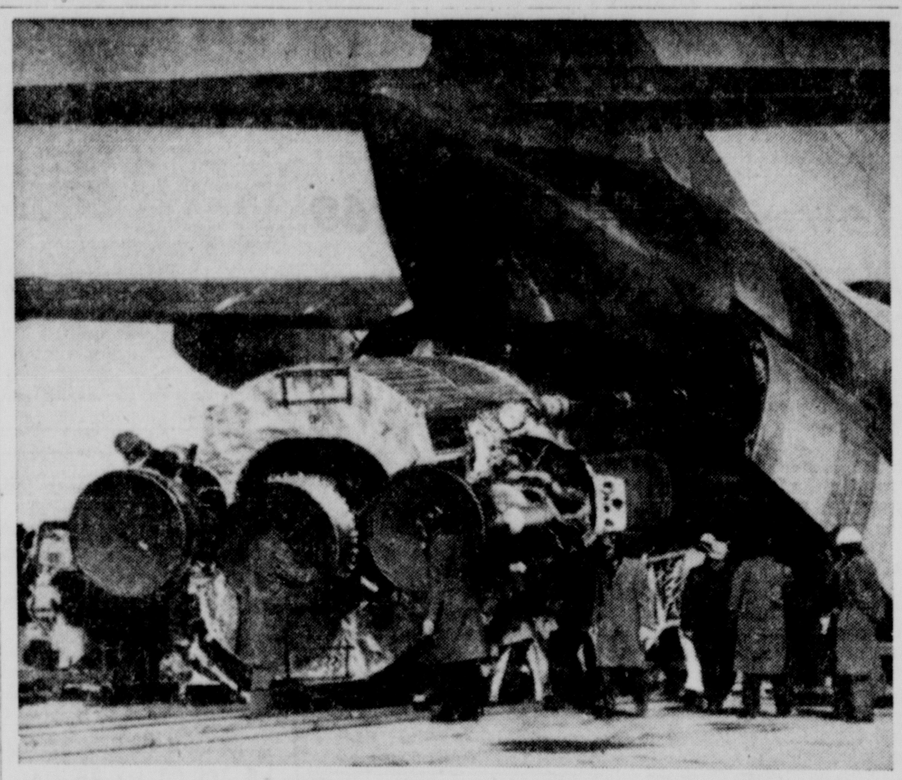

However, McClellan, who had faced Hoffa many times in the past as head of the old Senate Rackets Committee, rejected his protest that the subcommittee did not have authority to investigate the union and several oher protests.

The senator also threw out Hoffa's claim that "adverse publicity" on his testimony might prevent him from receiving a fair trial in connection with a Florida land deal case.

The transcript used by McClellan came from a recording made by police who "bugged" the New York apartment of Racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo in 1959 during a secret conference with two Teamster officers.

Two union officers, both of New York Teamster local 239, allegedly were relaying orders from Hoffa to Corallo, a former vice president of the local. Police have described Corallo as one of the "most prominent underworld figures in the United States."

Corallo, who had been dodging subpoena servers since last May, was located earlier Tuesday and served with an order to appear before the committee later Tuesday or Wednesday.

First ICBM Arrives In Kansas

The first Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile to be based in Kansas was unloaded from an Air Force C133 transport at Forbes AFB, Topeka, yesterday. Workmen slowly maneuvered the 75-foot long missile down the unloading ramp after its arrival from the San Diego factory. It will eventually be located on one of nine launch sites surrounding Topeka. Two other missile complexes for Atlases and Titans under construction at Wichita and Salina will bring to 39 the number of launching locations in Kansas—the greatest number of operational sites in a single state.

Castro, Cuban Rebels Pledge Reprisal Deaths

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba faced Tuesday a dark future of assassinations and reprisal executions.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared that 20 prisoners held on charges of hanging a volunteer school teacher would be subjected to "persecution such as they could never imagine."

Castro disclosed that insurgents operating in Las Villas Province as members of the "army of liberation" had seized an 18-year-old teacher along with two members of Castro's workers' militia and hanged all three.

The rebels have sworn to avenge each death before Castro's execution wall.

Castro's announcement came in a televised speech before volunteer teachers receiving their diplomas. He said the hangings took place early this month. He asserted the Roman Catholic clergy and "agents of imperialism" had given "ideological arms" to the rebels.

He read from a document he said was found in the camp of a rebel force operating in south central Cuba. In it the slain teacher was accused of teaching the Communist line to Cuban farmers. The teachers, many of them from the militia, work among the farmers as part of the government's literacy program.

As he announced the teacher's death, the young Cubans receiving their diplomas turned the ceremonies into an uproar by shouting "to the execution wall."

As for the 20 prisoners in Las Villas, Castro shouted: "Nothing will save them, not even the mercenaries they are expecting or their imperialist bosses. Over all of them will befall persecution such as they could never imagine."

Elizabeth Sees Philip Kill Tiger

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II Tuesday perched in a tower 25 feet above the jungle floor and watched Prince Philip kill an eight foot nine inch tiger with a single shot.

An official spokesman here said that the queen was only about 30 yards from the tower in which her husband waited for the tiger.

The spokesman said Philip caught the beast in the head with his one shot and that there was no need for a second bullet.

Immediately after the kill the royal couple returned to the hunting lodge of the Maharajah of Jaipur at Sawai Madhopur, a town at the edge of the jungle 200 miles south of here.

The tiger hunt was part of a series of events planned for the queen and her husband during their 39-day tour of the East.

64 Laos Rebels Reported Slain

LUANG PRABANG, Laos, Wednesday (UPI)—Sixty-four pro-Communist guerrillas were reported today to have been killed in a battle with government troops 50 miles southwest of this Laotian royal capital. It was feared Luang Prabang may be facing a major rebel encircling move.

Government army sources did not immediately confirm the relatively high Pathet Lao rebel casualties reported by reliable sources in Sayaboury Province.

Sources in Vientiane said the Army was rushing reinforcements to intercept large forces of pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops seen moving eastward through Sayaboury Province toward Luang Prabang.

The clash with guerrilla forces was reported to have occurred at Muong Sang Sa, a small town eight miles south of the Mekong River and upstream from Luang Prabang at a spot where the river flows from west to east.

House Rules Group Clears Rayburn Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership-backed plan to inject more Kennedy program backers into the House Rules Committee moved Tuesday a step closer to the crucial test and possible death.

The decisive vote comes Thursday, when the House, after an hour of floor debate, takes up the plan.

It cleared the Rules Committee by a 6-2 vote, with all the balloting done by Democrats. The lone Republican present, Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, didn't vote. His only GOP colleague, Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, was absent. There are two Republican vacancies.

The two dissenting votes came from Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, who often in the past have sided with the four Republicans to block liberal bills from clearing the committee.

The plan backed by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas would break the deadlock by adding two more Democrats-presumably liberals—and one more Republican. If all 15 vote the way Rayburn has them pegged, the coalition then would be on the short end of an 8-7 count, and President Kennedy's legislative program would have smoother sailing.

Rayburn proposed the membership increase with the idea of assuring that legislation approved by standing committees would get a chance to be considered by the full House membership without being sidetracked in the Rules Committee.

Republicans and Southern Democrats opposing the proposal call it "packing" and have read into it a plot by liberals to block amendments to major bills. The Rules Committee normally calls the shots on how bills shall be handled on the House floor. It may approve "closed rules" barring amendments, or "open rules" permitting all sorts of alterations.

Lumumbist Troops Invade Province

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Forces loyal to Patrice Lumumba were reported Tuesday to have launched a strong thrust into northern Congo territory controlled by President Joseph Kasavubu.

Congolese official sources said heavy formations of Lumumbist troops from Oriental Province marched across the borders of Equator Province Monday near the town of Bumba.

There was no immediate confirmation by U.N. authorities. Congolese sources were unable to say if fighting erupted or how many men were involved.

Bus Plunge Kills 14

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Fourteen persons were killed Monday when a bus plunged down an embankment 50 miles north of Bangkok. Twenty other passengers were seriously injured.

Kasavubu Charges UAR Interference

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —President Joseph Kasavubu of the Congo charged the United Arab Republic Tuesday with flagrant interference in his country's internal affairs and asked the U.N. Security Council to meet and take "appropriate measures."

Kasavubu and his foreign affairs commissioner, Justin Bomboko, cabled a request to the council president for January. He happens to be U.A.R. delegate Omar Loutfi.

In his cable, Kasavubu did not spell out what he called U.A.R. interference in violation of Congolese national sovereignty.

But Kasavubu's side has accused the U.A.R. of sending arms into Oriental Province for the use of pro-Lumumba forces there.

Meat, Eggs Added To List Of Free Food

Government Will Provide Tastier Variety To Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a month or so, low-income persons who get free food from the federal government will have a tastier variety—including meat, eggs and other items.

That was announced Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in line with President Kennedy's order to double the food the government is providing for the nation's needy.

At present, food being distributed includes flour, corn meal, nonfat dry milk, rice, lard and butter. These are acquired under farm price support programs as surplus items.

Canned Pork, Dried Beans

Under Freeman's expanded plan, foods will be purchased and added to the distribution list. They will include canned pork and gravy, dried beans and dried whole egg solids.

There were reports that Kennedy is considering asking Congress to authorize quickly extra money for unemployed.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told of the President's concern about the jobless after talking with him Monday. He said Kennedy may have something to say about this at his news conference Wednesday.

Campaign Promise Recalled

While unemployment and the needy are not in all cases related, the two areas are closely linked. Kennedy's actions in these fields are steps to carry out his campaign promise that he would move quickly to relieve the distress in areas of chronic unemployment.

About 3.5 million needy persons in about one-third of the nation's counties now are receiving food from the federal government. Distribution is made through state and local welfare agencies.

The foods are distributed only in those states and counties which assume the responsibility and cost of determining who is eligible and making actual distributions.

Caplin To Get Revenue Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer Caplin, 44, a University of Virginia law professor, was chosen by President Kennedy Tuesday to be internal revenue commissioner.

The White House announced that Kennedy will formally nominate Caplin, a Democrat, shortly.

Caplin, whose home is at Charlottesville, Va., teaches corporate and tax law in the university Law School.

A native of New York, Caplin was educated in public schools there. He received a bachelor of science degree in economics and political science at the University of Virginia in 1937. He won a law degree at the same university three years later.

Caplin worked as a law clerk to a federal judge before joining the law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison in New York City, after graduation from law school. During World War II he served as a lieutenant junior grade in the Navy and was decorated for bravery during the Normandy invasion.

After the war he returned to the New York law firm and continued private practice until 1950 when he joined the University of Virginia Law School faculty.

Cold Wave May Not Ease Grip Until Friday

By The Associated Press

Piercing cold weather held the East and Midwest in an icy grasp Tuesday. It may not let go until Friday.

Temperatures hit 31 degrees below zero at Devils Lake, N.D., and 30 below at Old Town, Maine.

Zero to -15 readings were common in the northern Midwest and parts of New England.

Forecasters predicted an early return to subzero temperatures from the Upper Plains and the Mississippi Valley through New England and the Atlantic states.

At noon, Huron, S.D. had warmed up to a frigid -22 degrees while Anchorage, Alaska, recorded 38.

Midwinter's longest and most severe cold snap gripped New York and Maine in bitter weather for the sixth straight day.

No letup was in sight for the area from the Great Plains to the Atlantic seaboard. Cold wave warnings indicated the arctic air from Canada would move during Wednesday's early hours from the southern half of the plains into Virginia with temperatures dropping to near zero as far south as Kansas, Kentucky and West Virginia. Freezing temperatures were likely in the gulf region.

The leading edge of the arctic air mass Tuesday extended from New Jersey across northern Georgia into western Texas. Subzero temperatures also were recorded in Nebraska and northern Illinois. The sub teens prevailed from New England into Kansas, while the 50s and 60s were common from the Carolinas into the gulf region. Some 70s were noted in Florida.

A. C. Gilbert, Erector Set Inventor, Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Alfred Carlton Gilbert, 76, the toy manufacturer who invented the Erector set, died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

He was chairman of the board of A. C. Gilbert Co., New Haven, which he had founded and served as president, an office now held by his son, A. C. Gilbert Jr.

Gilbert, who died in the New England Baptist Hospital at Boston, was a graduate of Yale College and Medical School, and an Olympic pole vault champion of half a century ago.

Passengers Safe, Rebel Leader Says

Portugese Ship's Seizure Is Termed Start Of Revolution

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The $1.6-million hijacked passenger liner Santa Maria eluded three navies during a day of frantic search of the Caribbean Tuesday and an exiled Portuguese political leader said it was seized as a political blow against his country's dictatorship.

"We are not pirates, only politicians," said Gen. Humberto Delgado, a defeated and exiled presidential candidate, in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Despite appeals by Delgado not to interfere, U. S., British and Dutch ships and planes crisscrossed the Caribbean and adjacent Atlantic areas in search of the 20,906-ton liner.

The ship is carrying 950 crewmen and passengers—26 or more of them Americans.

Delgado said all passengers were safe but warned that the rebel band in control will resist if they are attacked.

He said the Santa Maria was commandeered Monday by Capt. Henrique Malta Galvao, an exiled Portuguese author and adventurer, who apparently boarded the vessel at Curacao, Dutch Antilles, one of its regular stops.

Promises To Land Passengers

Delgado, who ran for president in Portugal in 1958, said he received a message from Galvao promising to "disembark the passengers at the first neutral port that gives us that possibility without confiscation."

Asked what port this might be, Delgado laughed and answered: "That's something I cannot tell you under the circumstances."

A U. S. Navy spokesman said earlier the sea hunt for the Santa Maria was being carried out under the well-defined terms of international law governing piracy and insurrection aboard ship.

Delgado quoted Galvao's radio message as saying "the ship's crew accepted the occupation as a fait accompli (a fact accomplished), is maintaining discipline and, in major part, the passengers are enthusiastically with us."

Galvao earlier radioed an all's well message to the world's newspapers. He called the seizure—carried out by about 70 armed men who killed the ship's third officer—the first step in a movement to overthrow Portugal's dictator, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Brazilian officials said they intend to abide by international and Brazilian law in case the Santa Maria puts into a Brazilian port. Their statement did not appear to close the door completely to receiving the hijackers under political asylum.

May Proclaim New Regime

A source in Lisbon said if Galvao "manages to land anywhere on Portuguese soil with Delgado, he will proclaim the formation of a new Portuguese government and appeal to all democratic and Socialist nations to recognize its rights.

"He may even do it from aboard the Santa Maria," the source said, "and probably Soviet Russia would respond to the appeal."

Galvao, 66, a former army captain and fugitive from an 18-year treason sentence in Portugal, referred to the Santa Maria as "this liberated part of our national territory."

Shipping agents said the Santa Maria carried 588 passengers and 364 crewmen when she put out of La Guarira, Venezuela, last weekend. Among them were Americans, Dutch, Venezuelans, Spaniards and Portuguese.

Of the passengers at that time, 79 were in transit and 509 went aboard at La Guiara. In the latter group six were Americans—Prof. Fly Preston of Los Angeles, his wife and four sons.

Malfunction Halts Advanced Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—(UPI)—The Air Force Tuesday launched its second Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile in as many days, but the advanced model rocket developed troubles and fell far short of its goal.

The 85-foot Atlas "E", capable of hurling a nuclear warhead nearly halfway around the world, was triggered from the cape at 4:55 p.m. EST on a planned flight of 5,000 miles over the Atlantic ocean.

The bulky missile seemed on its way to success when, according to the Air Force, "a malfunction occurred after booster separation." This meant the Atlas' engines apparently cut off too soon.

Mother Who Doped Two Tots Given Year In Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman Tuesday called Lillian Fratantonio, 29, a "cruel mother" in giving her the maximum penalty of a year in jail for drugging her famed "sleeping beauty" daughters into mysterious comas.

"You not only were a cruel mother but an unworthy wife to your husband," Woldman told the petite brunette mother of five children. "You probably are the type of woman who never should have had children."

The judge released her on $2,500 bond while her attorneys appeal but he made it plain he has no intention of suspending the jail sentence and $500 fine.

The judge said he found no evidence that she was mentally unbalanced.

He told her she realized the suffering the children underwent in the medical tests, such as spinal taps, and accused her of enjoying the limelight.

"It was too good a show for you to pass up," Woldman said. He said she was an "unkind mother" who received a vicarious thrill in the limelight of publicity at the expense of her children.

Mrs. Fratantonio was convicted Dec. 6 of the criminal neglect of her two daughters, Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 6, whom she kept under sedation with barbituates.

Their case drew nationwide attention when some of the top medical men in the country were unable to solve the mystery of their long comas.

Rebels On Ship To Fight If Attacked, Leader Says

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Gen. Humberto Delgado, exiled Portuguese political leader, said Tuesday the rebels who seized control of the Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria will resist if they are attacked.

Gen. Delgado, unsuccessful candidate for president of Portugal in 1958 elections, said he had received a radio message from former army Capt. Henrique Galvao, the leader of the armed band that took over the ship, saying they will never surrender.

Delgado quoted Galvao as saying: "We will disembark the passengers at the first neutral port that gives us that possibility without confiscation."

Asked if an interview what neutral port Galvao might be headed for, Delgado laughed and said, "That's something I cannot tell you under the circumstances."

He refused to say what might be the rebels' potential for warding off an attack.

The message indicated Galvao acted under Delgado's authority as the head of a national independent liberation junta.

Delgado sent identical telegrams to American Ambassador John Moors Cabot and British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Wallinger requesting they tell their governments "the Santa Maria case does not represent mutiny or piracy but is an appropriation of a Portuguese transport by Portuguese men for Portuguese political purposes.

"I ask insistently that your government does not interfere in any case," Delgado added.

Chief Of Ship Hijackers Has Led Stormy Life

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Henrique Malta Galvao, master pro tem of the cruise liner Santa Maria, is a hawk-faced revolutionary convicted three times of trying to overthrow Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Now he is trying again—at sea.

Premier Salazar has denounced Galvao's seizure of the liner as a preposterous crime and called for an international hunt for recovery of the ship.

Galvao is 66, a novelist, playwright, soldier, politician and big game hunter who has set his sights again on Salazar after two years in exile in South America as a fugitive from an 18-year prison sentence.

He is tall and lean, with burning eyes. He is an indefatigable writer on politics, big game hunting, plays and romance. He has always had a wide circle of friends.

Galvao is a former captain in the Portuguese army and a one-time supporter of Salazar but swung long ago into opposition to the Portuguese dictatorship.

The turning point apparently came while Galvao was serving as government inspector in Angola, a Portuguese West African colony that is a neighbor of the Congo. The government pigeonholed his reports and never made public his findings.

In December 1952, Galvao was tried with a group of other army officers and civilians on a charge of plotting against the state. He was convicted. The conviction was quashed the following year, but he was thrown out of the army.

In 1958 he was tried—once publicly and later in secret—for a variety of charges which included inciting people to revolt.

That was a presidential campaign year and Galvao's candidate was Gen. Humberto Delgado, director general of civil aviation, who ran as an independent with the backing of liberal Republicans.

Delgado and a leftist opposition candidate, Dr. Arlindo Vicente, poet and painter, were swamped in a landslide by Salazar's man, Rear Adm. Americo Thomaz. Thomaz remains Portugal's president. Delgado charged the election was a fake. He took refuge in Portuguese-speaking Brazil.

At Galvao's public trial he was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. Later, a prison inspection showed he was printing and distributing pamphlets both inside the prison and outside, with the complicity of sympathizers, and calling on the people to revolt.

After a secret trial in May 1958, he was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Bomber Toting Atomic Devices Crashes; 3 Die

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — A 200 - ton swept-wing Air Force B52G bomber carrying two unarmed nuclear devices broke up in flight Tuesday and three of the eight crewmen aboard were killed in the flaming crash.

One of the atomic weapons was jettisoned by parachute and floated to earth intact. The other was found inside the flame-enveloped wreckage that was strewn for a mile and a half over North Carolina farmland and along a rural road 15 miles north of Goldsboro.

The five crewmen who escaped parachuted from the eight - jet global bomber. They suffered only minor injuries.

Asbestos suit-clad Air Force fire fighters waded into the burning wreckage and found the bodies of two crewmen. Maj. Eugene Richards, 42, of Toccoa, Ga., and T-Sgt. Francis R. Barnish, 35, of Greenfield, Mass., in the nose section.

The body of Maj. Eugene Shelton, 41, radar navigator, of San Antonio, Tex., was found hanging by parachute shroud lines in a tree about five hours after the crash. Officers said Shelton may have been blown from the disintegrating plane.

Officials stressed that neither of the two nuclear devices aboard the plane had been assembled and that there was no danger of an atomic explosion or harmful radiation.

Passengers Safe

the pirate once plied his trade under the skull and crossbones, Galvao radioed that he will put the passengers ashore safely in the first port that assures him against internment of the ship.

Eight of the crew were put off in a lifeboat at Castries in the Windward Islands.

Apparently in an effort to establish a basis of legality for the seizure, he declared it was "a political action foreseen in the international maritime laws." The crew accepted that fact, he said, and the reaction of most of the passengers was enthusiastic.

Galvao said the ship was seized "in the name of the international junta of liberals presided over by Gen. Humberto Delgado, president-elect of the Portuguese Republic fraudulently deprived of his rights by the Salazar government."

Delgado as a youth took part in the 1926 revolution that brought Salazar to power. He is now an exile in Brazil. He was candidate for president of Portugal in 1958. Defeated by a landslide for Salazar's man, Rear Adm. Americo Tomas, Delgado said he was robbed.

With oil for a 5,000-mile voyage and food for 20 days, Galvao was set to go far if he could throw off the frigates, destroyers and planes seeking him.

One factor in the hunt was a reported threat of Galvao's band to scuttle the liner if there is interference.

British Admiralty orders to the frigates Rothesay and Ulster were to try to arrest the liner if this could be done peacefully outside territorial waters "without loss of life or the risk of scuttling."

Bolder orders were carried by the U. S. destroyers Wilson and Damato. They were instructed to "visit and search" the Santa Maria upon locating her and, if they found evidence of piracy, to escort her to the nearest United States port. A Navy spokesman said that could be either Miami, Fla., or San Juan.

Administration Seen Entering Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression is out-from the Kennedy administration's quick and auspiciously successful role in settling the New York tugboat strike—that the federal government intends to take a hand in settling big labor disputes.

The impression probably will turn out to be correct, but the actual size of the government role remains to be seen.

Arthur J. Goldberg, the labor union-oriented new secretary of labor in President Kennedy's Cabinet, says anything "we can do to help compose a dispute, to prevent it, to shorten it, we are available for that purpose."

But he told newsmen upon his return from New york—where he played a key role in settling the crippling tugboat strike that had stalled East Coast rail traffic—"this does not mean, I hasten to add, that every little dispute in the country will require this type of participation. Obviously that would be impossible."

Goldberg, former special counsel to the AFL-CIO and to several of its key unions, objected to describing the part he played in breaking the negotiation deadlock in New York as governmental "intervention."

He said he would rather call it "an expression or indication of the concern and interest of the government in a dispute which strikes at the very vitals of the federal system."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had a policy of avoiding such extra-curricular federal action in labor disputes.

However, there seldom was a major dispute that Eisenhower's labor secretary, James P. Mitchell, wasn't trying to help settle from behind the scenes if not on the firing line as was Goldberg in the New York negotiations.

Pilots Alternate

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The air force and the navy have solved their dispute over who will fly the planes on Brazil's new aircraft carrier Minas Gerais, bought from Britain and now on its way from refitting in the Netherlands. The solution: air force pilots will have the job for a year, then navy pilots.

Tawes Would Create 869 New Jobs, Eliminate 66

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The commissioner of personnel, who reviews the bids of Maryland state employes for salary raises, would get one himself under Gov. Tawes' new budget.

Among salary proposals made by the governor to the legislature Tuesday was a raise to $15,000 a year from the present $12,700 paid the commissioner.

The job is now held by Russell S. Davis. His six-year term expires shortly before the budget will go into effect July 1, and Davis is expected to be reappointed by the governor.

The governor's salary proposals are contained in the personnel detail book, a 144-page budget supplement which is closely read by most legislators.

In the booklet are found the salary allowances of all state employes and officials.

Topping all salaries are roads commission chairman John B. Funk and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, University of Maryland president, at $25,000 each.

Legislation is now being considered to raise Court of Appeals associate judges from $21,000 to $25,000 each and chief judge from $22,000 to $25,500.

Tawes' budget calls for the creation of 869 new jobs and the elimination of 66 existing ones, making a net increase of 803 at a cost of $2,967,271.

Of the new positions, 280 are listed for the staffing of new or expanded facilities, including 77 at the new diagnostic center of the Patuxent Institution. That's where persons inclined toward repeated serious crimes because of emotional or mental deficiency are examined, treated and confined.

Another 5o new jobs would be set up to staff the 200-bed geriatric building and 41 for the Male Active Treatment Building of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

New units of the University of Maryland would be staffed by 86 new employes and new units of the state teachers colleges by 10.

Airliner Carrying 48 Makes Belly Landing

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A Capital Airlines Viscount carrying 44 passengers and a crew of four made a near-perfect belly landing on a snow and ice covered runway at Greater Pittsburgh Airport Tuesday after both main landing gear collapsed. There were no injuries.

The sleek, four engine turboprop airliner skidded approximately 2,500 feet on its underside after the landing gear crumbled.

Tawes Urges Improved Care Of Mentally Ill

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday proposed a new approach to treatment of the mentally ill and improved standards of nursing home care in his budget message to the General Assembly.

Tawes said he is providing funds, to be used on a matching basis with Baltimore City and the counties, to set up day-care centers for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

This is in line with a naitonal trend toward keeping patients as close to the community as possible instead of shutting them off in wards of state institutions.

The governor requested $1,519,586 in increased funds to get the program started.

He said as a result of improved care of the mentally ill, the state's hospitals showed a patient decline for the fifth straight year — from 10,830 for last fiscal year to 10,746 for the first five months of the current year.

With the planned operation of the day hospitals and care centers, the hospital population should drop even further, he said.

The program was drafted last year by State Planning Committee as a first step toward merging programs of the health and mental hygiene departments.

Looted Bank To Start Paying Depositors

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — The Sheldon National Bank, where president's daughter Mrs. Burnice Geiger stole $2 million, will start paying off to depositors Thursday, it was announced Tuesday night.

But no depositor will be able to take away more than $10,000.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), whose agents are now in charge of the looted bank, said the institution would open its doors to the public for the first time since Jan. 17 at 9 a.m.

Sheldon residents whose savings have been frozen for a week will be able to get at their money again.

Jobless Pay Revision Plan Praised, Assailed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Management Tuesday praised as a step forward and labor described as regressive the same proposed changes in Maryland's jobless pay program.

Sen. Fred C. Malkus and W. F. Strong of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO clashed at the outset of a hearing.

Strong, in leading off for labor, declared that eight changes recommended by a Legislative Council committee were the recommendations of the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Malkus, chairman of the committee and conducting the hearing before a full house of several hundred, took exception to Strong's remark.

Toward the end of the hearing, Malkus told Strong: "I don't think you are representing your union people too well."

Malkus was referring to Strong's opposition to disqualifying workers who voluntarily quit, are fired for misconduct or refuse to take other suitable work from any jobless benefits.

A parade of management witnesses earlier had applauded such action as necessary plugging of what they called loopholes which have been abused.

"Union people are not the ones taking advantage of them," Malkus told Strong. "As long as you continue fighting for the others, you're going to have less to give to the bona fide people out of work."

"I am advocating humanity," replied Strong. "I don't uphold wrong doers. As for the so-called chiseler, there has been no documentary proof of any appreciable amount.

"Why legislate against a few sinners and affect all Christians?"

Malkus described as the key recommendation the proposed discontinuance of benefits to workers who quit or are involved in cases of misconduct firings and refusals to take comparable work.

Such workers now may have their benefits deferred for from one to nine weeks, but then can collect them in full. These claims accounted for $11½ million of Maryland's jobless benefits a year ago.

The tax on employers for the unemployment fund amounted to $45 million last year, reported William S. Wilson of the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

"It is the largest single tax take in Maryland," he advised the two judiciary committees of the legislature. He added:

"Only the honest employe in need of benefits is what business and the public wants and what labor should want."

The council committee has recommended that the maximum weekly benefit be increased from $35 to $38 a week.

Labor will counter with several proposals at a continuation of the hearing Wednesday.

It wants the maximum weekly benefit to equal two-thirds of the wages earned by the worker before losing his job. It also is proposing that employers be taxed at a rate of 2.7 per cent on the first $4,800 of an individual's wages.

Employers now are given an experience rating on the basis of the stability of their work force and are taxed accordingly from 1.2 to 4.2 per cent on the first $3,000.

Trial Of Rees Begins Today In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr., charged in the kidnap-murder of two members of a Virginia family, begins Wednesday in U.S. District Court here.

Rees is charged in the death of Mrs. Carroll V. Jackson and her daughter, Susan Ann, 5, of Apple Grove, Va.

The indictment accuses the Hyattsville, Md., musician of taking Mrs. Jackson across the state line "for the purpose of beating her . . . having sexual gratification upon her body . . . and killing her."

Rees was arrested in West Memphis, Ark., 15 months after the bodies of the mother and daughter were found in a shallow grave at the end of a lover's lane near Gambrills, Md. on March 22, 1959.

He is charged by Virginia authorities in the slaying of the husband, Carroll V. Jackson Jr., and another daughter, Janet, 18 months.

Rees also is accused in the murder of Mrs. Margaret V. Harold near Gambrills June 26, 1957.

Rees, who has been held in Baltimore since his arrest, has pleaded innocent to all charges.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—The monster of Baltimore's north side may have been a shaggy dog, says the only man who saw the beast.

A service station attendant set off the Sunday search for the animal with black hair, big eyes, long teeth and the overall appearance of a six-foot-tall kangaroo.

A laboratory test of two pools of blood left when the attendant smacked the beast with a length of pipe turned out to be traces of transmission oil. "It might have been a dog," said the 39-year-old gas station employe, Paul Quinn.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harrison L. Winter, Baltimore City solicitor, ruled Tuesday the City Council has authority under its police powers to adopt a minimum wage and hour ordinance.

The ruling came in connection with a bill to set a minimum $1 an hour wage, with time and a half pay for work beyond 40 hours. The bill before the council would exempt executives, professional employes and outside salesmen, but would cover wages paid maids and other domestic workers.

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Thirty-eight patients were evacuated without injury from a men's convalescent cottage at the Spring Grove State Hospital Tuesday when a fire broke out on the second floor of the building.

More than 100 firemen who answered the three - alarm blaze brought the flames under control within 25 minutes. The damage, expected to run into the thousands of dollars, was confined to the roof and ceiling above one room.

Bill Would Ban Capital Punishment

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill to abolish the death penalty was introduced in the Maryland Legislature Tuesday by Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot.

The measure includes explanatory material, noting that the State Declaration of Rights and its Constitution "have declared that sanguinary laws ought to be avoided as far as it is consistent with the safety of the state."

The death penalty, says the bill, is "sanguinary," or harsh and its abolition would be "consistent with the safety of the state and . . .in the interest of sound morality."

The measure would provide for life sentences in capital punishment criminal cases.

Earlier, a similar bill was introduced in the House by Del. Richard T. Rombro, D-4th Balto.

$20 Million In Bonds Sold By Maryland

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland sold $20,030,000 worth of bonds Tuesday at a net interest rate of 2.718 per cent, the lowest in more than four years.

Submitted by Bankers Trust Co. of New York, the 2.718 per cent rate compares with 2.98 per cent for which state bonds were sold last June and the 3.30 per cent rate of a sale six months earlier. The 3.30 rate was the highest in at least 20 years.

Snow Ball Raises $2,800 For Memorial Hospital

The spirit of Old Vienna and the days of the Hapsburgs reigned again last Saturday night at the Cumberland Country Club when the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary raised approximately $2,800 at its Charity Snow Ball.

Blue and white Celanese fabric was draped in artistic lines from the ceilings and along the sidewalls of the ballroom and supper rooms. Crystal chandeliers hung in these rooms and crystal prisms were attached to the draperies. In the middle of the ballroom was suspended a huge snow ball dotted with tiny mirrors which revolved slowly, picking up the rays from the various colored spotlights centered on it. White columns lined the ballroom walls and on top of each column and in the corners of the room were arrangements of white branches and pine bougns. Two Italian garden figures depicting summer and winter stood on pedestals in a setting of white and pine branches. The candlelighted supper rooms featured table arrangements of white mums and gold - specked pine in crystal bowls which were flanked on each side by tall crystal candlesticks. A large vase of white gladiolus and mums highlighted a winter scene in the lobby and guests arriving were greeted by the music of recorded Strauss waltzs.

The attractive dance program featured on the front a sketch of a ballroom scene of bygone days dominated by a huge crystal chandelier, and on the back, an outdoor scene showing Memorial Hospital on its hill and below a group of merrymakers in a sleigh.

Mrs. John A. Moberly, general chairman for the dance, announced that approximately $2,800 had been raised at the Snow Ball and that the supply of tickets had been exhausted a week before the event. Mrs. Moberly was assisted by Mrs. Frank Butt, who handled the table reservations. Also on the general committee were Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth, decorations chairman, assisted by Mrs. William H. Ryan, Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Simon Rosebaum II. Mrs. John R. Wilkinson was publicity chairman. Also assisting the committee were Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, Mrs. Charles F. Helmrich, Mrs. Irving Millenson, Mrs. Frederic W. Eiler, Mrs. George M. Young and Mrs. William H. Geppert.

A grand march, led by Dr. and Mrs. Ryan, and including other board members and dance chairmen with their husbands, formally opened the ball. Music for the evening was played by the Dick Lewis Orchestra of Morgantown, W. Va.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to purchase furniture for the nurses' home and to assist in the redecorating of the maternity wing of the hospital.

Allegany County Homemakers Clubs Plan Two Meetings

Two meetings have been scheduled for Allegany Homemakers Clubs, according to Miss Mary P. Wise, home demonstration agent.

A clothing meeting will be held January 30 at 1:15 p. m. in the Extension Office at the Court House. It is for club and county clothing chairmen and discussion will be on the topic, "Wardrobe Dollars and Sense." This meeting was originally planned for January 26, but the date was changed because of a conflict with another meeting.

An executive board meeting of county officers and chairmen and club presidents will be held February 1 at 10:15 a. m. in the Extension office. The most important item of business will be a discussion on making plans for the National Home Demonstration Week to be celebrated May 1-6. County chairmen will make their reports and discuss ideas or programs they might wish to promote.

Society Discusses Observance

The Women's Society of World Service of First EUB Church discussed tentative plans for drafting local society by-laws and the observance of "World Service Day," which will be February 5, when the women will have special parts in the morning service.

All chairmen made reports during the business session which was conducted by Mrs. William Knotts. The women of the church were urged to participate in the 75th annual World Day of Prayer observance, February 17, and were invited to attend any of the several services which are to be held at various hours in Cumberland that day.

Members also were asked to support the young people in a special observance of Youth Week, which will be January 29 through February 5.

"Into all the world together" was the theme of the program, held in the fellowship hall, with Mrs. Nelson Estep as leader. The problems and tensions in a changing world were discussed by Mrs. William Brake, Mrs. Frank Wilson Jr., Mrs. Denver Corley, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Milton Johnson, and Mrs. Bernice Wolford. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Mamie Aronholt. Mrs. Whiting Linaberg led in prayer and the group sang, "The Church's One Foundation."

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by the program committee.

Hospital Party Postponed

The hospital party planned for Newton D. Baker VA Center in Martinsburg on Sunday by the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of World War I Barracks 1125 has been postponed on account of weather conditions.

East Side PTA will hold a ham supper Thursday from 5 until 7 p. m. at the school. Candy will also be sold.

The executive board of the LaVale Century Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the LaVale Library.

Panel To Feature Jr. Woman's Civic Club Meeting Tonight

A panel discussion will feature the meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club tonight at the Woman's Civic Club House. The topic will be "Changes in Trends in Medicine," with Dr. Carlton Brinsfield as moderator. This program is being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society, as part of its program of public medical education.

Serving on the panel with Dr. Brinsfield will be Dr. William Iames, Dr. Leland Ransom, Mrs. Glady Brooks and E. R. Kellough.

A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion with the audience invited to submit questions to the panelists.

Thompson Class Has Meeting

The Thompson Bible Class of Flintstone Methodist Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Mabel Bible. Mrs. B. C. Robinette was in charge of devotions on the theme, "The New Year."

The meeting opened with the group singing "He's My Best Friend," followed by prayer by Mrs. Charles Shriver. Mrs. E. S. Robinette read the Scripture and each member gave a reading.

Mrs. Pearl Shriver presided at the business meeting. Routine reports were given and Mrs. Catherine Moore reported on cards sent. Mrs. Charles Shriver and Mrs. Emory Shriver were appointed a committee to visit ill and shut-in members. Mrs. Pearl Wilson, Mrs. Nina Bender and Mrs. Edna Shriver were named to a committee to redecorate the church kitchen.

The next meeting will be February 15 at the home of Mrs. Moore. Refreshments were served by the hostess. She also showed slides of her recent trips to California, Florida and New York City.

Others attending were Mrs. Grace Clingerman, Mrs. R. T. Gilson, Mrs. Eloise Bible, Miss Vickie Bible and Mrs. Helen Dennison.

Alpha Alpha Chapter, BSP Plans Social Activities

Alpha Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met recently at the home of Mrs. Virginia Topper, 1504 Bedford Street. Following the opening ritual, social activities were discussed.

A bowling party for members, husbands and friends is planned for February 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the Bowler.

On February 3, the chapter will hold a Mardi Gras party at the home of Mrs. Betty Barnes, Frederick Street. Members will attend in costume.

The group decided to donate bed side-rails to the Cancer Society.

Mrs. Imogene Hixon conducted the cultural program on "Oratory."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beverly Bauers, 626 Shriver Avenue, February 7.

Those attending were Mrs. Hixon, Mrs. Genevieve Poorbaugh, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Jane O'Rourke, Mrs. Lee Shelby, Mrs. Eleanor DeVore, Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Mrs. Catherine Simpson, Miss Betty Stegmaier, Mrs. Martha Russell and Mrs. Jeanne Fraidska.

To Appear On Dimes March Telethon

The Steckman Dancers, along with the Continentals, a dance band composed of George Kirby, Bill Lawyer, Eddie Harrison, Ronnie Burkey, Bob Dolan, Bill Hartung, Pat Shannon and Dave Windish, will appear on the March of Dimes telethon in Harrisonburg, Va., January 29.

Also appearing on the show will be William Seiler, who will play several polkas on the accordion.

CWV Auxiliary Discusses Tentative Welfare Plans

Victor Tambolleo Auxiliary, Catholic War Veterans had a review of its rituals and discussed projects at its first meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. Marie Challinor Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus home.

Other officers of the auxiliary, which was instituted last month, are Rev. DePaul Ripko, O.F.M. Cap., chaplain; Mrs. Mae Norris, first vice president; Mrs. Patricia Zoliner, second vice president; Mrs. Louise May Laing, third vice president; Mrs. Shirley Norris, secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Kimberlin, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Grabenstein, welfare officer; Mrs. Marie K. Spiker, historian; Mrs. Julia Bertone, ritual officer; Miss Ann Grabenstein, Mrs. Theresa Carpenti and Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, trustees.

Pointing out that the auxiliary is organized to do welfare work, Mrs. Challinor suggested the group give help wherever it is needed, consider taking up first aid or home nursing, provide toys for the hospital nursery and give assistance to needy children.

The auxiliary was asked to consider nominating a "Catholic Woman of the Year." She will be named by the state organization at a Mardi Gras supper, April 17 in Baltimore. Local members are invited to attend. The nominee should be a resident of the state for at least one year, active in civic, educational, hospital, political, recreation, religion and social work. She is to be chosen regardless of race or color, but may not be a member of the organization or have ever received a Catholic War Veteran organization award.

Two new members were installed. They are Mrs. Ivy Carder and Mrs. Clara Mantheiy. Various committee reports were given and state meetings were discussed.

Tentative plans were formulated to discuss phases of auxiliary programs at each meeting and after Lent to begin socials. The third Sunday of each month, the auxiliary will observe communion Sunday with the veterans.

Concluding the meeting the auxiliary attended the veterans' shrimp feed.

Mrs. Paul E. Crowe, 527 Maryland Street, LaVale, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Farm Bureau Dinner To Be In April

Two officers were installed and plans were discussed for the annual spring dinner at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Associated Women of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, which was held yesterday at Lazarus' fountain room.

Mrs. Roy Shryock Sr. presided and installed Mrs. Joseph Pollock as secretary and Mrs. Theodore Stegmaier as director.

It was decided to have the dinner sometime in April. Mrs. Stegmaier was named ticket chairman. Other chairmen are to be named at a special meeting March 14, which also will be held at the fountain room. At that time the program will be outlined.

Reports on the state meeting held in Baltimore were given by Mrs. Edgar Matthews and Mrs. Stegmaier. They included a talk on medical research, clothing and garden vegetables. The financial statement was read by Mrs. Philip Brode. Mrs. Pollock gave a routine report.

Other members present were Mrs. Vernon Loar and Mrs. Howard Appel. Two visitors also attended.

DON'T GAMBLE WITH A COLD

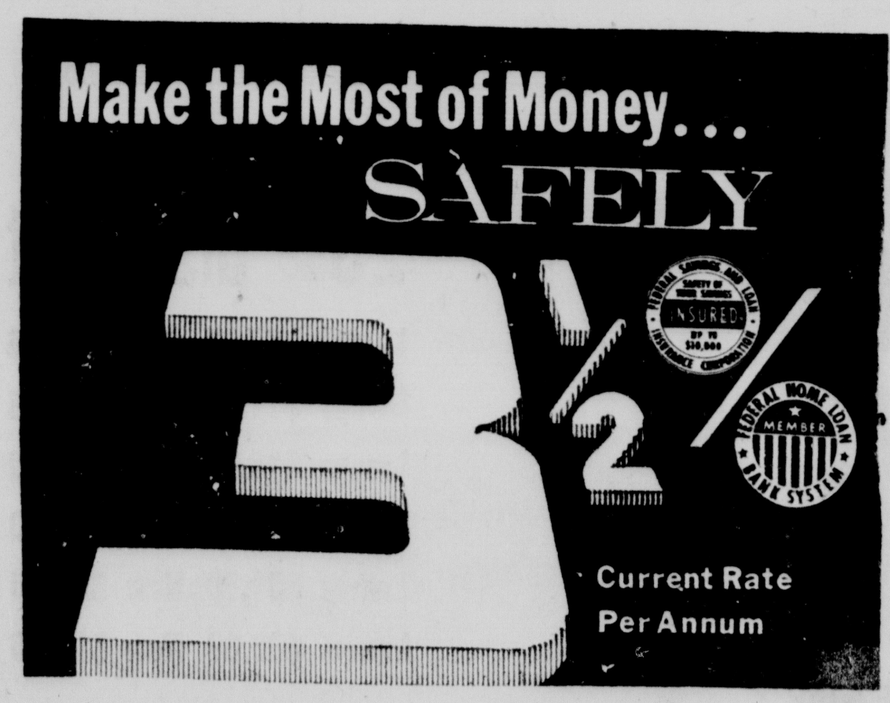

The best thing to do for a cold is to take care of it. Prompt treatment with approved home remedies often lessens the miseries and shortens the duration of a cold. If a cold "hangs on" or is accompanied by fever, call your doctor.

One thing never to do about a cold is to gamble it will cure itself. This could be a losing proposition.

Health Examination Issue Explained To Board

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and James S. Getty, state's attorney, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to outline their position pertaining to an examination requested by the state's attorney's office.

Mr. Getty released a statement Monday concerning the refusal of the County Health Department to examine a girl involved in a morals case.

Dr. van Strien said that in view of the situation that Getty had a "right to be upset" but that he was acting on a policy which had been agreed upon in 1958 with former State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher when a similar incident occurred.

The health officer said he is awaiting further word from Dr Perry Prather, director of the State Department of Health, on such examinations. Dr. van Strien said he felt there should not have been any publicity in the matter prior to Dr. Prather receiving the letter and acting on the problem.

John J. Rowan, president of the county board, said he felt the public should be advised of all such matters.

After Dr. van Strien stated that the State Department of Health has a policy of not entering into medical-legal questions, Getty commented that if that is the state agency's policy he does not agree with it.

In his experience he has never found a report from a physician being rejected by the courts, Getty said. Dr. van Strien said that a gynecologist should perform such examinations but Getty said the only question which his office wanted to ascertain was "has the child in question been sexually molested."

Any general practitioner of medicine can make such examinations, Getty said, as the courts do not require expert reports. The health officer said that his department did not refuse to have the examination made just to be arbitrary, but was following what was believed to be a policy. The Health Department does not practice medicine, Dr. van Strien also said.

Commissioner Rowan said the incident should not be repeated and he wanted Dr. van Strien to cooperate with Getty's office in the future pending receipt of word from Dr. Prather.

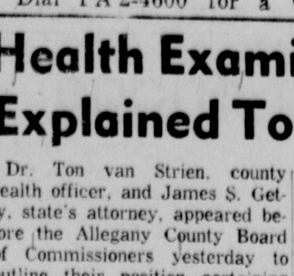

Commissioner William A. Wilson told Dr. van Strien that in past years the late Dr. Winter R. Frantz made such examinations for the state's attorney's office while he was health officer.

Wilson asked Dr. van Strien "where would you stand if the board asked you to make such examinations and Dr. Prather ruled otherwise." Dr. van Strien said that in ethical questions he would have to abide by Dr. Prather's policies.

2nd National Stockholders Hold Meeting

With 20,716 number of shares out of a total capitalization outstanding of 24,000 shares represented either in person or by proxy, the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Second National Bank was held yesterday at the bank. Directors were re-elected and a report on the 1960 operations was presented. A thorough discussion of the significance of the data followed.

Members of the board re-elected are: Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, G. William Bibby, W. Earle Cobey, J. Russell Cook, William A. Douglas, Walter E. Dyck, Charles Z. Heskett, Owen E. Hitchins, Henry W. Miller Jr., John H. Mosner, Joseph M. Naughton, Lewis J. Ort, George A. Schwarzenbach, Fulcher P. Smith and James L. Weber.

The meeting of directors will be held tomorrow when officers will be appointed and the various governing committees of the board will be elected.

In a report to the stockholders, President J. M. Naughton noted substantial growth in all departments. Net earnings available for dividends were $116,684 or $4.86 per share of capital stock in contrast with $108,090 or $4.50 per share for 1959. Dividends of $2 per share were continued at the regular rate. At the close of the year, the book value of the bank's capital stock was $77.46 per share. Both deposits and loans recorded material increases but the outstanding growth was 15.7 per cent in the value of trusts and estates under the management of the bank's trust department.

City Supports Probe Of Gasoline Prices

The Mayor and Council voiced support Monday for a proposed state commission inquiry into the retail prices of gasoline.

Council agreed to go on record and send a copy of a letter to State Sen. Charles M. See (R-Allegany).

The PTA of Centre Street School will meet Thursday with classroom visitation scheduled for 7 p. m.

A business meeting will follow at 7:30 p. m., and will feature a movie on National Health Month.

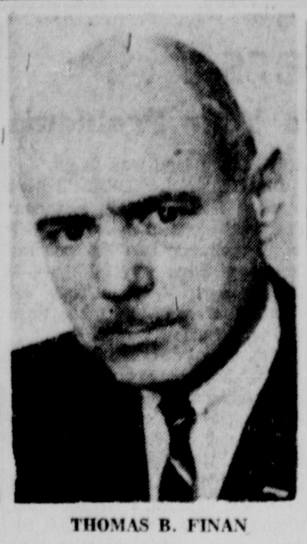

Plans will be discussed for the PTA's dinner scheduled February 9, and refreshments will be provided by Miss Jennie Lee's room.

Rail Retirement Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., introduced Monday a bill to reduce the retirement age for workers under the Railroad Retirement Act from 65 to 62 with full annuity after 30 years service.

WILLIAM H. GEPPERT

THOMAS B. FINAN

Finan And Geppert Are Named Directors

Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland, and William H. Geppert, local attorney, were elected directors of the First National Bank and Trust Company at the annual meeting of the stockholders yesterday in the bank, 153 Baltimore Street.

The board of directors was expanded from 12 to 14 members.

The directors will meet today to elect officers.

Geppert is a member of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert, 7 Washington Street. He is a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., and received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from West Virginia University.

He established a practice of law in Cumberland in 1935, being associated with William A. Gunter, with whom he is now associated.

From 1938 through 1939 he was a magistrate in old Peoples Court here and in 1941 enlisted in the Navy. He served in the Navy until 1946 when he entered active reserve service. He holds the rank of commander and is chairman of the Naval Advisory Committee in Western Maryland. He resides on Braddock Road.

Finan is a native of Cumberland and was graduated from La-Salle High School. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Georgetown University in 1936 and his bachelor of laws degree from University of Maryland in 1939.

He opened his office for practice of law in Cumberland in 1939 and in 1941 entered the Army. He served 26 months in the European Theatre with the 45th Infantry Division, and part of the time he was a prisoner of war of the Germans. He was a captain upon his discharge in 1945 and today holds the rank of major in the reserve corps.

Finan returned to Cumberland and became associated with William C. Walsh in a law practice. From 1948 to 1950 and from 1952 to 1958 he was city attorney of Cumberland. In 1958 he became secretary of state of Maryland and this month was sworn in as attorney general.

Finan is a vice president and director of the Times and Alleganian Company.

Railroad Worker Hurt In Accident

A local railroader underwent surgery yesterday after he was injured while working in the yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital at 3 a. m. yesterday was Elmer W. Holler, of 513 Forester Avenue, who is employed as a carman for the rail company.

Ataches reported the man's condition as "good."

Holler was admitted to the hospital after a rail car ran over his right foot. He was taken to surgery after being admitted.

County Fund Report Given

James Bishop, county treasurer, submitted a report to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning the financial position of the county as of December 31, 1960.

The bank balance as of December 1 was $654,978.87 with receipts of $263,110.77 and $303,124.97 from investments. The latter consists of withdrawal of a $300,000 segment of tax funds invested in certificates of deposit in two local banks and one in Frostburg. The $3,124.97 was interest realized on the deposit.

During December there were disbursements of $945,620.66 and the bank balance as of December 31 was $275,593.95. In addition to the bank balance December 31 there is on deposit $1,500,000 of tax monies in certificates in the three banks.

County Given Job Report

A booklet and report has been received from the State Employment Security office by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on a job classification survey conducted here last fall.

The survey was made by George Widman of the state agency and lists the job classifications of all positions under Civil Service in the county.

Commissioner John T. Mason said the board would analyze the booklet and report before taking any action on the matter. The report makes a clarification of the various jobs in the county system so that the commissioners will be better able to determine such factors as jurisdiction, responsibility and possible pay increases in the future.

Fort Hill Girls Hear Talk On Dimes Drive

The expanded services offered under the New March of Dimes were outlined to members of the Tri-Hi-Y units of Fort Hill High School yesterday.

Addressing the girls organizations following yesterday's classes was Frederick J. Hill Jr., general chairman of the 1961 March of Dimes campaign for Allegany County.

"Scientific research," he said, "is the keystone of the attack on arthritis and birth defects. We can conquer such crippling diseases and continue the almost-won fight against polio with the support of March of Dimes contributions."

In urging support of the campaign, the Tri-Hi-Y girls were told that scientific research is being carried on against crippling diseases in over 100 hospitals, universities and laboratories, all underwritten by the National Foundation.

Six new study centers have been established within two years, Hill said, by March of Dimes funds to conduct clinical research in the care and prevention of birth defects and arthritis. The National Foundation, he continued, also maintains 13 clinical study and special treatment centers devoted to problems of polio.

Pointing to the progress in the training of workers for the health field, Hill reported that more than 800 young people are studying under March of Dimes scholarships in the fields of medicine, nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy and medical social work.

In concluding his talk to the Fort Hill groups, Hill said recent progress in the study of the causes of crippling has led scientists to believe important breakthrough are directly ahead.

Stone To Be Shipped

SALISBURY, England (UPI)—A stone from Salisbury's famous St. Andrew's Cathedral will be sent to Honolulu shortly for incorporation into St. Andrew's Cathedral there, it was announced Tuesday.

The stone, will be taken from the south side of the 747-year-old cathedral and shipped to Honolulu in a box. The officials said the Honolulu churchmen might use the box for church collections.

Sugar Contract Signed

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has signed a contract with Cuba to import one million tons of sugar this year, the New China news agency reported Tuesday.

Price of the sugar, under the contract signed in Havana on Jan. 21, was fixed at four Cuban centavos a pound, the Communist agency said.

There are two and a half times as many traffic deaths on rural roads as on city streets.

Identification Bands Are Adopted At Sacred Heart

The possibility of a patient mix-up at Sacred Heart Hospital is now about as remote as mistaking a dose of castor oil for a vitamin tablet—all because of a small plastic band which is fastened around the wrist of every patient as soon as he or she is admitted to the local hospital.

The plastic band, known as an Ident-A-Band is applied on the wrist to give maximum protection against mistakes of identity and conforms with procedures recommended by the American Hospital Association.

"The addition of the bands is another demonstration of the hospital's policy of bringing to its patients and the community the latest and most up-to-date hospital methods and procedures," Sister Celeste, administrator of the hospital said.

The new wrist bands are made of soft, transparent plastic into which is inserted a card with complete information about the patient, including his or her name, hospital case number and attending physician. The Ident-A-Band is sealed around the patient's wrist as soon as he is admitted to the hospital and remains there until his release. Thus, just a glance at the wrist confirms patient identity even when he is sleeping or under sedation.

"With the use of the bands," Sister Celeste pointed out, "there now could be four 'Bill Smiths' in the hospital, for instance, without fear of a mix-up. Each would have his own complete identification sealed within the band on his wrist."

"We are using the system because it positively identifies every patient in the hospital at all times—whether the patient is awake or asleep. It is especially valuable in any emergency situation—and will also be a safeguard in our daily routine of medications and treatments," Sister Celeste continued.

"Although misidentification has never been a serious problem at Sacred Heart Hospital, if the bands prevent just one error, they will be well worth their cost," Sister Celeste noted.

Largest Check Split

LONDON (UPI) — The largest check in British banking history—119,595,645 pounds and 12 shillings (roughly $334,867,000) — changed hands Monday to seal the U.S. Ford Company's purchase of British Ford stock held by Britons. Tuesday the check was split into 19,000 smaller ones to be sent to the former shareholders.

Wins Soccer Pool

LONDON (UPI)—A 64-year-old woman Tuesday won the largest payoff ever received on the one quarter of a penny stakes of the English soccer pools.

The woman, who refused to identify herself, won $215,006.82 for betting 87 cents on Vernon's "Treble Chance" pool.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Producer Hall Bartlett hasn't yet selected a woman star for his "Woman of Paris" picture for United Artists. But he's lined up enough "bait" to tempt Liz Taylor, Gina Lollobrigida, Audrey Hepburn, Ingrid Berman or any other top beauty he's seeking. Ladies, read this and gasp:

Cartier will "loan" a fortune in priceless gems for the heroine to wear; Jean Louis will do the clothes for the star and the gowns worn by the models will be from the houses of Jacques Heim, Dior, Nina Ricci, Balenciaga, Balmain and Fath.

Last, but really the piece de resistance, is that noted writer Eugene Vale was signed Friday to do the script of "Woman of Paris," the drama of a modern day Mary Magdalene. Vale is the author of "The Thirteenth Apostle" and he has written the screenplays for such strong spiritual stories as "Francis of Assisi" and "Dear and Glorious Physician."

Jason Robards Jr., said he accepted "By Love Possessed" just to make enough money for his divorce settlement. But such mercenary motives seem to have faded into a movie love affair.

While he won't agree to sign with 20th on a term deal following "Tender Is the Night," his next, with Jennifer Jones — Robards has a movie of his own on the fire. It's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," the Eugene O'Neill drama he did on Broadway with Frederic March. March has joined with Jason in making arrangements with O'Neill's widow for the screen rights.

You can bet some non-inflated moola that Lauren Bacall, the future Mrs. Robards, will be in the cast.

Romance really burst into bloom on that bus ride to Long Beach for the preview of "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" aboard the USS Hamul. Ricky Nelson, who is in the comedy with Jack Lemmon, discovered pretty Vicki Trickett, who was just along for the ride.

The press also were treated to a fair idea of the seriousness of the feeling between Bobby Cohn, nephew of the late Harry Cohn, and Patricia Powell. She's the widow of the late taxicab king, Danny Arnstein. These two gazed more into each other's eyes than they did at the screen during the unreeling of Freddie Kohlmar's funny picture for Columbia.

I saw Eve Arden and her husband, Brooks West, in the West Coast company of "Auntie Mame" —and thought they were both very good. So I'm not surprised that they are teaming up for a new TV series called "The Colonel's Lady." It's about a famous screen star who retires when she marries an Army colonel stationed in Washington, D. C., all handled in a sophisticated comedy manner.

Come to think of it, many movie ladies have married Washington figures including Constance Bennett who married a colonel, Jessie Royce Landis married to a general, Ella Raines wed to a Pentagon official and Myrna Loy, recently divorced from a capital biggie.

It was bound to happen: Marlon Brando, whose weakness for exotic native-type beauties is marked, finally dated Tarita, the Tahitian charmer playing his leading lady in "Mutiny on the Bounty." Took her out to dinner three times despite the fact that Tarita had confided in French (the only language she speaks) that she had never heard of him before the MGM company landed on her island. Marlon speaks French fluently — so there's no language barrier, if there ever is where amour is concerned.

Producer Aaron Rosenberg had to make a sad mission back to Hollywood to attend the funeral of his mother on Sunday. Our deepest sympathy goes to "Rosey" who was very close to his mother.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm employed in the kitchen of a state institution and there's so much monkey-business going on that I can't keep still any longer. This is not a special situation. I've worked in state institutions elsewhere and it's the same.

I've seen institution empolyes eat food gifts which were sent to patients and then deny they saw the package. I've watched employes take home roasts, chickens, cans of coffee and jars of fruit. Trays of crackers are hidden in the ovens because no one wants to count them out. Quarts of hot coffee, platters of crisp bacon and eggs, bowls of butter and stacks of bread disappear into employes' dressing rooms.

When the board of visitors come they are served filet mignon and fresh strawberry shortcake. Then they go home and tell everyone the food is great. No one ever pops in unexpectedly to see what is REALLY going on.

Don't tell me to report it. I fried this once and was laid off the following week. Something must be done from the top.—GOD HELP THE TAXPAYER

DEAR FRIEND: I consider your letter a public service. I'm sure many state institutions need cleaning up and such complaints as yours can help trigger action. The badly run institutions are an outrage in a country as well off as ours. It would be unfair, however, to accuse ALL state institutions of waste, incompetence and negligence. You said "No one ever pops in to see what is REALLY going on." In Ohio last year many newspapers printed a page one picture of Governor Di Salle just after a surprise visit to a mental hospital. What he saw had made him ill.

Ohio's state institutions under Governor Di Salle have been vastly improved. Wisconsin, California and Michigan are among the better ones, too. Most states still have a long way to go.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a close friend who is a widow. She lives alone in a lavish apartment with her two pet poodles. The dogs have velvet pillows in their wicker baskets. They eat choice filets and she takes them to Florida every winter.

Her two daughters married against her wishes and now they are having a rough time financially. The mother never gives them a dollar. What do you think of this?—AN OBSERVER

DEAR OBSERVER: It sounds as if the daughters treated their mother like a dog and now the dogs are being treated like daughters.

DEAR ANN: I am a 17-year-old girl who needs an outsider's opinion.

I know this sounds terrible, but my best friend got into trouble with a boy. She went with this fellow for a year and thought she was in love. Her folks sent her to a home for unwed mothers and she gave up her baby for adoption.

Now that she's home everyone has turned their backs on her. She needs friends more than ever but my folks don't want me to go with her. My mother says "A leopard never changes its spots." Is she right?—CELE

DEAR CELE: Your friend isn't a leopard — she's human — and humans often change. She needs kindness at this time, now more than ever. I hope your folks will encourage you to continue the friendship.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four-year-old Patricia Robins walks the halting way — on crutches.

Her twin sister, Jacquelyn, free of cerebral palsy's crippling, some times has trouble keeping up with dauntless Patricia.

To Mrs. Ravers Robins, of Levittown, Long Island, the presence of twins — one well, one handicapped — in the family calls for super-strength in the child raising arena.

To medical science, the twins pose a riddle: Why was one struck by cerebral palsy and not the other?

Patricia currently is basking in the attention reserved for celebrities. The pint-sized "Woman-in-the-News" is the 1961 National Poster Girl for the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

As National Poster Girl, Patricia this month is leading thousands of "53 Minute Marchers" across the nation — all volunteers helping the health organization to raise $12 million to help crack the mystery surrounding the crippling disorder.

The campaign's theme, "The 53 Minute March on Cerebral Palsy" dramatizes the fact that cerebral palsy strikes a newborn child every 53 minutes.

Mrs. Robins said Patricia was born with cerebral palsy. But Jacquelyn, delivered only a few minutes after Patricia, escaped a similar fate.

The two girls look very much alike but they are not identical twins. Both were born prematurely, Patricia weighing three pounds two ounces, and Jacquelyn two pounds, 15 ounces.

When Patricia was 11 months old the doctors confirmed her parents' suspicions that she had cerebral palsy.

A month later, Patricia became a patient at the United Cerebral Palsy of Nassau County's treatment center in Roosevelt, Long Island.

When she first came to the center, Mrs. Robins said in an interview, Patricia could neither sit nor stand upright. Now, with the aid of crutches, she is able to walk.

Patricia is a pretty, brown-haired, blue-eyed tot with an outgoing personality. Her mother said she has unusually good speech for a four-year-old and talks easily to strangers.

Patricia still goes to the treatment center a week, but otherwise lives the normal life of a four-year-old playing with her sister and other children in the neighborhood.

The Robins also have a son, Douglas, 12.

Mrs. Robins has definite ideas about bringing up twins, one of whom is handicapped while the other is normal.

"I feel that they gain a lot from one another," she said. "Of course Jacquelyn has activities which Patricia cannot share but they have friends in common and play together a good deal.

"But I am very careful to see that Jacquelyn does not feel slighted because of the extra attention which is given to Patricia because of her handicap — and because she always hears people asking about Patricia.

"We try very hard not to show one more attention than the other."

Taste-treat yourself to raw apples in salads and gelatin, in slicewiches glued with sharp cheese!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Anatomy Of An Apple

The ordinary apple is having its day—so I hope each of your days has its apple! The more we examine the character and accomplishments of the apple, the more we understand Eve's temptation. While we might deplore her disobedience, we certainly should admire her taste and wisdom.

Ancient as the oldest fruits, the apple can still amaze us. One of the more recent revelations about its attributes came from a noted physiologist who found that the apple-carbohydrate, pectin, can help reduce the amount of fatty material in the blood—that cholesterol you've heard so much about.

The deeper we cut into the apple the more we discover. It's an incomparable aid to skin beauty. It's a remarkably strong building-block in your resistance against colds and other infections. It makes a capital toothbrush and gum-massager, actually able to extricate and flush away film and food particles trapped on and between the teeth.

And think of the exercise. For the joints and muscles of the jaw, for the cheek, the jowls, the chin. It's slow work, too . . . biting into that hard, raw apple, cruching the juicy flesh, pulverizing the peel. Slow and rhythmic . . . just the way exercise should be . . . and just the kind of eating technique for dieters to adopt. Remember, food eaten slowly seems to fill you more quickly. And that feeling of satisfaction lasts longer.

For that dual-reason, the apple is a perfect between-meal snack or dessert for weight-watchers. There are other reasons, not the least of which is the way an apple can settle a craving for sweets, yet raise the blood-sugar level to stoke up energy and high spirits when you feel depressed and droopy.

Then, there's the calorie count . . . just about 7 for one medium size sphere.Notice, I've been referring all along to apples in the RAW, unpeeled, uncooked, unsweetened. You may have been taking your apple-a-day in other forms, so you should realize that, while apple-dishes are good for you, some of the advantages I've described are cancelled by cooking.

And not the least of them is that calorie count. Compare 76 to the 200 total of baked apple, the 150 in a serving of canned applesauce, the 250 for a half-cup of Apple Betty, the 118 in 8 ounces of apple juice . . . the 377 for a 1/6 cut of a medium-size pie.

Depending on your diet, include all these apple-a-day substitutes when you can afford them, then whenever they appeal to you. Because they are delicious, as well as nutritious. But let them be in addition to the one or two raw apples that you make a MUST on your daily menu. Enjoy THEM for the same reasons—PLUS!

Washing Machine Is Symbol Of New Wealth

New Mexico's Laguna Indians, owners of one of the greatest uranium mines in the country, have come a long way from the time when their ancestors traded valuable land and furs for a handful of sparkling trinkets.

The Lagunas are handling their new wealth wisely—buying not flashy cars or clothing, but gleaming new washing machines and refrigerators for their wives who still live in hogans.

Tissue Packs Handy For School

Few youngsters go through a Fall without at least one cold. Unfortunately, they generally spread it around to their classmates at school.

To help prevent this, send along a couple of the pocket-sized packages of tissues to school with your young one. That way he'll have a ready supply of disposable tissues in his desk at school for use at the first sign of a sneeze or sniffle.

It might help to stop the spread of the cold throughout the classroom.

School Burns

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) —The grade school at nearby Lochgelly, Fayette County, was destroyed by a fire Sunday, giving the 98 students a nunscheduled vacation. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Busy Baby-Sitter

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Witness in a criminal case called assistant county attorney Ted Flannagan and said she could not appear because she had no baby sitter. Flannagan said someone could watch the baby while she testified. "But I have 22 children," came the answer. "Didn't I tell you? I run a day nursery.

Opening lead: Four of ♣

A problem in percentages, combined with a safety play in the trump suit, make up the elements of our story today.

North and South staggered into four hearts on an involved sequence of bids, when they had a virtual laydown game in diamonds and even a good play for slam. A more aggressive attitude on the part of either player might have enabled the partnership to reach the slam. North in particular rates a demerit for his failure to leap directly to five diamonds when South supported him.

West opened the four of clubs against the four heart contract. East took the trick with the ace and continued the suit as declarer ruffed. Now came the three top trumps but, when East failed to answer the call on the third round, South was obliged to shift his attention to the diamonds. West merely waited till the third diamond was played to ruff in, thus permanently disconnecting declarer from the dummy. Another club forced out South's last trump and he wound up with only eight tricks.

There is only one way for declarer to fulfill his contract. After he ruffs the second round of clubs, he must lead a low trump away from his A-K-Q. This has the effect of giving West his trump trick while the dummy still retains a heart to take care of a third round of clubs. Declarer returns to his hand to draw trumps and then the diamonds can be run for the rest of the tricks. Any return other than a club by West is handled in the same manner.

Nor is this a double dummy analysis. South's handling of the trump suit was very naive. The 3-3 division occurs only 36 per cent of the time, whereas a 4-2 break can be expected 48 per cent of the time. The safety play in hearts will take care of either case and makes declarer a better than five to one favorite on the hand.

Set Up Rainy Day 'Dry-Off' Area For Kids

Be prepared for the coming rainy season by setting aside a special area in the house where the children can remove their damp outdoor clothing. It will save a surprising amount of stain removal chores on floors, carpeting and furnishings.

Most practical place could be just inside the back door. Install hooks so the youngsters can hang their raincoats and caps. Place a rubber mat on the floor for galoshes and boots.

Be sure to hang a paper towel holder, too, for quick drying off jobs. Because of their softness and sponge-like qualities, these paper towels are good for wiping water and mud from boots as well as for hand drying.

Give each child his own set of hangers. Plastic hooks from variety stores are obtainable in a variety of colors, making it simpler for each to recognize his own hang-up spot.

Deaths And Funeral Notices In The Tri-State Area

Rev. Martin P. Davidson will officiate and interment will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park. Pallbearers will be Raymond Long, Howard Long, George Carder, Edward Carder, Sonny Long and Jack Mixon.

Good Tip

When redecorating do you ever wonder what color your paint will be when it dries? Here is a sure test to let you know before using it: Brush flat paint on a clean white blotter. Oils will be soaked up in the blotter leaving the pigment on the surface. This will assume the same color as the paint when it has dried.

Give Sticky Card Deck 'New Deal'

If your favorite set of plastic-coated playing cards is sticky after a long summer of between-deals snack sessions, you usually can get a better "deal" by dusting each card on each side with talcum powder.

If they are badly soiled, wash them carefully in slightly-soapy, tepid water. Dry each one carefully and then dust with talcum.

Maryland's Fiscal Pies

The chart at left shows where the money will come from, and the one at right, where it will go in Gov. Tawes' $506 million budget submitted to the Maryland General Assembly yesterday. Not reflected on the expenditure chart is an additional $6.4 million in aid to education, and $2.5 million in welfare aid, to be added to the budget later. The revenue chart also does not show $9 million more in sales taxes which the governor proposes to finance these programs. Because total expenditures exceed total revenues as depicted, the governor had to dip into the surplus to balance the budget. (AP Photofax)

To stress the progressive strides that can be expected in the future, Mr. Edmund pointed to a time capsule that was buried in the year 1938 with instructions not to be opened until 6938. In just 22 years, most of the things that were placed in the capsule are obsolete. For instance, there was no mention of television, jet planes, the United Nations, atomic bombs, radar, World War II or the Korean war or nuclear powered submarines.

Mr. Edmund was introduced at the dinner by J. Carson Dowell, assistant to the president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. Mr. Dowell and H. D. Barber were co-chairmen for the annual dinner.

Nonnenmann Presides

Earl Nonnenmann, who has been re-elected president of the YMCA for 1961, presided at the annual meeting. Other 1961 officers are Robert E. Moore, vice president; Milton Bernstein, secretary, and Roy W. Eves, treasurer.

Dr. William R. Allen, the 1959 president, who submitted the nominating committee's report last night, also was presented a past president's pin by Mr. Nonnenmann. The 10 new directors nominated for three-year terms are G. Louis Baker, James W. Bishop, Roy W. Eves, Walter E. Dyck, C. William Gilchrist, Joseph S. Gratton, Mrs. Calvin Keiter, Mrs. E. F. Phillips, Simon Rosenbaum II and Phillip M. Walker. Mrs. Keiter declined to serve and Rev. John F. Sammel was elected in her place at a meeting of the board directly after the dinner meeting.

Robert M. Williams, new general secretary of the YMCA, submitted his first annual report. It showed membership had advanced from 1,352 as of January 1, 1960, to 1,512 December 31. During the year, 647 groups used meeting rooms, 478 individuals were taught to swim, 56 athletic teams competed, 391 belonged to Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y, 8,649 attended rec club dances and 440 was the total day camp attendance.

Invocation was delivered by Rev. Ralph E. Burnett, pastor of First Christian Church, and the benediction by Rev. Everett E. Culp, pastor of First Methodist Church.

Snow Removal Cost County Nearly $17,000

It cost the Allegany County Road Department nearly $17,000 to remove snow and ice from the county roads in the quarter which ended December 31, according to a report from Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Skelly's quarterly report for the period from October 1 through December 31, 1960, lists total expenses of the department at $83,919.48.

Snow and ice removal, primarily, from the December 11 snowstorm, cost $16,982.20. Another $51,691.68 actually was spent on roads of the county in the final quarter of 1960. Of that amount $28,285.92 was for labor, $13,850.46 for materials and $9,555.30 for equipment. Other departmental costs in the quarter included $4,475.25 for administration and $10,770.35 for the shops.

Equipment expenditures by the roads department in the last quarter totaled $7,888.66. This included $3,447.29 for gas and oil, $141.62 for tires, $273.60 for batteries, $3,083.07 for labor and $943.08 for parts. Purchases during the final quarter of 1960 included $20,313.46 for roads and bridges, $9,634.89 for equipment, $158.83 for tools and $2,016.74 for miscellaneous expenditures.

Mr. Skelly also submitted to the county commissioners yesterday a detailed report on road improvements during the past calendar year. Sections of 13 different roads adding up to 3.195 miles received new construction between July 1 and December 31 last year at a cost to the county of $40,708.84. Itemized it included $9,165.63 for labor, $7,651.51 for equipment and $23,891.70 for materials.

During 1960, some 25 new roads primarily in residential areas, were added to the county roads system, giving the county 3.477 additional miles of roads.

The county roads supervisor also disclosed in his report that eight roads, totaling 5.35 miles had received new construction, relocation, drainage changes, widening and building base from dirt to shale in 1960.

Eleven other roads, with a total of 2.083 miles, were deeded to the county after having been built to county specifications by the property owners. They gave the county additional mileage for more gasoline tax revenue. Six of these roads are in Election District 29, four in District 11 and one in District 6.

Mr. Skelly also stated that 16 other roads with 1.405 miles, maintained by the county roads department, have been added to the county mileage in 1960.

Six bridges in the county were completely reconstructed between July 1 and December 31, 1960, and four other bridges were eliminated and the crossings replaced with boiler pipe for cross drainage.

Ten roads, with 1.28 miles, add in District 29, LaVale, received single surface treatment between July 1 and December 31 of last year.

Tawes also told newsmen he felt the fiscal program he outlined is the answer to school teachers seeking a general pay raise—not only for this year but also for next.

The $6.4 million in aid to education proposed by the James Committee does not require any of it to be spent on salaries, but Tawes said:

"In honesty, it cannot be asserted that Maryland has neglected its school teachers. I am proud that this is so, as I know you are."

Polio Clinic Set Today

The Allegany County Health Department will hold a polio immunization clinic today from 1-4 p. m. in the Health Department quarters at 111 Union Street.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said he hopes attendance is better than at the opening clinic held Wednesday, when only 79 persons turned up for polio inoculations.

He said all residents under 40 should get the protection from their family doctor of the Health Department both for themselves and for the protection of others.

There are thousands of children, Dr. van Strien said, who received three shots in school and need a booster shot to maintain immunization at a desirable level.

Bid Is Accepted

The Mayor and Council has accepted the $569.35 bid of the Builders Paint and Supply Company for about 200 gallons of paint for the interior of City Hall and the Court Room in the Public Safety Building.

Health Staff Hours Changed

New working hours for the Allegany County Health Department were announced yesterday by Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said the schedule adopted Monday calls for offices to be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4.30 p. m. during the winter months and from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the summer.

The previous schedule was 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the winter and 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. in the summer.

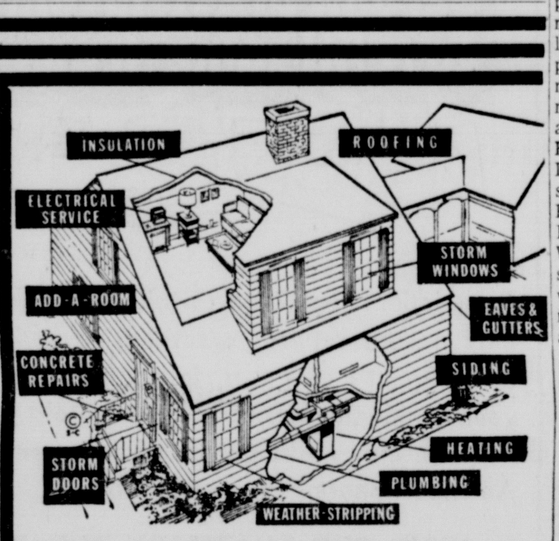

He said the new schedule was adopted to bring hours as nearly as possible in line with schedules observed at the Court House and other county offices.

Dr. van Strien said the earlier schedule should boost efficiency of the department, as the most clinics are scheduled during the morning.

Khrishna Menon And The 'Stupid' Chinese

The "stupid" attitude of Communist China in threatening India and grabbing territory along her borders shocks V. K. Khrishna Menon, India's credulous defense minister. By creating an enormous amount of conflict, he says in New Delhi, China casts doubt on the whole concept of peaceful coexistence.

He had no doubts of it before? Nikita Khrushchev has made it abundantly clear what the concept of peaceful coexistence really means. In words, that is—but he also has made it clear by deeds, as in Hungary.

Early this month, for instance, he told a party meeting in Moscow that worldwide victory is not far off for Communism, "which will rule the world." If the capitalist nations accept this without a struggle, that's peaceful coexistence; and then war would not be necessary. But if the capitalist nations resist being ruled by Communists, said Khrushchev, war will come.

Apparently Menon still doesn't realize that China was practicing "peaceful coexistence" when she undertook to extend her rule past the fringes of Indian territory. Menon even says he is certain that Khrushchev "will do everything he can, perhaps, to resolve" the issue and end the injustice against India.

Obviously, his disillusionment is far from complete. He's a very slow learner.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Unemployment

Undoubtedly of equal importance to the questions raised by our seeping gold and our international relations, is the question of unemployment. The responsibility for this condition is manifold and the blame will never be fixed altogether, but the cold fact is that unemployment is intolerable, that the social problems that arise from it are costly to any nation but are multiplied in ours because of our high standard of living, and that it leaves future generations morally antagonistic to the American way of life. Unemployment is not only an economic disease; it is a moral and social disease.

The Kennedy Administration has inherited about 5,000,000 unemployed with the prospect of more to come. It has inherited this condition from the Eisenhower Administration which ignored the rise of unemployment as a temporary, seasonal situation which would, in time, erase itself. That was the attitude of the Coolidge Administration which pitched its unemployment problems into Herbert Hoover's lap.

Two clear factors and many not so clear factors appear in this problem. The two clear factors are:

1. Because of inflation and the high cost of labor and taxes the United States has outpriced itself in world markets and cannot even take competition in certain commodities in the American market, a condition which we have never faced before in our economic history;

2. The removal of some American industries to European, Asiatic and Caribbean markets has meant an export of jobs, which cumulatively produced the large unemployment figures. Certain American industries have almost disappeared in this struggle against cheap, subsidized goods. The American ceramic industry is almost gone; knitwear is going; clothing, both for men and women, is imperilled; even typewriter parts are made abroad and brought back to this country which is their market. The electrical equipment industry, which has been basic in the United States, is fighting against contracts which go to our allies.

Again, as before World War II, Japan is our principal problem, with West Germany and Italy coming up as sharp competitors for first place as America's chief economic competitors.

Significantly, it is our allies, and important ones, which raise the issue of economic instability and it is also significant that these countries have benefited by our aid munificently.

The United States, politically, cannot afford to antagonize Japan, especially in view of the very strong Red Chinese anti-American propaganda among Japanese youth. The Japanese need the American market if they are to live at all because they have lost their national market which is mainland China. The Japanese cannot raise their own food because only 20 per cent of their land is arable. Their historic ambition had been to occupy and hold China. From 1894 until 1945, their national effort had been to take Manchuria and Mongolia and make them part of Japan. In this they failed as they failed in the substitute plan of building an empire in the South Seas. Actually, these countries have been divided between Soviet Russia and Red China.

Without markets, Japan can die and become a string of islands in the Pacific. On the other hand, the United States has developed into a profitable market for Japanese goods of all kinds. Thus the Japanese have become increasingly dependent upon the United States, but as such things go, no one planned or integrated American-Japanese trade. Japan is producing goods which cost American workers their jobs and that raises many serious internal American political problems. For instance, the American men and women's clothing industries, which have been internationalist and socialist in their leadership are now definitely frightened by the import of finished products from Japan, Italy and Hongkong. American hats, caps, millinery industries are beginning to suffer. Unemployment in these industries would be socially severe as they exist in big cities.

It can be stated categorically that the United States will never again tolerate 10,000,000 unemployed. Statistics and percentages do not matter. The labor unions are becoming conscious of the peril but they have not yet related the subject to inflation for which the unions are partially responsible. That will come too.

Unless the Kennedy Administration meets the problem quickly and correctly, the big issue in the 1962 campaign will be unemployment—a social as well as an economic problem. The appointment of Arthur Goldberg to the position of Secretary of Labor is evidence of the seriousness of the problem.

New Administration To Have Style Of Its Own

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It was the night of the "inaugural snow storm," as the weathermen are said to call that disrupting blizzard. The quiet street blanketed, sound-proofed, all but choked with snow.

All through the evening, Robert Frost had been bouyed up by his own gaiety and the stimulus of admiration. But now, as the venerable poet prepared to plunge out into the blizzard for the drive home, his strength quite suddenly failed him, as their strength will sometimes fail all men of eighty-seven. For help, he turned to his close friend and host, President Kennedy's new Secretary of the Interior, Stewart Lee Udall, who is himself something of a poet of nature.

Into the white darkness of the street, the young man supported, all but carried the old man, sustaining him not just with a strong shoulder and a strong arm, but also with the strength of his reverent affection. It was a scene to remember, if only because it was so wonderfully unlike the customary scenes of political Washington.

The backdrop of scene two was equally dramatic—the wide balcony jampacked with grandees' boxes at the inaugural ball in the armory. John F. Kennedy and his beautiful young wife had just made their entrance, so the whole vast room was watching. From one end of the balcony to the other, there were people in the boxes whom Kennedy wished to welcome, but the crowd made the passageways absolutely impassable.

Quite unconcerned, the new President of the United States began leaping from box to box with the easy agility of a mountain goat. It was a creditable performance for a man of forty-three. But what made this scene memorable were the expressions of absolute horror, of open consternation, on the faces of the secret service men, who were by no means used to imitating mountain goats yet were forced to follow their charge as best they could.

These memories of the inaugural week in Washington, in themselves trifling, also help to make a point which is not trifling. The point is that the new President and his new administration have a style of their own, quite new in American politics, which will delight some people, annoy other people, and astonish just about everyone until its style becomes familiar.

All American administrations have their own styles, which are almost invariably set by the President. Consider for instance the vast change of style that occurred when the infinitely staid William McKinley died, and Theodore Roosevelt took over the White House.

The chief ingredients of the first Roosevelt's style were his boldness, his strong historic imagination, his picturesquely strenuous way of life, his liking for the company of thinkers and learned men and, of course, his teeth and his eyeglasses. And that style contributed, in an indirect but not inconsiderable way, to the chief event of the first Roosevlet Administration, which was America's coming of age as a great power. He behaved like the leader of a great power, and quite suddenly we saw ourselves as a great power and the world saw us that way, too.

The Kennedy style, if one may hazard a guess, will be nearer to the first Roosevelt's style than to any other White House style of the past. At any rate, Kennedy oddly resembles the first Roosevelt in at least one infinitely revealing way. He is snobbish about the same things, which make an odd but not unimpressive list.

Like TR, he is a physical fitness-snob. All Kennedys have this singular trait. Like TR, he is also a courage-snob. It is not customary, any longer, to give much weight to whether another man has "had a good war," as the British put it. But this weighs with Kennedy as it weighed with the first Roosevelt, whose example inspired his oldest son to win the Medal of Honor on the blood-drenched Normandy beaches.

Finally, Kennedy once again resembles TR in being an experience-snob — in wanting what he does and what happens to him to be vivid, intense and, above all, meaningful, rather than cosy and average and hundrum. The instinct that drove Theodore Roosevelt to undertake his last journey to the sources of the Amazon, which killed him, is also quite visibly present in Kennedy.

Why Roosevelt had these three kinds of snobism, why Kennedy now has them, is an interesting subject of speculation. They were not common elements in average American success stories, even in TR's time, and they most certainly are not common elements in our success stories of today. In TR's case, they gave the man a personal style so singular, so unaccustomed that the whole country goggled — and was then delighted. But one must wait and see what they will do in Kennedy's case. Whatever the result, it should at least be interesting.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CIVIL WAR FIRSTS—As the nation enters into its five-year observance of the centennial of the Civil War, it is well to recall some of the "firsts" chalked up by that arduous, bloody contest.

Aerial reconnaissance was first effectively used from anchored balloons in military operations. The electric telegraph was used in the strategic control of military operations in widely separated theaters, and in the direction of troops in battle. A multi-manned submarine sank a surface vessel. Medical care for the wounded was systematically organized.

Participants, sites and equipment were photographed on a large scale. Nationwide conscription was used to raise armies in North America. A practical machine gun was developed. Artillery fire came into general use.

And, the Medal of Honor was awarded for the first time.

THE LOSER PAYS—New York Republican Senator Kenneth B. Keating has had to find a new place to live in Washington, and all because the Democrats won the elections last November.

Keating's landlady asked him to move because she wanted to rent the small house he occupied to a Democratic victor freshly arrived in Weshington. She explained she had promised the residence to the individual in case he won his election.

Keating remarked that it's probably the only campaign promise that will be kept. And he added, tartly, "They sure have the courage of their evictions."

Atmosphere Of Action Observed By Many Officials In Washington

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There's a zing and a zest in the air of Washington. It's a spirit of hurry-up, get-going. Even diplomats with no political axes to grind are commenting on it.

"It reminds me of Washington during the war when you were really driving to get things done," remarked one British diplomat who knows this country well, flies back and forth across the Atlantic a dozen times a year.

"We have felt so sad in Europe lately," said a French diplomat. "We have always looked to you as the great and powerful country, and recently you hadn't been leading. Now you are. We are so glad that the old America is coming back again."

Moscow's Ants In Pants

This hurry-up, no-time-to-lose spirit may not, however, be fast enough for the man President Kennedy will chiefly have to reckon with—Nikita Khrushchev.

The Russians had early made it clear that they were ready to negotiate 10 minutes after Kennedy took the oath as President of the United States. Ambassador Menshikov had conferred with Adlai Stevenson, had dined with Dean Rush even before the American public knew Rush was to be Secretary of State—which shows Soviet guesswork is good. Khushchev had even offered to send a top-ranking official as a special gesture to honor Kennedy's Inauguration. Kennedy turned this down on the ground that he didn't want any one ambassador outranking the others.

All this, plus the two-hour interview between Khrushchev and Ambassador Thompson one day after Kennedy became President, points to Moscow's ants-in-the-pants desire to get going toward discussing a new deal with the United States.

Two allies and advisers of the new President also entertain a restrained and dignified ants-in-the-pants approach toward USA-USSR negotations. They are:

ADLAI STEVENSON — Who would like to see roving Ambassador Averell Harriman go to Moscow immediately to begin exploratory talks with Khrushchev, ascertain just how far the Russians will go toward ending the cold war.

PRIME MINISTER HAROLD MACMILLIAN—Who wants to fly to Washington after Kennedy has had about a month to settle down, talk about the imperative need of a summit conference. Macmillan has a new argument for such a conference—namely, that the Red Chinese are pushing Khrushchev to show some real results from coexistence, therefore Khrushchev should be in a mood for concessions.

President Kennedy, however, remains cautious. Sincerely as he wants to improve USA-USSR relations, he is worried over making haste too fast.

Note — Soviet diplomats are spreading word that Khrushchev is coming back to the U. N. General Assembly meeting in New York in March—another evidence of the Soviet's hurry-up-and-get-there attitude.

Old Man's Battle

Sam Rayburn, 79 years old and the survivor of many tough policical battles, has been cajoling friends and challenging enemies about 18 hours a day for the past week end in what may be the most climatic battle of his life. Mr. Sam has his dander up. His prestige, his control of the House is at stake. Seldom has Sam fought so hard. He is determined to force 78-year-old Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia to abdicate his dictatorial power over the Rules Committee.

Most people don't know it, but Sam is getting some secret support from Republicans. One silent comrade-in-arms is ex-Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts. Joe and Sam have run the House of Representatives for a long time, and there's a lot of genuine affection between them. Joe doesn't want to see his old friend get rebuffed.

Sam is also getting help from some tough young Republican Congressmen—Tom Curtis (Mo.) Silvio Conte (Mass.), William Cahill and Florence Dwyer (N. J.), Seymour Halpern and John Lindsay (N. Y.), with Perkins Bass (N. H.). They have been lining up votes to break the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition, will probably deliver — with Martin's help — about 50 GOP votes.

Mr. Sam's Plea

"I have received thousands of letters opposing this change in the Rules Committee," Speaker Rayburn told the closed-door Democratic caucus the other day. "About 80 per cent of the letters, I might add, came from people who voted for Richard Nixon. Most of them believe either in maintaining the status quo or turning back the clock.

"I've also talked with hundreds of people who have traveled the world and they tell me how the United States is looked upon today by foreigners. Their reports have not been very encouraging at a time when it is vital that, to maintain our position of leadership, we have the confidence and respect of other nations.

"The reason is that the last administration failed t live up to its responsibilities, failed to do a good job.

"At the same time, we must not look for miracles by the new Kennedy administration in the next hundred days. There's a lot of work to be done by all of us and I intend to give the new administration the tools it needs to get the work done. That's why I am convinced that this change in the Rules Committee is imperative."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Ambrose Bierce was at his best in the years 1887 to 1896, when he wrote for the San Francisco Examiner. He was bitter and amusing, but never a great success. His older son was killed in a shooting over a girl; his wife left him after 33 years of marriage; his younger son died of alcoholism. He wrote a lot more than The Devil's Dictionary, but his acidulous definitions are among my favorites.

FRIENDLESS: Having no favors to bestow. FRIENDSHIP: A ship big enough to carry two in fair weather, only one in foul. GALLOWS: A stage for the performance of miracle plays. GENEALOGY: An account of one's descent from an ancestor who did not care to trace his own.

HABEAS CORPUS: A writ by which a man may be taken out of jail when confined for the wrong crime. HAG: An elderly lady whom you do not happen to like. HANDKERCHIEF: A small square of silk or linen used at funerals to conceal a lack of tears. HISTORIAN: A broad-gauge gossip. HONEST: Afflicted with an impediment in one's reach.

HUSBAND: One who, having dined, is charged with the care of the plate. HYPOCRITE: One professing virtues that he does not respect, secures the advantage of seeming to be what he despises. IGNORAMUS: A person unacquainted with certain kinds of knowledge familiar to yourself, and having certain other kinds that you know nothing about.

IMMIGRANT: An unenlightened person who thinks one country better than another. IMPENITENT: A state of mind intermediate between sin and punishment. INCOMPATIBILITY: In matrimony, a similarity of tastes, particularly the taste for domination. INFIDEL: In America, one who does not believe in Christianity; in Egypt, one who does. INGRATE: One who receives a favor from another.

INSURANCE: A modern game of chance in which the player is permitted to believe that he is beating the man who runs the table. INTIMACY: A relationship into which fools are drawn toward their mutual destruction. JEALOUSY: A concern about the preservation of that which can be lost only if it is not worth keeping. LAWYER: One skilled in circumvention of the law.

LITIGANT: A person ready to give up his skin in the hope of retaining his bones. LOVE: A temporary insanity curable by marriage. MAD: Affected with a high degree of intellect independence. It is noteworthy that persons are pronounced mad by officials destitute of evidence that they are sane. MAGDALENE: A woman found out.

MARRIAGE: A master, a mistress and two slaves, making in all, two. MAUSOLEUM: The funniest folly of the rich. MERCY: An; attitude beloved of offenders MIRACLE: An act unaccountable, as beating a normal hand of four kings and an ace with four aces and a king. MISFORTUNE: The kind of fortune that never misses. MISS: A female who is in the market. MOUTH: In man, the gateway to the soul; in woman, the outlet of the heart.

NEPOTISM: Appointing your grandmother to office for the good of the party. NOISE: A stench in the ear. NOSE: The outpost of the face.

NOVEL: A short story padded. OPPOSITION: In politics, the party that prevents the government from running amuck by hamstringing it. PAINTING: The art of protecting a flat surface from the weather by exposing it to the critic. PARDON: To resort to a life of crime. PATIENCE: A form of despair disguised as a virtue.

PICTURE: A representation in two dimensions of something wearisome in three. PLATITUDE: ... moral without the fable. PLATONIC: A fool's name for the affection between a disability and a frost. POLITENESS: Acceptable hypocrisy. POSITIVE: Mistaken at the top of one's voice. PRAY: To ask that the laws of the universe be annulled in behalf of an unworthy petitioner.

PREJUDICE: A vagrant opinion without visible means of support. PROOF-READER: A malefactor who atones for making it unintelligible. PUSH: One of two things conductive to success. The other is Pull. QUILL: An implement of tortue yielded by a goose and wielded by an ass.

RIOT: Popular entertainment given to the police by innocent bystanders. ROAD: A strip of land along which one may pass from where it is tiresome to be to where it is futile to go. SAINT: A dead sinner revised and edited. SIREN: Any lady of splendid promise and disappointing performance.

SUCCESS: The one unpardonable sin. TOMB: The house of indifference. TRICHINOSIS: The pig's reply to pork chops.

Bierce's body has never been found. Wherever he is, you may be sure he's still south of the border. . .

Ergotamine Effective Remedy For Migraine

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ergotamine is the most reliable agent in the treatment of migraine headaches. It is mixed usually with caffeine and good results are obtained in 80 per cent of all attacks. The secret is to take the remedy as soon as headache develops.

The need for quick action means that the victim must know how to administer the drug. The oral use of ergotamine is not satisfactory because the amount absorbed by the stomach is too irregular to be of value. The more adept individual takes the product hypodermically because it works more rapidly and there is no question about the amount absorbed.

Others prefer the use of suppositories. Those who can't learn to give themselves hypos are taught to place the tablet under the tongue or inhale a special aerosol mixture that is absorbed through the membranes of the nose. A word of caution is needed. Ergot is a powerful drug and continued usage or overdosage may result in serious side reactions such as gangrene of the hands or toes.

Migraine is the king of all headaches. It develops usually on one side of the head and is throbbing in nature. In addition, there may be nausea, blurring of vision, or numbness in a leg or an arm. Light as well as strong odors as from fresh paint aggravate distress and the majority prefer to sit or lie quietly in a dark room.

Migraine often runs in families. It begins early in life and is brought on by many adverse physical and psychological factors. In some, headache follows prolonged study or cencentration, several sleepless nights, or unusual fatigue. Others suffer from headache when they travel or develop constipation.

The attacks occur also during the letdown that follows a period of stress such as school examinations, business conferences, moving or housecleaning. At any rate, the number of headaches can be reduced considerably when the precipitating factor is recognized and avoided.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on migraine if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Junior's feeding problems.

A TEN MILER

A. L. B. writes: I'm a retired factory worker of 76. If I trained myself to walk 10 miles a day would this exercise strengthen my heart?
REPLY

The heart cannot be strengthened like the biceps but walking will make the organ more accustomed to exertion. Ten miles is a long distance. Why not take it gradually, beginning with one mile and adding another mile each day.

AGE AND HEART

W. R. writes: Are heart attacks more serious in mid-life than in old age?
REPLY

Yes, because the basic cause of coronary thrombosis is narrowing of a hardened coronary artery. Arteriosclerosis that is causing symptoms is serious at any age but when it develops in mid-life the process is somewhat premature and represents early deterioration.

CATARACTS

P. S. writes: Is a nervous person more likely to develop cataract than one who is calm?
REPLY

No. The two are unrelated.

PROTRUDING BLADES

R. M. writes: What causes a child's shoulder blades to protrude?
REPLY

Poor posture, underdeveloped musculature, and not enough fat.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

More Surplus Foods Being Sent To W. Va.

President Issues Order For Butter

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Fourteen carloads of butter—295,654 pounds—are being shipped to West Virginia as the first step in expanding the surplus food program for needy families under a presidential directive.

Hubert E. Perry, supervisor of commodity distribution for the State Department of Public Assistance, received that notice Monday from U. S. Agriculture Department officials.

Perry said he was told that seven carloads were being shipped Monday, five more on Jan. 30 and the final two on Feb. 6.

"We have in excess of 300,000 persons receiving surplus commodities," he said. "They'll get one pound per person up to a maximum of 10 pounds for a family."

Perry said that finding warehouse space will be a problem because "we're already loaded to the gills" with items now on the distribution list — flour, meal, rice, lard and dry milk.

"We can find facilities for this one new item, but if orders are added we'll have to look for more warehouse space," he said.

Perry said he was told by USDA officials that West Virginia is receiving first priority in distribution of butter.

DPA director Thomas Egbert said the Legislature will be asked for emergency funds to handle the prospective increased shipments "if we find that is necessary."

Perry's division now has 15 trucks and eight warehouses around the state, and operates on a budget of $293,100, the same amount requested for the coming year.

The director said additional trucks, warehouse space and personnel will undoubtedly be needed when the program is expanded under President John F. Kennedy's executive order of last Saturday.

Egbert and Perry, both holdovers from the Underwood administration, are expected to be replaced shortly by appointees of new Gov. W. W. Barron.

Upwards of 400,000 West Virginians in needy families are eligible for surplus commodities while the number of actual recipients recently passed the 300,000 mark. Another 200,000 persons also participate under the school lunch program and as inmates of state institutions.

AAUW Board Studies Plan For Conventions, Election

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women board of directors, at a meeting in Lowndes Hall of Frostburg State Teachers College, made plans for their annual election, heard reports and discussed legislation and the state convention to be held in Cumberland this spring.

Miss Bernice Winner, and Miss Mabel Myers were named to assist Mrs. Ernest Ogden, chairman of the nominating committee to choose new officers for the branch.

Dr. Hazel Ramsey and Miss Jane Grindel were named to act on an award committee, in conjunction with the president; Mrs. Reford Aldridge and Mrs. Lowell Sowers, chairman.

Mrs. Donald Butts, membership chairman was in charge of an orientation program for 13 new members, and presented a history of the organization.

Each member gave a review of activities of her particular branch. Miss Imogene Caudill reviewed the Arts; Dr. Ramsey reviewed the International Relations program; Miss Grindle discussed Mass Media; Miss Josephine Frase, Secondary and Elementary Education; Miss Esther Doerr, Higher Education; and Miss Jean Cordts, Young Woman's Study Group. Miss Cordts exhibited colored slides of the fall flower show.

There was brief discussion of the state convention to be held in Cumberland, April 21-22. The branch has been advised that Mrs. John Sippel of Laurel, chairman of the state nominating committee has submitted the names of Mrs. Conrad C. Mueller of Silver Spring for state president; Mrs. Gordon Prange, College Park, for state vice president; and Mrs. Quentin Verdier, Kensington, as state corresponding secretary.

The national convention, to which the branch hopes to have representation will be held in Washington, D. C. June 18 to 23.

The next board meeting will be held February 7 at the home of Mrs. Roger Hasbein, Standish Street.

The social committee served refreshments with Mrs. Gerald Reeves, chairman, assisted by Miss Datha Thomas and Mrs. Robert Hager. The branch voted a resolution to be sent to the family of Miss Kathleen Wolf, deceased.

It was reported that Maryland AAUW now has a membership of 1,758.

GETS ASSIGNMENT — Pvt. E2 James H. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, left December 3, for Munson Kera where he will spend 18 months. He spent a 14-day leave at home before going to San Francisco, Calif., to be shipped overseas. He enlisted in July 1960 and received training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Parents' Consent Proposed For W.Va. Driving Licenses

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill requiring that parental consent be required before 16 and 17-year-old youths could obtain a driver's license in West Virginia was recommended for passage Monday by the House Judiciary Committee.

Presently, a boy or girl may obtain a license at the age of 16 simply by passing a State Police driver's test.

A bill along the lines of that reported to the House floor Monday passed the House last year but died in a Senate committee.

Cub Scouts Arrange Party

LONACONING—A games party will be held Wednesday at the VFW home at 7 p. m. for friends and families of the Cub Scouts.

Refreshments will be sold at this party at the VFW home.

Pack No. 26, Cub Scouts, will meet on Monday, January 30, at the Presbyterian Church education building.

Homemakers To Study Wills

LONACONING — Lonaconing Homemakers Club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the VFW home.

Mrs. John McKenzie will give a demonstration talk on "Important Papers and Wills."

Mrs. Marie Clark, Mrs. Betty Shockey, Mrs. Becky Wilson and Mrs. Margaret Lintz will be hostesses for this January meeting.

Enters Hospital

PIEDMONT—Donald M. Mellor, Ashfield Street, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for treatment.

Businessmen Meet Thursday

FROSTBURG — Edward P. Flanigan, president of the Frostburg Merchants Association, has announced that a meeting will be held Thursday at 6 p. m. at Salem United Church of Christ recreation room. All businesses have been asked to have representatives present as items of importance to all will be discussed.

Choirs To Rehearse

BARTON — The Senior Choir of First Methodist Church will rehearse on Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. with Miss Shirley Snyder, organist. Miss Ruby Tichnell, a member of the choir, substituted at the organ Sunday, in the absence of Miss Snyder.

The Junior Choir will rehearse Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. directed by Clarence Penman.

Begin Projects

LONACONING — Members of the Lonaconing Women's Club who volunteered to make slippers and pillows, will meet Wednesday at 12:30 at the Red Cross Center, Main Street, for handicrafts project.

Flames, Smoke, Water, Wreck Frostburg Restaurant

Fire, smoke and water caused extensive damage to the interior of Harper's Park Lane, a Frostburg restaurant owned and operated by Lucius Harper. Volunteers of the Frostburg and Clarysville fire companies had trouble getting to the source of the blaze between a built up ceiling and roof of the one-story building. At least 40 or 50 volunteers from Frostburg and Clarysville fought the stubborn blaze. They took three trucks to the scene. The fire seemed to be concentrated in the area midway in the building about a block from Frostburg State Teachers College. The fire was possibly caused by an overheated furnace, according to the firemen. The photo shows the extensive damage to the interior of the building.

Bills Offered To Increase Aid To Schools

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Both houses of the West Virginia Legislature Monday received a bill designed to eventually provide $38 million more a year for the state's school system.

The measure, introduced by Del. Noah E. Floyd, D-Mingo, and Sen. C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, is backed by the State Education Department and the West Virginia Education Association (WVEA).

The proposed legislation would add $12.7 million to state school aid in the first year, with the amount increasing each year until it reaches $38 million after four years. This would include a $1.5 million fund for matching purposes for counties to use for general school improvements.

Under the proposal, teachers with college degrees would get a $60 month pay hike the first year. Other teachers would get a $30 monthly pay raise. Teachers also would get an additional week's pay each year to help pay for studies to met requirements for accreditation.

There would be further pay hikes in each of the ensuing three years.

Floyd and McKown, education committee chairmen in their respective chambers, also introduced another bill backed by the WVEA. It would provide an additional $1 a month for each year of service for retired school teachers not covered by social security.

Introduced in the Senate by President Howard Carson were two administration bills — one to set up a new state department of commerce and one to create an industrial development authority to make loans to new industry coming into the state. Both were introduced in the House last Thursday.

Other bills included measures to:

—Substitute a flat fee of $5 for all services by justices of the peace in civil suits and a flat fee of $2.50 for all fees relating to garnishment and execution proceedings, by Del. Tsapis, D-Hancock.

—Increase from $20,000 to $25,000 the amount that can be recovered from a wrongful death provided a financial or pecuniary loss can be proved, by Dels. Myles, D-Fayette, and Seibert, R-Ohio.

Band To Practice

LONACONING — Lonaconing City Band will practice this evening at 7:30 at the band hall.

Seeks More Pay For State Police

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Police Supt. William E. Burchett plans to ask the legislature to increase both the pay and number of members of the West Virginia State Police force.

Burchett is expected to request, possibly this week, a $300,000 allocation to provide a $50 per month pay raise, as well as an increase of 50 men to raise the total to 337.

Burchett, who replaced Hazen H. Fair in the post just last week, would like to have at least 400 men in the force. However, he'll settle now for an additional 50, he said. And he may have a good chance to get his request.

The former Huntington resident has already talked over the matter with several members of the legislature. Burchett reportedly got some encouragement, though no definite commitments.

Mental Health Crash Plan Is Given Support

State AAUW Votes Full Endorsement

FROSTBURG — The Maryland State Division of the American Association of University Women, at a recent meeting in Baltimore, voted to take an active stand for, and interest in a program of mental health and aging legislation to be proposed in the Maryland General Assembly.

Thus, they placed their support alongside that of the Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce, in their proposed 19 million-dollar crash program to improve mental health services and facilities, and to the Department of Mental Hygiene budget for 1961-62. The program also has the support of the Maryland Mental Health Association and is being promoted in the present session of the Maryland General Assembly.

The State Board of the AAUW organization with 22 statewide branches also voted to approve proposed legislation to provide more equitable representation in the Maryland Assembly, (the reapportionment issue.) Only nine of the branches of this state group are in metropolitan areas, which stand to gain greater representation by this measure. The other thirteen counties of Maryland include Allegany, Washington, and Carroll counties. The reapportionment item was introduced three months ago, in October, by the Bethesda-Chevy Chase branch and was studied by the other branches and approved by a majority of them.

In order to strengthen public education throughout the state, Miss Jane Joslyn of Annapolis, State Chairman of Elementary and Secondary Education, urged the AAUW branch delegates to support actively in their own counties the adoption of adequate county education budgets.

Explorer Five Routs Valley Knights, 97-58

Long Tallies 35 To Pace Eleventh Consecutive Win

By TED TROXELL

Sharpshooting LaSalle "zeroed in" its guns last night on the SS. Peter and Paul target range for a 97-58 victory over a defenseless Valley High quint.

On Friday night the red-hot Explorers, who have rolled to 11 wins in a row, will trair their fire on city rival Allegany in a battle that promises to draw a record crowd into the Campobello gymnasium.

With the regulars playing all but the latter part of the fourth period, LaSalle scored bullseyes on 41 of 68 shots from the floor for a remarkable .603 percentage.

Field goal accuracy is the height-lacking but run-happy Explorers' forte and they were popping them in at such a rate last night that the fans were urging them to hit the hundred mark.

Explorers Fall Shy

At the end of the third period the Irish held an 81-39 advantage and it appeared quite likely that the triple-digit total would be reached. Valley, however, slowed it up in the final quarter and the Explorers fell three shy of the "magic number."

Junior Mike Long, who was already far in front in the city scoring race before last night's contest, racked up 15 field goals and converted four of six free throws for 34 points, upping his total to 278 in 13 games. Long, who missed only six shots from the floor, upped his per-game average from 20.3 to 21.4.

Valley, having its worst year since the school was opened in 1953, led briefly in the first period when a jump shot and foul toss by Tommy James gave the Knights a 5-4 edge. Phil Barbe canned a free throw to tie it up, then Long registered five straight points to give the Explorers a lead they steadily increased.

Coach George Geatz's crew scored 26 points in the first quarter, added 27 in the second and 28 in the third. They shot at a better than .500 clip in every period, missing only four of 16 attempts in the opening stanza.

Hit Double Figures

Long had plenty of scoring help from his teammates, as the other four starters all hit in double figures. John Sloan collected 17, Barbe got 1, and Gary Blake and Carroll Wilt tallied 13 apiece. Wilt was the only player to leave the game with five personals, making his exit with 6:20 remaining.

The Black Knights made but seven of 28 floor tries in the first half but came back with a 14-27 performance after intermission to wind up with a 21-55 mark for the night. Wayne Johnson and Clarence Kimble paced the Knights in scoring with 15 points each.

WMI Fans Eye Bruce Lycoming Is Coming — Jawns Back In O.B. Nelson Dunstan Dies

By C. V. BURNS

BRUCE HIGH SCHOOL, a member of the W.M.I. League since 1924, never has won a basketball championship in the county circuit but this could be the Bulldogs' year.

At the present time Coach Leonard Ritchie's quint is tied with Allegany High for first place at 4-1 and three of the victories were scored away from home over Beall, Mt. Savage and Allegany.

The closest that Bruce came to winning in recent years was in 1954 when the Westernport team headed by Dave Marple, Mike Nofsinger and Jim Cave was nosed out by Allegany. The Campers finished with 9-1 and Bruce was 8-2. Both losses came at the hands of Allegany. That year the Bulldogs copped state Class B honors and wound up with an overall record of 23-3.

In 1953, Marple, Cave, Nofsinger, Wilson, Biggs, etc., had a good season but Allegany had a better one (9-1) and annexed the league title. Bruce finished in a tie with Fort Hill (7-3) for the runner-up spot. Their losses were to Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill. The Bulldogs, however, bagged the state Class B crown and took 21 out of 25 games.

Last season Bruce finished second with 7-3 and Allegany led with 9-1. Two of the three Bruce defeats were dealt out by the Campers.

Thirty-seven years ago Bruce came into the W.M.I. loop replacing Keyser High. Keyser was a charter member in 1921 along with Barton, Central, Beall, Allegany and LaSalle.

Members of the 1924 Bruce team were Wilt, Dellinger, Hamer, Umstot, Fazenbaker, Davis and Marsh.

With five games remaining anything can happen and it should be a ding dong battle from here to

Friend Slated To Appear Here

Bucs Hurler Guest Of Dapper Dans

Bob Friend, one of the pitching stalwarts of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team, will attend the Cumberland Dapper Dan sports celebrity dinner this Sunday evening, according to Al Abrams, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and national president of the Dapper Dans.

Albrams announced that Friend and Mal Alberts, TV sportscaster, will be in the Pittsburgh party along with shortstop Dick Groat, National League batting champ and most valuable player.

Alberts a a former Notre Dame football play-by-play announcer and served as master of ceremonies here at the 1959 Dapper Dan dinner.

Friend will be making his first trip to Cumberland. The husky righthander posted an 18-12 record for the Pirates in 1960, although he failed to win in two starts in the World Series against New York. He won 22 games for Pittsburgh in 1958.

Toastmaster for the local dinner will be Jimmy Gibbons, veteran sports announcer from Washington.

Tickets are now on sale and proceeds will be turned over to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Ridgeley High Evens Series With Indians

Blackhawks Whip Mt. Savage, 65-54

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks squared accounts for an earlier 47-44 defeat by winning the final game of their season series from Mt. Savage High School last night at Ridgeley by the score of 65-54.

The win enabled Coach Thomas O'Connor's team to reach the .500 mark with a 7-7 record.

In the first half the teams battled to a 30-30 draw but Ridgeley pulled ahead in the third period at 47-42 and never gave up the lead thereafter.

The loss was the sixth against four victories for the Indians.

Bobby Robertson, of Mt. Savage, was the game's high scorer with 23 points on nine field goals and 5-11 fouls.

Frank Lambert sparked the Ridgeley scorers with 15 tallies, Larry Hinkle collected 13, Jimmy Powelson 13 and Dave Imes 12. Ralph Wilson was runner-up for Mt. Savage with 14 markers.

Powelson committed his fifth personal just as the final whistle sounded.

Rebels Down Alco, 55-53, Sweep Series

South's 24-Point Splurge In Second Period Big Factor

Coach Nick Scallion's high flying South High Rebels made a sweep of their season series with Allegany High School by defeating the Campers last night at Hagerstown by the score of 55-53.

The victory was the 13th in 14 starts for the Rebs who defeated Coach Chet Payne's quint in an overtime battle here December 28 by the score of 70-64. Allegany went down to defeat for the fourth time in 12 games.

South High won the game in the second period by outscoring Allegany 24 to 8 after the teams had battled to an 11-11 tie in the opening period. The Campers outpointed the Rebs 21-8 in the third quarter and 13-12 in the final heat but were unable to overcome the second period deficit. Allegany pulled within a point of South High at 46-45 in the last period but was unable to catch the Washington countians.

Mervin Pope, of Allegany, was the game's high point scorer with 28 points. He garnered nine field goals and sank 10 of 12 foul shots. Strawther, South High pivot man, registered on 11 shots from the field and accounted for 23 points. Walker was runner-up with 14 tallies.

The Rebels in scoring their fourth consecutive win outscored Allegany 25 to 20 from the field. The Campers meshed 13 of 23 free throws to 5 out of 9 by the winners.

Cousy Scores 33 As Celtics Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Cousy clicked off 12 straight points in a spectacular third quarter burst that paced the Boston Celtics to a 125-112 victory over the New York Knickerbockers Tuesday night before 12,104 National Basketball Association fans at Madison Square Garden.

The defeat was the third consecutively for the Knicks, who led 55-52 at halftime and who even looked superior to the Celtics until Cousy led them on a 40-point spurt in the third quarter.

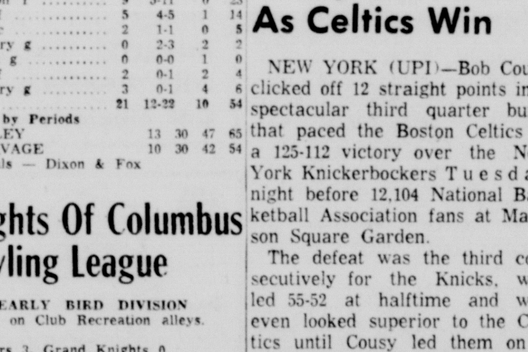

Cousy, the game's leading scorer, netted 33 points, 19 of them during the decisive third quarter which ended with the Celtics out front, 92-79. Willie Naulls led the losers with 25 points.

Romney Snaps PVC Loss Skein, Trips Paw Paw

Pioneers Win Game, 56 To 52; Warriors Score

Romney High's Pioneers, struggling in the throes of a dismal season in the wake of last year's undefeated championship team, snapped a seven-game losing streak in the Potomac Valley Conference last night by upsetting Paw Paw High's Pirates, 56-52, at Romney.

The win was only the second of the season for freshman coach Roger Parker's Pioneers as they handed Paw Paw its fourth conference loss in a battle of also-rans in the 19-team circuit.

Paw Paw Holds Edge

Paw Paw led 24-23 at halftime and held a 42-40 edge at the close of the third quarter before Romney rallied to snatch the victory. The score was tied at 46, 48, and 50 in the final minutes. Then Romney's Connie Davie, John Blue and Terry Mezzatesta dumped in three quick field goals to ice the verdict for the Pioneers. Tom Malcolm's 12th field goal for Paw Paw closed out the scoring with seconds left to play.

Blue was the top scorer for Romney with 20 points. Malcolm pumped in 27 tallies for the losers.

Hubert High, Romney forward, injured his leg shortly before the game ended and had to be carried from the floor.

In other PVC battles between non-contending clubs Wardensville High's Warriors handed Capon Bridge its sixth league defeat, 65-63, on Dixon Orndorff's pair of fouls in the final seconds, and Franklin High's Panthers dumped Circleville High's Indians,69-46, at Franklin.

Come From Behind

At Wardensville, the Warriors came from 10 points behind to catch Capon Bridge in the final period, tying the game at 60-all on a goal by Orndorff. The high-scoring center then broke a 63-63 deadlock with his game- winning foul shots, with 15 seconds to play.

Orndorff was the contest's top point-getter with 38 points to win a personal duel with center Rova Thorne of Capon Bridge who ended up with 33 points for the losers.

Franklin's Panthers won their third conference game in eight starts with an easy triumph over Circleville which bowed for the fourth time in six league engagements.

Charles Moyers scored 15 field goals and 30 points for Franklin who led 13-5, 24-13 and 50-26 at the quarters. Best for Circleville was Orville Harper, high-scoring Indians forward who was held to 11 tallies.

Oldtown Quint Edges W. Va. Deaf On Fouls, 56-55

Oldtown High's cagers scored their third victory in their last four games last night by turning back the West Virginia School for Deaf quintet, 56-55, at Romney when Charles Youngblood converted two fouls with only two seconds remaining to play.

Oldtown trailed most of the first half before catching the West Virginia cagers in the third period to lead 43-40. With less than a minute to play a field goal by Moses Vance gave the Romney tossers a 55-54 lead which was wiped out by Youngblood's clutch free throws.

Vance was the game's leading scorer with 24 points while Dallas Hansberger scored 15 for Oldtown which now has a 4-7 mark for the season. The lineups:

Pistons Win Over Royals 10th Time

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons continued their hold over the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night, defeating them for the 10th time this season in 11 games, 106-104, in a wild fourth quarter.

Cincinnati's Jack Twyman was the game's high scorer with 37 points. Bailey Howell led the Pistons with 29. Royal star Oscar Robertson returned to limited action after sitting out three contests with an injured hip. He scored four points in the 11 minutes that he played.

Catamounts Avenge Early Loss, 98-82

Loughmen Post 10th Victory; Ferrell Gets 29, Allen 26

Potomac State's Catamounts, defeated on December 10 by the decisive score of 85-44 at Elkins, showed a complete reversal of form last night by trimming Davis and Elkins College in the return contest at Keyser by the score of 98-82.

The score was tied nine times before Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's team pulled out the decision in the closing minutes of play.

With the game knotted at 79-79 Mike Checkan tossed in the goal that put the Catamounts ahead to stay.

Potomac held a 10-point lead at 17-7 early in the game but the Senators came from behind to forge ahead at 46-44 at intermission.

The score was tied at 21-21 in the first half and at 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 73, 75 and 79 in the final stanza.

Despite a bad ankle Checkan played the last 16½ minutes and figured prominently in the victory by ringing up a total of 19 points on eight field goals and 3-4 at the charity stripe.

Bob Ferrell, D. & E. forward, who has been averaging 26 points a game, was the game's high scorer with 29 tallies. He collected 11 field goals and converted 7 out of nine free throws. John Allen paced the Catamounts with 26 markers on nine baskets and 8 out of 15 at the foul line. Kenny Vance dumped in 16 and John Fahey garnered 13 for the victors.

Stan Shingleton and Fahey of Potomac and Bill Kirk of D. & E. exited on personal fouls.

The victory gave Potomac a 10-6 overall mark and a 2-4 record in the West Virginia Conference. The setback was the ninth against three wins for the Elkins quint.

Baltimore Gets Herzog, Snyder In Trade With A's

Kansas City Club Obtains Five Orioles

Courtney, Pilarcik, Boyd, Causey, Archer Figure In Exchange

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Frank (Trader) Lane swung his first deal as the new general manager of the Kansas City Athletics Tuesday by obtaining five Baltimore Orioles in exchange for outfielders Whitey Herzog and Russ Snyder.

In a straight swap with no cash involved, the A's picked up catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Jim Archer, infielder Wayne Causey, first baseman Bob Boyd and outfielder Al Pilarcik.

"This is by no means an earth-shaking deal," Lane said. "But it will give us a respectable club with which to open spring training."

Lane pointed out that the A's lost three infielder, two catchers and two pitchers in the draft that followed the addition of two teams to the American League for the coming season.

Herzog, 29, missed half of the 1960 season because of a calcium deposit in his leg. In 83 games last year, he hit .266 and collected 10 doubles, two triples and eight home runs. He drove in 38 runs.

Obtained In Trade

The 26-year-old Snyder was obtained by the A's in a 1959 trade with the New York Yankees. Last year, Snyder led the A's in stolen bases with seven and batted .260 on 79 hits, including 10 doubles, 5 triples and 4 home runs.

In Courtney, the A's obtained a 33-year-old veteran who has seen service with Baltimore, the St. Louis Browns, the Chicago White Sox, and the Washington Senators. Courtney was the American League's Rookie Of The Year in 1952.

Last year, Courtney batted .227 for the Orioles. He has been a major leaguer for eight years.

Lane described the 24-year-old Causey as "a fine prospect who has come a long way since being signed as a bonus player." Lane added that Causey gives the A's "a good young shortstop to compete with Dick Houser." Causey was with Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League last season, and also plays second and third base."

Has Good Arm

Pilarcik, who was with the A's in 1956, hit .247 last year in 104 games with the Orioles. Lane said the 30-year-old outfielder "has a good arm and is a good fly-shagger, although he doesn't have Herzog's power with the bat."

Lane described the 28-year-old Archer as "a left-handed cutie with good control and a good curve and change of pace. He will beef up our crooked arm pitching staff." Archer had an 11-12 record with Miami of the International League last year.

Lane said the 35-year-old Boyd is "an excellent pinch-hitter who could fill in at first base behind Marv Throneberry." In 71 games with the Orioles last year, Boyd batted .317.

Chappell Leads Scorers In ACC

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Len Chappell, Wake Forest's 6-8, 240-pound junior who missed his team's first two games last month because of a knee injury, has taken the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball scoring race at the halfway point.

For 13 games he's averaging 23.5 points against 23.1 for runnerup Art Heyman, Duke sophomore.

Tar Heels Granted Permission To Drop Out Of Tournament

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference Tuesday granted the University of North Carolina permission to withdraw from this year's championship basketball tournament. The ACC left the door open for a change of heart by the university with the statement that "such withdrawal is not mandatory."

Chancellor William B. Aycock of the University of North Carolina could not be reached immediately for comment. Aycock Monday dispatched notice to ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver here that the university wished to drop out of the tournament because it was under one-year NCAA probation and ineligible to play for the national title.

Aycock said "in the interest of fair play" a team ineligible to play for the NCAA title should not compete against teams with a chance to try for the national title.

The North Carolina team, fourth ranked nationally, has a 12-2 record and has won its last 10 games.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

Red Grange . . . the "Galloping Ghost"

THE "GHOST OF THE GRIDIRON" was no ghost that sunny October day in 1924 when he dazzled 66,609 spectators with the greatest scoring exhibition in football history—he was there, in person, and seen by all except a few Michigan defenders.

Harold (Red) Grange, the GREATEST of all football players wearing his famed "77" jersey, stood on the five-yard line as Michigan kicked off. The ball was a low liner and the Illinois star caught the ball near the corner of the gridiron, with the sideline to his left.

At the start it looked like a routine runback, but as Grange passed the 30 and then zigged and zagged through a group of defenders near the middle of the field all knew the Galloping Ghost was on his way. And he was, for 95 yards, and a touchdown on the opening play!

The crowd, a capacity gathering because Illinois was dedicating its new Memorial stadium, had hardly got through buzzing on this spectacular when Grange took a pass from center, the second time he handled the ball, and barelegged it through the Wolves for 70 yards and a second touchdown.

It was only the beginning.

Before the quarter was over, the "Ghost" handled the ball four more times and twice he went for touchdowns, one of 57 yards and the fourth TD one of 43 yards.

Grange left the quarter after 10 minutes—had scored four sensational touchdowns!

He wasn't through. In the third quarter he ran 13 yards for his fifth touchdown. In the fourth, he threw a pass for the sixth Illini score.

Grange had played 41 minutes, gained 402 yards, carried the ball 21 times, completed six passes and held the ball for Earl Britton on tries for goals after touchdowns.

RED GRANGE, an All-American in 1923, repeated in 1924 and again in 1925. The Michigan game wasn't his only starring effort. Against Penn, in the East, on a muddy field, he scintillated with three long touchdown runs to rout the Quakers. In another one, against Chicago, he rose to great heights with an 80-yard run against the Maroon to score the tying touchdown.

In three years at Illinois, Grange scored 186 points, set a season mark in 1924 with 78 points, had 31 touchdowns for his career and the 13 TDs in a season in 1924 was high then and is now.

A NATIONAL HERO, Grange drew censure and applause when he quit school after the game with Ohio State in November, 1925, and turned pro. He signed with the Chicago Bears, and drew 36,000 fans to Wrigley Field. A week later he drew 68,000 in New York and on a tour which followed he packed 'em in.

Movies followed, too, and so did a long professional career with the Bears. He retired in 1935 after giving the pro game a big boost with his magnetism.

GRANGE was born at Wheaton, Ill., in 1903. His mother died when he was five. A younger brother, Garland, also played at Illinois and was considered by some as even a better football player.

Since he quit pro football, Grange has spent most of his career in broadcasting. He still is doing that and does a fine job at it.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of America's favorite sports is telling the other guy how to spend his money or run his business and that leads us into the annual "suggestion box" for the athletic industry.

They—meaning the men in command — probably won't but why don't they do something like this:

Adopt for all of baseball a suggestion by the Pacific Coast League to let a pinch-hitter bat for a weak-hitting pitcher and allow the pitcher to remain in the game to do what he does best—pitch.

On intentional walks, automatically send the runner to first base without wasting time with four deliberately wide pitches.

Names On Uniforms

Provide player uniforms with names as well as numbers for all televised baseball, football and basketball games. TV cameras frequently take a viewer much closer to the action than a fan in the grandstand but even if you have a numbered roster at your chairside, how can you read it in a dimly lighted living room to identify players? (The "names" idea is beginning to catch on but let's make it unanimous.)

Raise the basket from 10 to 12 feet to cut down the scoring in basketball.

Widen the nets to increase scoring in hockey, thereby reducing the chances for tie games, probably increasing interest among new fans and taking some of the heat off the goalies who take most of the raps for defeats. (This campaign now is 25 years old and remains exactly where it began—nowhere.)

Announce the scoring at the end of each round in a boxing match so the crowds and the fighters know where they stand. Or at least add up the totals just before the last round begins and, if it's a draw to that point, let 'em all know to put more drama in the final round.

Make the football pros boot conversion points from the 15 yard line—at least.

More "Wild Cards"

In college football, make all backfield men "wild cards who can come and go as they please.

In major tennis tournaments for men (Wimbledon, U.S. championships), make the early rounds the best two of three sets instead of best of five going to "best of five" from the quarter-finals on.

Match play golf tournaments schedule early matches at 18 holes before going to 36 near the end. Keeps the schedule uncluttered.

Put the annual PGA golf championship back on a match play basis instead of 72-hole stroke play like every other tournament on the tour.

Make perfected electronic gadgets like the phototimer (in track) the official judge of finishes instead of letting the vulnerable human eye decide winners.

Have scoreboards in baseball that tell you who's warming up in the bullpen.

Settle the pro football war and give us a "world series" between champions of the two leagues.

Battered Cup Goes To Toronto Leafs

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs think the Governors' Cup looks more like a booby prize than a pennant trophy after collecting the cup for winning the International League flag during the 1960 Baseball season. The cup is 25 years old. And it looks it.

When the cup arrived here Monday, it had a chipped base, a bent lid and blotched and peeling silver plating.

General Manager Frank Pollock of the Leafs said "there's nothing to indicate what teams have won it. I'm going to suggest at our league meeting this Saturday that the names of the pennant winners be engraved on the cup."

Chargers Transfer To San Diego Assured

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Transfer of the American League football Chargers from Los Angeles to San Diego was assured Tuesday when the City Council agreed to proposed improvements at city-owned Balboa Stadium.

It instructed City Manager George Bean to negotiate a contract with the Chargers, and go forward with stadium improvements.

The action followed appearance before the council of Barron Hilton, owner of the Chargers, who wanted to move the team here because of lack of support by Los Angeles fans.

Champ Is Matched

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, the world featherweight boxing champion, agreed to meet Exuperancio (Fred) Galiana, Spanish lightweight king, in a 10-round nontitle bout Friday night. The American will get $7,000, the biggest fight purse ever paid in Spain.

Five Of Top PVC Quints Will See Action Tonight

Beall-Fort Ashby, Petersburg-Keyser Battles Top Card

Five of the six teams in the thick of the fight for the Potomac Valley Conference basketball championship will see action tonight at Keyser, Bayard, Fort Ashby and Piedmont.

Petersburg's Vikings, occupants of second place with a 9-1 record, do battle with "Eck" Miers' Keyser High Golden Tornado at Keyser.

Beall At Fort Ashby

Beall High, holder of the runner-up spot back of LaSalle (4-0) with a 4-1 record, engages Fort Ashby's Eagles on the latter's court. Fort Ashby, Moorefield and Elk Garden are deadlocked for third place with 7-2 records.

Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden quint tackles Bayard High at Bayard and LaMar Sager's Moorefield Yellowjackets face Piedmont High on the Lions' court.

Petersburg won the series opener from Keyser, 68-52, and the Golden Tornado will be seeking revenge although it is practically out of the title running with a 3-4 mark.

Beall opened the season with a 66-49 decision over Fort Ashby but Quentin Sayers' quint, paced by the high scoring Paul Price, who is averaging 31 points a game in P.V.C. competition, may make it mighty interesting for the Mountaineers in the return tilt.

Lions Seek Revenge

Moorefield holds a 40-39 decision over "Huck" Miers' Lions who will be out for revenge on their home floor. Piedmont is 4-5 in the league.

Bayard has failed to win a P.V.C. game in four outings and will be trying to avenge an earlier 59-51 setback when it tackles Elk Garden in Grant county tonight.

Beagle Qualifying Trial Is Postponed

The all-age qualifying trial scheduled Sunday by the Allegany Beagle Club has been postponed because of the inclement weather, officials of the organization announced last night.

The club will hold its regular meeting on February 3, at 7:30 p. m. at the clubhouse on Barton's Dairy Farm when a new date for the trial will be set.

The trial qualifies beagles for the Penn Central Association meet later this year.

28 Net Teams Vie In European Zone

MELBOURNE (AP) — Italy, France, Britain and Sweden drew first round byes Tuesday in the European Zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

Twenty-eight teams will compete in the zone, according to the draw made by the president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, Norman Strange.

Italy won the title last year and defeated the United States to gain the challenge round, where it lost to Australia.

Auto Racer Killed As Car Hits Tree

MONTELIMAR, France (AP)—Georges Chauvet was killed and his co-driver, Marin Couderc, was injured seriously in a car accident Monday night as they headed home after withdrawing from the Monte Carlo Auto Rally.

They were riding in a car driven by Ramond Lafont, 38, who also was killed. The car left the road and hit a tree as they returned to their homes in southern France.

Broad And Active Market Is Erratic And Indecisive

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market Tuesday was active, broad, erratic, and indecisive. The popular averages never strayed very far from home but many individual price changes were large.

International Business Machines climbed a whopping 24½ points following its 3-for-2 split and dividend boost. H. J. Heinz tacked on 8 on split rumors and Hercules Powder lost 6½, or nearly all of Monday's big jump.

The overall market of 1,294 issues showed more losers than gainers — 556 to 490 and the Dow Jones industrial average agreed by dropping 1.03 to 638.79. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks, however, registered a small rise. New highs outnumbered new lows by 79 to 5.

The railroad issues made the difference, falling 1.38 to 140.57, according to D-J. This was largely due to Great Northern, off 1⅛ and C&O off 1½. The C&O was down more than 3 at one time as traders reacted to an advisory service's suggestion that the carrier's dividend might be jeopardized if the B&O merger came off. A denial by President Walter J. Tuohy quelled some fears and the stock recovered half its loss.

Utility stocks gained 0.46 to 104.05. Volume dipped to 4,280,000 shares from 4,450,000 Monday.

Ampex was the most active stock, trading 89,000 shares and rising ⅝. Following were Pfizer up 1⅜, Twentieth Century-Fox off 1⅛, AVCO up ⅜ and National Theatres off ½. American Telephone placed eighth on the list and added ⅞ to 110 and a new high. Nine of the top 15 closed higher, five were lower and elastic stop nut did not change.

Racing To Resume At Bowie Today

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The $4,500 Salisbury Purse features the reopening of Bowie Race Course Wednesday after a one-day cancellation because of foul weather.

Ten candidates were named for the five furlongs speed test for 3-year-olds on the nine race program.

The Southern Maryland oval cancelled its second day of a 48-day program Monday because snow covered most of the approach roads. Tuesdays are normally dark days at the track but the cancelled program will be made up Jan 31.

Vikings Team To Be Stocked By NFL Rivals

Minnesota To Pick 3 From Each Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League Tuesday decided on a formula to stock the new Minnesota franchise — each team except Dallas to make a list of eight players, three to be chosen by the Vikings.

The Vikings will pay a total of $550,000 to the other NFL clubs for the players, about $15,611 a man.

Last year, when Dallas was added to the league, the club was picked from a list of 11 players from each of the other teams. But Commissioner Pete Rozelle pointed out that Dallas did not participate in the draft.

The Vikings already have picked up 20 players (not signed yet) in the draft and have obtained quarterback George Shaw from the New York Giants.

The league also voted that players who were injured late last season must be included on the regular roster. Heretofore, injured players were placed on the reserve list.

The clubs will have to have their lists in by noon (EST) Wednesday, and the Vikings will have until noon Thursday to make their selections.

The selections won't be made public, Rozelle said, until the trading club has told the players. General Manager Bert Rose, Coach Norm Van Brocklin and talent scout Joe Thomas, will make the selections for the Vikings.

No decision was made on which conference the Vikings would enter. The Eastern conference has first choice of either the Vikings or Dallas, which operated as a swing team last season.

"If we had a choice," said Rose, "we'd lean toward the Western Conference because of the geographical proximity to Chicago and Green Bay, which would make for a natural rivalry."

the finish with all eyes focused on Prof. Ritchie's team from the Tri-Towns.

LYCOMING College, of Williamsport, Pa., will make its first appearance on a Frostburg State Teachers College schedule when it plays the Bobcat soccer team this year.

Maybe you've never heard of the school before but believe it or not it was founded in 1812, Student enrollment there is about 900.

Coach Ken Babcock of the Bobcats is now trying to Akron (Ohio) University for a pre-season warm-up game.

WILLIAM "Shad" Hunt's St. Maria Goretti High School quint at Hagerstown has won 8 out of its first 12 games while Glenn Smith's Williamsport (Md.) High School team owns a 6-2 record.

ADOLPH POPP, 27, of Morgantown, is the new golf professional at the Mill Creek Country Club, Burlington, W.Va., and will take charge April 1.

In 1959 he was runner-up to Bill Campbell in the state amateur tourney at White Sulphur Springs.

A NEWS ITEM about Charleston (W. Va.) being unable to field a team in the American Association this year following on the heels of a story that Johnstown (Pa.) will return to organized ball after an absence of several years revives memories of the Middle Atlantic League days when teams from those cities battled it out with Cumberland's Colts for the championship.

In 1925, the first year of the M.A., Johnstown copped the title by winning both halves of the split season schedule. Joe Cronin, now president of the American League, was Johnstown's shortstop that year and on the same team was James "Rip" Collins, of Nantyglo, Pa., who has been appointed coach of the Chicago Cubs for 1961.

Cumberland won its first championship in organized ball in 1927 by defeating Johnstown in the post-season series.

In 1931 when the Middle Atlantic became a 12-club circuit, Cumberland defeated Watt Powell's Charleston Senators for the championship.

At Johnstown this year the Boston Red Sox will be the parent club and will try to succeed where the then Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants and St. Louis Browns failed. All three of those teams are now in new locations.—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Baltimore—in that order.

Manager of the new Johnstown team of the Eastern League is Eddie Popowski, who has been in baseball since 1936. He got his first crack at managing a team in 1941 when his Centerville (Md.) club finished fourth in the Eastern Shore League. Eddie has piloted at least a dozen teams in the minors.

Johnstown, incidentally, obtained the franchise held in the Eastern loop last year by Erie, Pa.

In the 1920s there were at least 20 cities within a radius of 150 miles of Cumberland with minor league teams. Today Johnstown is the only one.

Cincinnati Signs Frank Robinson

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Frank Robinson, major league slugging champion, Tuesday became the 13th member of the Cincinnati Reds to sign his 1961 contract.

Robinson, a 26 - year - old outfielder, had a slugging average of .595 to lead both leagues in 1960. His batting average was .297 and he hit 31 home runs, drove in 83 runs and had 70 extra-base hits.

No salary figure was disclosed, but Robinson said he was "satisfied with the terms."

No mention was made of what position he will play in 1961. He finished 1960 as an outfielder, but has played first base and has been mentioned as a third base possibility. Robinson said he prefers the outfield.

Symington Says Bad Loser Overseas Heavy Liability

American Athletes Should Be Careful About Their Manners

NEW YORK (AP)—The American sports competitor often attracts more attention overseas than our diplomat, and so we should be very careful about our manners, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Tuesday night.

"We may be able to absorb a flareup of bad sportsmanship in an event here, but the bad loser overseas is a heavy liability to all Americans," the senator added in an address prepared for delivery to the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

Symington declard there is no better ground of common interest than the field of sports for winning friends in other countries, and he added:

"Sports not only provide a means for friendly contact with people on the other side of the Iron Curtain, they also offer us a way to cement friendships at the people-to-people level with the companion countries of the free world."

Ussery Scores Aboard Trio Of Hialeah Longshots

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—Jockey Bob Ussery stole the play from John Sellers at Hialeah today as he rode three long-priced winners—including Be Cautious in the featured seventh race before 15,148 fans.

Be Cautious, a 23-1 shot, defeated heavily-favored Indian Maid, ridden by Sellers, by two lengths. Staretta was third and Make Sail fourth.

Ussery also won with Baroda ($21.20) in the third race and Alamo Maid ($16.20) in the fourth.

Be Cautious, making his first start since Oct. 6, moved into contention along the rail with a bold rush on the stretch turn and went outside to challenge front-running Staretta. He went past the leader inside the eighth pole and drew out. Indian Maid, fourth down the backstretch, closed fast to get second money, a head in front of Staretta.

Sellers, who started the day with a record of having won at least two races each day of the meeting, won the race—the fifth race on White Label ($9.60). He finished out of the money on Sho Lea, the 1-to-2 favorite, in the sixth race. He has won 16 races, 10 more than runner-up Sam Boulmetis.

Louise Suggs Leads In Naples Tourney

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Louise Suggs, a little woman with a man-size golf game, took the lead in the first round of the Naples Pro-Amateur golf tournament Tuesday with a 3-under-men's-par 69.

The Atlantan's 35 - 34 round, measured against the men's standard of 36-36 over the Naples beach course, put her one stroke on top of a field of 20 top women professionals shooting for $3,500 in the unusual, two-day tournament.

Close behind her came four veteran shotmakers. Mickey Wright of Dallas, leading money winner on the women's golf tour, and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., were tied at 70.

Half-Billion Budget Asked

Reflects Increase In Services For Health, Welfare, Education

(State Budget Charts On Page 3)

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes went before the Maryland Legislature Tuesday with $515 million in spending plans and a sales tax proposal designed to keep the state treasury jingling for the next two years.

He submitted a state operating budget of $506,110,475—Maryland's first to pass the half billion mark—to a joint session of the Senate and House. It is $27 million higher than the spending program for the current year and chiefly reflects expansion of state services in health, education and welfare.

Tawes announced $9 million more will be added to the total in a supplemental budget later in the session. It will cover proposals of the Legislative Council's James Committee on fiscal matters to give local governments $6.4 million in increased aid to education and $2.5 million more for welfare programs.

Tawes plans to finance this portion of his program by lowering the sales tax to purchases of 25 cents, instead of the present 51-cent starting point, and applying the tax to restaurant meals and any other food prepared outside the home.

Would Balance

Tax officials expect this to bring in $9,404,000 in new revenue its first year. It will hit hardest the 25-and 50-cent purchaser now exempt. Beer, hamburgers, cigarets, small dime and drug store purchases and a flock of other items would fall under the tax if they cost 25 cents or more. And a purchase of 34 cents or more would require two pennies.

The tax adjustment, if adopted, would take effect June 1.

The governor's entire program of $515 million could be balanced without any tax increase and with an estimated $10 million left over next year toward balancing the fiscal 1963 budget.

But Tawes told the assembly this would not be the responsible thing to do, in view of the $18 million two-year cost of the aid program and the fact that it would head the state into almost certain financial straits next year. The budget is expected to increase $17 million without the James recommendations.

"I believe it is my financial responsibility to recommend to you for enactment at this session a revenue program which will provide this amount over a two-year period," he told the Legislature.

Others Tax Food

". . .I have consulted with the Legislative Council committee and legislative leaders and I believe it is our joint opinion that the base of the sales tax should be reduced to 25 cents and the same rate of tax should also be levied on the sales of prepared food.

"Maryland presently has one of the highest sales tax bases, and we are the only state levying a sales tax which does not tax food. . .

"The adoption by you of my recommended program to aid Baltimore City and the counties will, I firmly believe, insure a balanced budget for fiscal 1963 without recourse to further taxation. . ."

The governor made no mention of another James Committee proposal which he has endorsed—to levy a statewide tobacco tax of six cents a pack on cigarets and refund all of the increase to local governments.

But he indicated his proposed hike of $9 million in sales tax will be the last program of this type he will undertake on behalf of subdivisions. Tawes told newsmen at an advance briefing on the budget he would initiate action between the state and local governments to find new tax sources for the counties to levy without calling on the state for help.

Rejects Proposal

When officials of the State County Commissioners Association appeared before him Monday to propose the counties add a penny sales tax and boost the state income tax by ½ per cent to get new revenue, he turned them down cold.

Tawes Includes Research Unit In Md. Budget

Center Considered Boon To West Md.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday included funds for the establishment of a Western Maryland center for research and education in his budget presented to the General Assembly.

The research center was proposed by the Department of Research and Education with a view toward "improving yields from forests, game and fishing in that area and toward better protection of water from wastes."

Tawes asked the legislature to create five new positions for the research center — a conservation education specialist, three biologists and a stenographer. He included funds totaling $34,954 to get the project under way — $20,227 for salaries and $14,947 for operating expenses.

Location Not Set

As proposed, the center would be geared to conduct research on a number of projects in the area and acquaint the people with Western Maryland's resources.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the research agency, has proposed the center as a means of increasing the recreational and financial yield of the Western Maryland area.

Cronin said the center would serve Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties. It is to be located at some spot convenient to all four counties.

Legislators Pleased

The news was greeted with jubilation by Allegany County legislators, who began a drive for the center some four years ago.

'It's a great thing for Western Maryland," said Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the delegation.

He said plans call for the center to be opened in 1962 and that the budget message pointed out the ecenomy of the area can be substantially improved by better utilization of timber land, development of fishing and hunting as recreation and the prevention of pollution and poor conservation practices.

Kel-Co Credit Union Elects 1961 Officers

Members of the Kel-Co Federal Credit Union elected 1961 officers at their sixth annual meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Two new members were elected to the board of directors. They are Robert D. Swarner, secretary, and Herbert H. Randolph.

Re-elected to the board were Melvin E. Dye, president; A. E. Johnson, vice president; Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer-manager; A. J. Jenkins, J. D. Brandenburg, Jack B. Ruggles, A. F. Young, Floyd P. Grace, G. M. Yost and H. H. Randolph.

Named to the Credit Committee were James Stein and Marshall Houdersheldt, and to the Supervisory committee, Harold Fishell, Charles Little and Garnet Yost.

The credit union was formed January 25, 1955, to serve employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

It began operations in a small room in the Rubber Workers Hall at 152 North Mechanic Street and recently moved into its new building at Lee and Paca streets along the route to the Kelly plant.

Mr. O'Baker, treasurer, reported that the credit union had 1,658 members on December 31, and assets of $852,078.50.

Loans outstanding totaled $800,737.11, he said, and members shares amounted to $706,451.69. It was the fourth consecutive year, Mr. O'Baker said, that the credit union has paid a five per cent dividend on members' savings.

Speaks At YMCA Dinner

W. H. Edmund, executive consultant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, seated center, is shown conferring with the dinner co-chairmen before speaking at the 87th annual dinner meeting last night of the YMCA. Seated at the left is H. D. Barber, co-chairman, while standing at the right is J. Carson Dowell, the other co-chairman, who introduced Mr. Edmund.

150 Citizens Attend Annual YMCA Dinner

Goodyear Consultant Addresses Group

Some 150 persons attending the 87th annual meeting of Central YMCA last night in the "Y" community room were reminded that American corporations today are playing a role that goes far beyond the conventional operations that call for manufacture and sale of products.

The speaker was W. H. Edmund, executive consultant for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio. He is presently on special assignment by the company, from coast to coast, after having served 17 years in Goodyear's industrial relations division.

"The companies themselves recognize the necessity of being good citizens, that they should be concerned with more than making a profit and paying taxes, and that they should make contributions to the overall welfare of the country," Mr. Edmund said.

Commends YMCA

The speaker then paid tribute to the YMCA for offering one of the atmospheres for this service. He pointed out that while 150 interested citizens were attending the 87th annual dinner here last night, some 4,000 in Chicago were attending the 103th annual YMCA dinner there at the McCormick Exposition Center.

In the course of his remarks, the Goodyear consultant attempted to carry his audience figuratively 40 years hence to the year 2000. In view of the great strides being made in research, he said it is almost immpossible to picture civilization as it will be 40 years hence. Forecasters estimated that there will be twice as many people in the United States when the 21st century gets started.

Our government will have an important role to assure that the free enterprise system is still preserved in 2000, Mr. Edmund said. There also is a governmental responsibility to assure that education is improved through better teaching at all levels.

Tulsa Choir To Present Double Musical Treat

A double concert treat is in store for Cumberland area music lovers Saturday night when the Tulsa (Okla.) Modern Choir presents a two-part program at Fort Hill auditorium that includes Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah," plus a program of modern musical comedy and operetta ranging from Gilbert and Sullivan to Hammerstein and Rodgers.

Sponsored by the Lions Club of Cumberland for its welfare and charity fund, the Tulsa chorus includes Cumberland with Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit and New York in its annual eastern schedule. Cumberland, in fact, is the only place in 12 years where the Oklahomans have appeared every year without a break.

Under Arthur Hestwood, the director, who formerly was associated with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, the Tulsa chorus regards its annual concert in Cumberland as the highlight of its eastern tour.

Tickets are only $1 and are available from any member of the Lions Club.

Ridgeley To Open First Aid Course Tonight At 7

A standard Red Cross first aid course, being sponsored by the Ridgeley Volunteer Ambulance Unit, will begin this evening at 7 in the fire hall of that community.

Donald Jewell, a captain in the unit who is in charge of arranging the course, said interested persons over 15 who live in the Ridgeley area are invited to attend the 10-hour course being offered by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Vincent Dela Grange will be the instructor of the course, which will be taught this evening as well as the evenings of January 31, February 2 and 7. The fourth session will be a little longer than the three other classes, he said.

Mr. Jewell pointed out last night that last year at least five persons from Cumberland took a similar course sponsored by the unit.

Observance Set

The Mayor and Council this week issued a proclamation calling on citizens to join in the observance of New March of Dimes Week here January 23-29.

Auto Collides With Truck; 17 Sheep Killed

A 25-year-old Cresaptown man who teaches school in Rockville escaped serious injury early Monday when his car was demolished near Frederick when it hit and upset a sheep truck, killing 17 of the animals.

Thomas E. Rowan, who teaches at Broome Junior High School, was admitted to Frederick Memorial Hospital, although he was not seriously injured. He is expected to be discharged this morning and will return to his home in Cresaptown.

Rowan was driving alone about 1:30 a.m. Monday and was traveling south on Route 240 about three and a half miles east of Frederick toward Rockville.

Police said the driver of the sheep truck left the vehicle abandoned on the highway and when the Rowan car ran into it, the truck was upset, killing the animals.

Rowan sustained a slight concussion as well as abrasions of his hand and face. He was charged with reckless driving, according to police, who said the truck driver was charged with leaving an unattended vehicle on the highway.

Rowan, who graduated from Fort Hill High School and Frostburg State Teachers College, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowan of Cresaptown.

Bids Authorized

The Mayor and Council this week authorized the Street Commissioner to advertise for bids for chairs and air conditioning equipment for the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Baby Awakens Mother; Home Is On Fire

Fireman Is Hurt When Hit By Car

A Wiley Ford area mother, awakened early yesterday morning by her crying 15-month-old child, detected smoke and discovered their two-story log house was on fire.

While firemen were going to the fire, one of the volunteers who had been directing traffic was struck and knocked unconscious by a car, and later was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation.

He is Harry Wright, 35, who was reported in "good" condition last night.

Mrs. John Wilfong, who resides with her husband and child on Death Valley Road, detected the smoke in the house at 12:20 a.m., and firemen were reached from a telephone at a neighbor's home.

Volunteers from Wiley Ford and Ridgeley fought the blaze which turned out to be a fire around the flue in the ceiling of a downstairs room and the floor of a bedroom upstairs.

The family was forced to vacate the home while firemen quenched the blaze. Some of the furnishings of the house were removed and later were placed back in the home when the fire was out.

The Wilfongs were able to stay at their home after the fire had been put out and the rooms had been mopped up by the volunteers.

The injured fireman recalls seeing a car coming toward him while he was directing traffic. The car went into a skid and the rear of the vehicle struck him, knocking him unconscious, a fire company spokesman said.

Fire Chief William Lindsay and Trooper Robert Noechel of the West Virginia State Police at Keyser are investigating the accident.

B&O Tracks Cleared After Wreck

B&O rail traffic in the vicinity of Stricker about 14 miles west of Keyser, W. Va., disrupted Monday morning when 16 freight cars derailed, was back to normal yesterday morning, a railroad spokesman said.

Two tracks were back in service by 9 a. m. and the derailed cars had been removed prior to that time by work crews of Cumberland and Grafton.

The spokesman said an investigation of the accident is underway and there has been no estimate of damage.

Officials of the railroad said the pileup was caused when the 11th car of the eastbound freight derailed as the train was starting down the 17-mile grade.

During the tie-up, trains were re-routed through Connellsville on the Pittsburgh Division and then over the Chieftain branch to Fairmont and Grafton.

The accident occurred on the Cumberland Division of the B&O. Work crews had trouble getting to the wreck scene due to the snow-covered roads.

Pike Firemen Change Site Of Installation

Baltimore Pike Fire Company has shifted the site of its installation of officers to the fire hall.

The ceremony and dinner were scheduled for the hall of the Church of the Seven Dolors at Bean's Cove, but drifting snow has made the roads difficult to travel.

The program will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and dinner will be served by the women of the Bean's Cove church.

Industrial Gas Deliveries Cut By 40% Today

Columbia Must Save For Colder Weather

Local industries were notified late yesterday that their gas supplies will be reduced by 40 per cent at 8 a. m. today because of the cold weather.

Columbia Gas System of Maryland, Inc., said the reduction in deliveries will be made this morning because of forecasts calling for sub-zero weather.

J. S. Wilson, assistant district manager here, said the procedure is called for in agreements under which Columbia Gas sells gas to industrial customers.

He said most plants have installed standby fuel sources of their own for such periods.

Mr. Wilson said the reduction which takes place this morning will be in effect until the weather warms up.

He explained that gas supplies are not now in critical shape, but he noted that the long-range weather prediction calls for a cold February.

The winter already has been so cold, he said, that the gas company thought it best to make the reduction and conserve gas before the anticipated cold weather next month. Otherwise, he said, the gas supply could become critically short during February.

John Humbird PTA Will See Demonstration

Mouth - to - mouth resuscitation will be demonstrated at a meeting of the John Humbird School PTA tomorrow night.

Herman Cunningham of the plant protection department of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant at North Branch will conduct the demonstration at 8 p.m.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with classroom visits, during which teachers will discuss a publication furnished by the Maryland State Teachers Association titled "How Parents Can Help Johnny Read."

At 7:30 p.m. the Cub Scouts will open the program with the flag salute. Rev. Harold McClay of Emmanuel Methodist Church will offer prayer, and Mrs. Henry S. Pittman, president, will conduct the business session.

Mr. Cunningham's demonstration will follow, and refreshments will be served afterwards by the home room mothers under leadership of Mrs. Vernon Nazelrod, chairman.

The program committee, headed by Mrs. Barbara Riley and assisted by Mrs. Paul Crites and Mrs. Paul Stansbury, arranged the program.

Temple B'er Chayim will induct 14 new members who have joined the congregation in the past year at a special service of consecration Friday at 8 p. m.

The new members are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Bauer, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Brodell, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Edelman, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Feldman, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Horwin, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Schindler, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shrager.

Rabbi Max Selinger will conduct the service.

Meeting Planned By Clockers Club

The Clockers Club will meet Sunday at the club garage at 7:30 p. m. Members are asked to be present to discuss plans for a club dragster and an area safety campaign.

The club recently elected officers for 1961. They are Bob Smith, president; David Stull, vice president; Dale Vanderhout, secretary, and Lester Knight, treasurer.

Below-Zero Weather Is Due Today

Drifting Snow And High Winds Menace Travel

The mercury is expected to dip to 10 or 12 degrees below zero this morning in Garrett County, and additional snow flurries and continued cold and windy weather are forecast for today.

Highways of the area remain in a slippery and hazardous condition, according to police, who are recommending that motorists use care while driving.

Ralph Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said last night that by 9:30 the temperature was zero and he looked to temperatures as low as 12 below during the early morning hours.

Real winter weather continues in that county, where about four inches of fresh snow fell late Monday and early yesterday. There is about 15 inches of snow on the ground, Mr. Weber said.

High Winds Noted

Winds up to 30 miles or better blew during the day and the sun managed to break through during the afternoon. The high temperature during the day was 18 degrees and by 5 p. m. it slid to eight above zero.

Robert Golden, weather observer here, said the wind blew hard yesterday and got up to about 45 miles an hour at times. There was a trace of snow yesterday. And last night there was a skiff of snow which blew into Cumberland and covered the streets.

The high temperature here yesterday was 27 degres and the temperature had dropped to 12 degrees by 8 p. m.

Mr. Golden said he figured it would drop to zero sometime this morning.

Blizzard-like weather was reported in Frostburg last night, according to Walter Hayes, weather observer, who said there were flurries of snow off and on during the day and the temperature was about four above zero at 9:45 p. m.

Coldest In Four Years?

The coldest weather in four years is expected to hit West Virginia full force this morning, sending the mercury to a 5 to 15 degrees below zero.

A mass of fast-moving frigid air from the Arctic regions of Canada began moving into the state yesterday morning and sent temperatures steadily downward.

The Weather Bureau sums up the outlook for Maryland today in two words—very cold.

Over 300 Enjoy First Night Of Ice Skating Here

More than 300 persons turned up last night at Gephart Playground to enjoy the first night of skating offered this season by the City Recreation Department.

A blazing bonfire and recorded music provided cheer and timing for the skaters who ignored the blizzard to participate.

After the skating ended, Recreation Department workers scraped the skating area, which will be ready for use again tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Hot chocolate and coffee were served at cost by the Rec Department.

Garrett Schools Close Early

Because the mid-morning blowing of snow was causing much drifting on county roads, Garrett County public schools closed about 11 a. m. yesterday for the rest of the day.

Last night, Willard Hawkins, Garrett County school superintendent, said he was undecided about school today. However, at that time he was planning to have school today. Only one day in the week immediately before Christmas have Garrett County schools remained closed all day.

Message Set For Monday By Kennedy

President To Give His State Of Union Report At 12:30

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress at 12:30 p.m. Monday, the White House announced Tuesday.

The time and date for Kennedys' first appearance as President before a joint session of the Senate and House was fixed at a White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

The message, as outlined by presidential news secretary Pierre Salinger, will set forth Kennedy's assessment of world and domestic situations as he sees them after his first week in office.

It will be followed during the next couple of weeks by a series of messages presenting views and recommendations on the nation's economy, the budget, and specific legislative proposals.

Foreign Discussions Resumed

After his meeting with congressional Democrats, Kennedy resumed a round of foreign discussions that began Monday.

Tuesday's conference was devoted to disarmament problems and prospects for obtaining an agreement outlawing nuclear tests. It brought together the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, disarmament chief John J. McCloy, and other top advisers.

Kennedy Wednesday night will hold his first news conference as President. It will be carried live on major radio and television networks starting at 6 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The White House has announced that subsequent news conferences will be held alternately at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Weekly Meetings Planned

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told newsmen after the congressional leadership meeting with Kennedy that the session included a general discussion of problems facing the nation. Mainly, however, he said it was devoted to setting up arrangements for regular weekly meetings of party leaders and the President.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, predicting harmonious relations between Kennedy and Congress, has expressed belief Kennedy will include Republican leaders in briefings on vital international matters.

Fire Engulfs Oil Refinery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A series of explosions touched off a big fire at a refinery on the industry-crowded Houston ship channel Tuesday night.

First reports indicated at least three persons were injured at the Signal Oil & Refining Co. plant. A fire at the same plant a year ago injured seven.

The flames engulfed two huge storage tanks near the refinery's waterfront dock. Several other storage tanks were nearby.

Residents in the area reported hearing one loud blast and several smaller ones.

Macmillan Hopes To Meet Kennedy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday he hopes to meet President Kennedy in the near future, but that a date has still to be fixed. Macmillan spoke in the House of Commons in response to questions about a possible conference with Kennedy to discuss problems of the Western alliance and a summit meeting with the Soviet Union.

First ICBM Arrives In Kansas

The first Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile to be based in Kansas was unloaded from an Air Force C133 transport at Forbes AFB, Topeka, yesterday. Workmen slowly maneuvered the 75-foot long missile down the unloading ramp after its arrival from the San Diego factory. It will eventually be located on one of nine launch sites surrounding Topeka. Two other missile complexes for Atlases and Titans under construction at Wichita and Salina will bring to 39 the number of launching locations in Kansas—the greatest number of operational sites in a single state. Denounces Wire Tape Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster President James R. Hoffa on Tuesday shouted, "It's a lie," when confronted with a tape recording quoting him as telling a local union official that "I don't care if you want to steal. . (but) don't get caught."

The fiery boss of the 1.4-million member truckers union shouted the rebuttal as he appeared under subpoena for questioning by the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, headed by his old antagonist, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Hoffa accused McClellan, who read from the transcript of the recording, of presenting "unfit" wire tape evidence which could be altered to disguise voices and even change the meaning of the conversation.

"You'd be the first to scream if someone 'bugged' your office," the teamster president told the senator.

Challenged Authority

Earlier, Hoffa challenged the authority of the Senate investigators to question him about charges that he has failed to rid the Teamsters of corrupt influences.

The challenge was immediately rejected by McClellan. But Hoffa, in a 55-minute argument, won several other concessions on ground rules under which he would testify.

He got McClellan to agree that he could look at his testimony after he was finished and make changes under oath if he felt they were necessary for an accurate record. McClellan also acquiesced to Hoffa's demand that television and still cameramen be barred from taking pictures while the fiery Teamster boss was testifying.

Hoffa coupled his protest with a demand for a "bill of particulars," complaining that the congressional investigators had not given him advance information on the questions he would be asked.

Rejected Protest

However, McClellan, who had faced Hoffa many times in the past as head of the old Senate Rackets Committee, rejected his protest that the subcommittee did not have authority to investigate the union and several oher protests.

The senator also threw out Hoffa's claim that "adverse publicity" on his testimony might prevent him from receiving a fair trial in connection with a Florida land deal case.

The transcript used by McClellan came from a recording made by police who "bugged" the New York apartment of Racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo in 1959 during a secret conference with two Teamster officers.

Two union officers, both of New York Teamster local 239, allegedly were relaying orders from Hoffa to Corallo, a former vice president of the local. Police have described Corallo as one of the "most prominent underworld figures in the United States."

Corallo, who had been dodging subpoena servers since last May, was located earlier Tuesday and served with an order to appear before the committee later Tuesday or Wednesday.

Meat, Eggs Added To List Of Free Food

Government Will Provide Tastier Variety To Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a month or so, low-income persons who get free food from the federal government will have a tastier variety—including meat, eggs and other items.

That was announced Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in line with President Kennedy's order to double the food the government is providing for the nation's needy.

At present, food being distributed includes flour, corn meal, nonfat dry milk, rice, lard and butter. These are acquired under farm price support programs as surplus items.

Canned Pork, Dried Beans

Under Freeman's expanded plan, foods will be purchased and added to the distribution list. They will include canned pork and gravy, dried beans and dried whole egg solids.

There were reports that Kennedy is considering asking Congress to authorize quickly extra money for unemployed.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told of the President's concern about the jobless after talking with him Monday. He said Kennedy may have something to say about this at his news conference Wednesday.

Campaign Promise Recalled

While unemployment and the needy are not in all cases related, the two areas are closely linked. Kennedy's actions in these fields are steps to carry out his campaign promise that he would move quickly to relieve the distress in areas of chronic unemployment.

About 3.5 million needy persons in about one-third of the nation's counties now are receiving food from the federal government. Distribution is made through state and local welfare agencies.

The foods are distributed only in those states and counties which assume the responsibility and cost of determining who is eligible and making actual distributions.

Passengers Safe, Rebel Leader Says

Portugese Ship's Seizure Is Termed Start Of Revolution

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The $1.6-million hijacked passenger liner Santa Maria eluded three navies during a day of frantic search of the Caribbean Tuesday and an exiled Portuguese political leader said it was seized as a political blow against his country's dictatorship.

"We are not pirates, only politicians," said Gen. Humberto Delgado, a defeated and exiled presidential candidate, in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Despite appeals by Delgado not to interfere, U. S., British and Dutch ships and planes crisscrossed the Caribbean and adjacent Atlantic areas in search of the 20,906-ton liner.

The ship is carrying 950 crewmen and passengers—26 or more of them Americans.

Delgado said all passengers were safe but warned that the rebel band in control will resist if they are attacked.

He said the Santa Maria was commandeered Monday by Capt. Henrique Malta Galvao, an exiled Portuguese author and adventurer, who apparently boarded the vessel at Curacao, Dutch Antilles, one of its regular stops.

Promises To Land Passengers

Delgado, who ran for president in Portugal in 1958, said he received a message from Galvao promising to "disembark the passengers at the first neutral port that gives us that possibility without confiscation."

Asked what port this might be, Delgado laughed and answered: "That's something I cannot tell you under the circumstances."

A U. S. Navy spokesman said earlier the sea hunt for the Santa Maria was being carried out under the well-defined terms of international law governing piracy and insurrection aboard ship.

Delgado quoted Galvao's radio message as saying "the ship's crew accepted the occupation as a fait accompli (a fact accomplished), is maintaining discipline and, in major part, the passengers are enthusiastically with us."

Galvao earlier radioed an all's well message to the world's newspapers. He called the seizure—carried out by about 70 armed men who killed the ship's third officer—the first step in a movement to overthrow Portugal's dictator, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Brazilian officials said they intend to abide by international and Brazilian law in case the Santa Maria puts into a Brazilian port. Their statement did not appear to close the door completely to receiving the hijackers under political asylum.

May Proclaim New Regime

A source in Lisbon said if Galvao "manages to land anywhere on Portuguese soil with Delgado, he will proclaim the formation of a new Portuguese government and appeal to all democratic and Socialist nations to recognize its rights.

"He may even do it from aboard the Santa Maria," the source said, "and probably Soviet Russia would respond to the appeal."

Galvao, 66, a former army captain and fugitive from an 18-year treason sentence in Portugal, referred to the Santa Maria as "this liberated part of our national territory."

Shipping agents said the Santa Maria carried 588 passengers and 364 crewmen when she put out of La Guarira, Venezuela, last weekend. Among them were Americans, Dutch, Venezuelans, Spaniards and Portuguese.

Of the passengers at that time, 79 were in transit and 509 went aboard at La Guiara. In the latter group six were Americans—Prof. Fly Preston of Los Angeles, his wife and four sons.

Cold Wave May Not Ease Grip Until Friday

By The Associated Press

Piercing cold weather held the East and Midwest in an icy grasp Tuesday. It may not let go until Friday.

Temperatures hit 31 degrees below zero at Devils Lake, N.D., and 30 below at Old Town, Maine.

Zero to -15 readings were common in the northern Midwest and parts of New England.

Forecasters predicted an early return to subzero temperatures from the Upper Plains and the Mississippi Valley through New England and the Atlantic states.

At noon, Huron, S.D. had warmed up to a frigid -22 degrees while Anchorage, Alaska, recorded 38.

Midwinter's longest and most severe cold snap gripped New York and Maine in bitter weather for the sixth straight day.

No letup was in sight for the area from the Great Plains to the Atlantic seaboard. Cold wave warnings indicated the arctic air from Canada would move during Wednesday's early hours from the southern half of the plains into Virginia with temperatures dropping to near zero as far south as Kansas, Kentucky and West Virginia. Freezing temperatures were likely in the gulf region.

The leading edge of the arctic air mass Tuesday extended from New Jersey across northern Georgia into western Texas. Subzero temperatures also were recorded in Nebraska and northern Illinois. The sub teens prevailed from New England into Kansas, while the 50s and 60s were common from the Carolinas into the gulf region. Some 70s were noted in Florida.

A. C. Gilbert, Erector Set Inventor, Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Alfred Carlton Gilbert, 76, the toy manufacturer who invented the Erector set, died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

He was chairman of the board of A. C. Gilbert Co., New Haven, which he had founded and served as president, an office now held by his son, A. C. Gilbert Jr.

Gilbert, who died in the New England Baptist Hospital at Boston, was a graduate of Yale College and Medical School, and an Olympic pole vault champion of half a century ago.

Castro, Cuban Rebels Pledge Reprisal Deaths

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba faced Tuesday a dark future of assassinations and reprisal executions.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared that 20 prisoners held on charges of hanging a volunteer school teacher would be subjected to "persecution such as they could never imagine."

Castro disclosed that insurgents operating in Las Villas Province as members of the "army of liberation" had seized an 18-year-old teacher along with two members of Castro's workers' militia and hanged all three.

The rebels have sworn to avenge each death before Castro's execution wall.

Castro's announcement came in a televised speech before volunteer teachers receiving their diplomas. He said the hangings took place early this month. He asserted the Roman Catholic clergy and "agents of imperialism" had given "ideological arms" to the rebels.

He read from a document he said was found in the camp of a rebel force operating in south central Cuba. In it the slain teacher was accused of teaching the Communist line to Cuban farmers. The teachers, many of them from the militia, work among the farmers as part of the government's literacy program.

As he announced the teacher's death, the young Cubans receiving their diplomas turned the ceremonies into an uproar by shouting "to the execution wall."

As for the 20 prisoners in Las Villas, Castro shouted: "Nothing will save them, not even the mercenaries they are expecting or their imperialist bosses. Over all of them will befall persecution such as they could never imagine."

Elizabeth Sees Philip Kill Tiger

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II Tuesday perched in a tower 25 feet above the jungle floor and watched Prince Philip kill an eight foot nine inch tiger with a single shot.

An official spokesman here said that the queen was only about 30 yards from the tower in which her husband waited for the tiger.

The spokesman said Philip caught the beast in the head with his one shot and that there was no need for a second bullet.

Immediately after the kill the royal couple returned to the hunting lodge of the Maharajah of Jaipur at Sawai Madhopur, a town at the edge of the jungle 200 miles south of here.

64 Laos Rebels Reported Slain

LUANG PRABANG, Laos, Wednesday (UPI)—Sixty-four pro-Communist guerrillas were reported today to have been killed in a battle with government troops 50 miles southwest of this Laotian royal capital. It was feared Luang Prabang may be facing a major rebel encircling move.

Government army sources did not immediately confirm the relatively high Pathet Lao rebel casualties reported by reliable sources in Sayaboury Province.

Sources in Vientiane said the Army was rushing reinforcements to intercept large forces of pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops seen moving eastward through Sayaboury Province toward Luang Prabang.

The clash with guerrilla forces was reported to have occurred at Muong Sang Sa, a small town eight miles south of the Mekong River and upstream from Luang Prabang at a spot where the river flows from west to east.

House Rules Group Clears Rayburn Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership-backed plan to inject more Kennedy program backers into the House Rules Committee moved Tuesday a step closer to the crucial test and possible death.

The decisive vote comes Thursday, when the House, after an hour of floor debate, takes up the plan.

It cleared the Rules Committee by a 6-2 vote, with all the balloting done by Democrats. The lone Republican present, Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, didn't vote. His only GOP colleague, Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, was absent. There are two Republican vacancies.

The two dissenting votes came from Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, who often in the past have sided with the four Republicans to block liberal bills from clearing the committee.

The plan backed by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas would break the deadlock by adding two more Democrats-presumably liberals—and one more Republican. If all 15 vote the way Rayburn has them pegged, the coalition then would be on the short end of an 8-7 count, and President Kennedy's legislative program would have smoother sailing.

Rayburn proposed the membership increase with the idea of assuring that legislation approved by standing committees would get a chance to be considered by the full House membership without being sidetracked in the Rules Committee.

Republicans and Southern Democrats opposing the proposal call it "packing" and have read into it a plot by liberals to block amendments to major bills. The Rules Committee normally calls the shots on how bills shall be handled on the House floor. It may approve "closed rules" barring amendments, or "open rules" permitting all sorts of alterations.

Lumumbist Troops Invade Province

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Forces loyal to Patrice Lumumba were reported Tuesday to have launched a strong thrust into northern Congo territory controlled by President Joseph Kasavubu.

Congolese official sources said heavy formations of Lumumbist troops from Oriental Province marched across the borders of Equator Province Monday near the town of Bumba.

There was no immediate confirmation by U.N. authorities. Congolese sources were unable to say if fighting erupted or how many men were involved.

Bus Plunge Kills 14

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Fourteen persons were killed Monday when a bus plunged down an embankment 50 miles north of Bangkok. Twenty other passengers were seriously injured.

Kasavubu Charges UAR Interference

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu of the Congo charged the United Arab Republic Tuesday with flagrant interference in his country's internal affairs and asked the U.N. Security Council to meet and take "appropriate measures."

Kasavubu and his foreign affairs commissioner, Justin Bomboko, cabled a request to the council president for January. He happens to be U.A.R. delegate Omar Loutfi.

In his cable, Kasavubu did not spell out what he called U.A.R. interference in violation of Congolese national sovereignty.

But Kasavubu's side has accused the U.A.R. of sending arms into Oriental Province for the use of pro-Lumumba forces there.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mary Louise Morfit, 80, mother of television comedian Garry Moore, died Tuesday after a long illness. Moore's real name is Thomas Garrison Morfit.

Caplin To Get Revenue Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer Caplin, 44, a University of Virginia law professor, was chosen by President Kennedy Tuesday to be internal revenue commissioner.

The White House announced that Kennedy will formally nominate Caplin, a Democrat, shortly.

Caplin, whose home is at Charlottesville, Va., teaches corporate and tax law in the university Law School.

A native of New York, Caplin was educated in public schools there. He received a bachelor of science degree in economics and political science at the University of Virginia in 1937. He won a law degree at the same university three years later.

Caplin worked as a law clerk to a federal judge before joining the law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison in New York City, after graduation from law school. During World War II he served as a lieutenant junior grade in the Navy and was decorated for bravery during the Normandy invasion.

After the war he returned to the New York law firm and continued private practice until 1950 when he joined the University of Virginia Law School faculty.

Mother Who Doped Two Tots Given Year In Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman Tuesday called Lillian Fratantonio, 29, a "cruel mother" in giving her the maximum penalty of a year in jail for drugging her famed "sleeping beauty" daughters into mysterious comas.

"You not only were a cruel mother but an unworthy wife to your husband," Woldman told the petite brunette mother of five children. "You probably are the type of woman who never should have had children."

The judge released her on $2,500 bond while her attorneys appeal but he made it plain he has no intention of suspending the jail sentence and $500 fine.

The judge said he found no evidence that she was mentally unbalanced.

He told her she realized the suffering the children underwent in the medical tests, such as spinal taps, and accused her of enjoying the limelight.

"It was too good a show for you to pass up," Woldman said. He said she was an "unkind mother" who received a vicarious thrill in the limelight of publicity at the expense of her children.

Mrs. Fratantonio was convicted Dec. 6 of the criminal neglect of her two daughters, Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 6, whom she kept under sedation with barbituates.

Their case drew nationwide attention when some of the top medical men in the country were unable to solve the mystery of their long comas.

Rebels On Ship To Fight If Attacked, Leader Says

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Gen. Humberto Delgado, exiled Portuguese political leader, said Tuesday the rebels who seized control of the Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria will resist if they are attacked.

Gen. Delgado, unsuccessful candidate for president of Portugal in 1958 elections, said he had received a radio message from former army Capt. Henrique Galvao, the leader of the armed band that took over the ship, saying they will never surrender.

Delgado quoted Galvao as saying: "We will disembark the passengers at the first neutral port that gives us that possibility without confiscation."

Asked if an interview what neutral port Galvao might be headed for, Delgado laughed and said, "That's something I cannot tell you under the circumstances."

He refused to say what might be the rebels' potential for warding off an attack.

The message indicated Galvao acted under Delgado's authority as the head of a national independent liberation junta.

Delgado sent identical telegrams to American Ambassador John Moors Cabot and British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Wallinger requesting they tell their governments "the Santa Maria case does not represent mutiny or piracy but is an appropriation of a Portuguese transport by Portuguese men for Portuguese political purposes.

"I ask insistently that your government does not interfere in any case," Delgado added.

Malfunction Halts Advanced Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—(UPI)—The Air Force Tuesday launched its second Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile in as many days, but the advanced model rocket developed troubles and fell far short of its goal.

The 85-foot Atlas "E", capable of hurling a nuclear warhead nearly halfway around the world, was triggered from the cape at 4:55 p.m. EST on a planned flight of 5,000 miles over the Atlantic ocean.

The bulky missile seemed on its way to success when, according to the Air Force, "a malfunction occurred after booster separation." This meant the Atlas' engines apparently cut off too soon.

Chief Of Ship Hijackers Has Led Stormy Life

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Henrique Malta Galvao, master pro tem of the cruise liner Santa Maria, is a hawk-faced revolutionary convicted three times of trying to overthrow Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Now he is trying again—at sea.

Premier Salazar has denounced Galvao's seizure of the liner as a preposterous crime and called for an international hunt for recovery of the ship.

Galvao is 66, a novelist, playwright, soldier, politician and big game hunter who has set his sights again on Salazar after two years in exile in South America as a fugitive from an 18-year prison sentence.

He is tall and lean, with burning eyes. He is an indefatigable writer on politics, big game hunting, plays and romance. He has always had a wide circle of friends.

Galvao is a former captain in the Portuguese army and a one-time supporter of Salazar but swung long ago into opposition to the Portuguese dictatorship.

The turning point apparently came while Galvao was serving as government inspector in Angola, a Portuguese West African colony that is a neighbor of the Congo. The government pigeonholed his reports and never made public his findings.

In December 1952, Galvao was tried with a group of other army officers and civilians on a charge of plotting against the state. He was convicted. The conviction was quashed the following year, but he was thrown out of the army.

In 1958 he was tried—once publicly and later in secret—for a variety of charges which included inciting people to revolt.

That was a presidential campaign year and Galvao's candidate was Gen. Humberto Delgado, director general of civil aviation, who ran as an independent with the backing of liberal Republicans.

Delgado and a leftist opposition candidate, Dr. Arlindo Vicente, poet and painter, were swamped in a landslide by Salazar's man, Rear Adm. Americo Thomaz. Thomaz remains Portugal's president. Delgado charged the election was a fake. He took refuge in Portuguese-speaking Brazil.

At Galvao's public trial he was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. Later, a prison inspection showed he was printing and distributing pamphlets both inside the prison and outside, with the complicity of sympathizers, and calling on the people to revolt.

After a secret trial in May 1958, he was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Bomber Toting Atomic Devices Crashes; 3 Die

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — A 200 - ton swept-wing Air Force B52G bomber carrying two unarmed nuclear devices broke up in flight Tuesday and three of the eight crewmen aboard were killed in the flaming crash.

One of the atomic weapons was jettisoned by parachute and floated to earth intact. The other was found inside the flame-enveloped wreckage that was strewn for a mile and a half over North Carolina farmland and along a rural road 15 miles north of Goldsboro.

The five crewmen who escaped parachuted from the eight - jet global bomber. They suffered only minor injuries.

Asbestos suit-clad Air Force fire fighters waded into the burning wreckage and found the bodies of two crewmen. Maj. Eugene Richards, 42, of Toccoa, Ga., and T-Sgt. Francis R. Barnish, 35, of Greenfield, Mass., in the nose section.

The body of Maj. Eugene Shelton, 41, radar navigator, of San Antonio, Tex., was found hanging by parachute shroud lines in a tree about five hours after the crash. Officers said Shelton may have been blown from the disintegrating plane.

Officials stressed that neither of the two nuclear devices aboard the plane had been assembled and that there was no danger of an atomic explosion or harmful radiation.

Passengers Safe

the pirate once plied his trade under the skull and crossbones, Galvao radioed that he will put the passengers ashore safely in the first port that assures him against internment of the ship.

Eight of the crew were put off in a lifeboat at Castries in the Windward Islands.

Apparently in an effort to establish a basis of legality for the seizure, he declared it was "a political action foreseen in the international maritime laws." The crew accepted that fact, he said, and the reaction of most of the passengers was enthusiastic.

Galvao said the ship was seized "in the name of the international junta of liberals presided over by Gen. Humberto Delgado, president-elect of the Portuguese Republic fraudulently deprived of his rights by the Salazar government."

Delgado as a youth took part in the 1926 revolution that brought Salazar to power. He is now an exile in Brazil. He was candidate for president of Portugal in 1958. Defeated by a landslide for Salazar's man, Rear Adm. Americo Tomas, Delgado said he was robbed.

With oil for a 5,000-mile voyage and food for 20 days, Galvao was set to go far if he could throw off the frigates, destroyers and planes seeking him.

One factor in the hunt was a reported threat of Galvao's band to scuttle the liner if there is interference.

British Admiralty orders to the frigates Rothesay and Ulster were to try to arrest the liner if this could be done peacefully outside territorial waters "without loss of life or the risk of scuttling."

Bolder orders were carried by the U. S. destroyers Wilson and Damato. They were instructed to "visit and search" the Santa Maria upon locating her and, if they found evidence of piracy, to escort her to the nearest United States port. A Navy spokesman said that could be either Miami, Fla., or San Juan.

Administration Seen Entering Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression is out-from the Kennedy administration's quick and auspiciously successful role in settling the New York tugboat strike—that the federal government intends to take a hand in settling big labor disputes.

The impression probably will turn out to be correct, but the actual size of the government role remains to be seen.

Arthur J. Goldberg, the labor union-oriented new secretary of labor in President Kennedy's Cabinet, says anything "we can do to help compose a dispute, to prevent it, to shorten it, we are available for that purpose."

But he told newsmen upon his return from New york—where he played a key role in settling the crippling tugboat strike that had stalled East Coast rail traffic—"this does not mean, I hasten to add, that every little dispute in the country will require this type of participation. Obviously that would be impossible."

Goldberg, former special counsel to the AFL-CIO and to several of its key unions, objected to describing the part he played in breaking the negotiation deadlock in New York as governmental "intervention."

He said he would rather call it "an expression or indication of the concern and interest of the government in a dispute which strikes at the very vitals of the federal system."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had a policy of avoiding such extra-curricular federal action in labor disputes.

However, there seldom was a major dispute that Eisenhower's labor secretary, James P. Mitchell, wasn't trying to help settle from behind the scenes if not on the firing line as was Goldberg in the New York negotiations.

Pilots Alternate

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The air force and the navy have solved their dispute over who will fly the planes on Brazil's new aircraft carrier Minas Gerais, bought from Britain and now on its way from refitting in the Netherlands. The solution: air force pilots will have the job for a year, then navy pilots.

Tawes Would Create 869 New Jobs, Eliminate 66

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The commissioner of personnel, who reviews the bids of Maryland state employes for salary raises, would get one himself under Gov.Tawes' new budget.

Among salary proposals made by the governor to the legislature Tuesday was a raise to $15,000 a year from the present $12,700 paid the commissioner.

The job is now held by Russell S. Davis. His six-year term expires shortly before the budget will go into effect July 1, and Davis is expected to be reappointed by the governor.

The governor's salary proposals are contained in the personnel detail book, a 144-page budget supplement which is closely read by most legislators.

In the booklet are found the salary allowances of all state employes and officials.

Topping all salaries are roads commission chairman John B. Funk and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, University of Maryland president, at $25,000 each.

Legislation is now being considered to raise Court of Appeals associate judges from $21,000 to $25,000 each and chief judge from $22,000 to $25,500.

Tawes' budget calls for the creation of 869 new jobs and the elimination of 66 existing ones, making a net increase of 803 at a cost of $2,967,271.

Of the new positions, 280 are listed for the staffing of new or expanded facilities, including 77 at the new diagnostic center of the Patuxent Institution. That's where persons inclined toward repeated serious crimes because of emotional or mental deficiency are examined, treated and confined.

Another 56 new jobs would be set up to staff the 200-bed geriatric building and 41 for the Male Active Treatment Building of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

New units of the University of Maryland would be staffed by 86 new employes and new units of the state teachers colleges by 10.

Airliner Carrying 48 Makes Belly Landing

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A Capital Airlines Viscount carrying 44 passengers and a crew of four made a near-perfect belly landing on a snow and ice covered runway at Greater Pittsburgh Airport Tuesday after both main landing gear collapsed. There were no injuries.

The sleek, four engine turboprop airliner skidded approximately 2,500 feet on its underside after the landing gear crumbled.

Tawes Urges Improved Care Of Mentally Ill

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday proposed a new approach to treatment of the mentally ill and improved standards of nursing home care in his budget message to the General Assembly.

Tawes said he is providing funds, to be used on a matching basis with Baltimore City and the counties, to set up day-care centers for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

This is in line with a naitonal trend toward keeping patients as close to the community as possible instead of shutting them off in wards of state institutions.

The governor requested $1,519,586 in increased funds to get the program started.

He said as a result of improved care of the mentally ill, the state's hospitals showed a patient decline for the fifth straight year — from 10,830 for last fiscal year to 10,746 for the first five months of the current year.

With the planned operation of the day hospitals and care centers, the hospital population should drop even further, he said.

The program was drafted last year by State Planning Committee as a first step toward merging programs of the health and mental hygiene departments.

Looted Bank To Start Paying Depositors

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — The Sheldon National Bank, where president's daughter Mrs. Burnice Geiger stole $2 million, will start paying off to depositors Thursday, it was announced Tuesday night.

But no depositor will be able to take away more than $10,000.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), whose agents are now in charge of the looted bank, said the institution would open its doors to the public for the first time since Jan. 17 at 9 a.m.

Sheldon residents whose savings have been frozen for a week will be able to get at their money again.

Whichever size you go for, you'll go better in a Dodge

Some people like full-size cars. Others prefer compacts. Either way, it's OK by us. We make both. Our standard-size car is the Dodge Dart. It is priced model for model with Ford and Chevrolet. However, Dart has features its major competitors can't match: A unitized, rust-proofed body. Torsion-bar front suspension. And a new device called an alternator-generator that charges at idle, makes a battery last far longer than usual. There are 23 Dart models with Economy Slant Six or one of five V8 engines. Try the full-size Dodge Dart at your dependable Dodge Dealer.

Jobless Pay Revision Plan Praised, Assailed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Management Tuesday praised as a step forward and labor described as regressive the same proposed changes in Maryland's jobless pay program.

Sen. Fred C. Malkus and W. F. Strong of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO clashed at the outset of a hearing.

Strong, in leading off for labor, declared that eight changes recommended by a Legislative Council committee were the recommendations of the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Malkus, chairman of the committee and conducting the hearing before a full house of several hundred, took exception to Strong's remark.

Toward the end of the hearing, Malkus told Strong: "I don't think you are representing your union people too well."

Malkus was referring to Strong's opposition to disqualifying workers who voluntarily quit, are fired for misconduct or refuse to take other suitable work from any jobless benefits.

A parade of management witnesses earlier had applauded such action as necessary plugging of what they called loopholes which have been abused.

"Union people are not the ones taking advantage of them," Malkus told Strong. "As long as you continue fighting for the others, you're going to have less to give to the bona fide people out of work."

"I am advocating humanity," replied Strong. "I don't uphold wrong doers. As for the so-called chiseler, there has been no documentary proof of any appreciable amount.

"Why legislate against a few sinners and affect all Christians?"

Malkus described as the key recommendation the proposed discontinuance of benefits to workers who quit or are involved in cases of misconduct firings and refusals to take comparable work.

Such workers now may have their benefits deferred for from one to nine weeks, but then can collect them in full. These claims accounted for $11½ million of Maryland's jobless benefits a year ago.

The tax on employers for the unemployment fund amounted to $45 million last year, reported William S. Wilson of the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

"It is the largest single tax take in Maryland," he advised the two judiciary committees of the legislature. He added:

"Only the honest employe in need of benefits is what business and the public wants and what labor should want."

The council committee has recommended that the maximum weekly benefit be increased from $35 to $38 a week.

Labor will counter with several proposals at a continuation of the hearing Wednesday.

It wants the maximum weekly benefit to equal two-thirds of the wages earned by the worker before losing his job. It also is proposing that employers be taxed at a rate of 2.7 per cent on the first $4,800 of an individual's wages.

Employers now are given an experience rating on the basis of the stability of their work force and are taxed accordingly from 1.2 to 4.2 per cent on the first $3,000.

CHICAGO (AP) — An aviation company executive said Tuesday nearly one-third of the nation's total manufacturing work force now is engaged in industries working for peacetime defense.

George M. Bunker, board chairman of the Martin Co., Baltimore, added that defense contractors now are turning out an annual volume of nearly $13 billion.

Trial Of Rees Begins Today In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr., charged in the kidnap-murder of two members of a Virginia family, begins Wednesday in U.S. District Court here.

Rees is charged in the death of Mrs. Carroll V. Jackson and her daughter, Susan Ann, 5, of Apple Grove, Va.

The indictment accuses the Hyattsville, Md., musician of taking Mrs. Jackson across the state line "for the purpose of beating her . . . having sexual gratification upon her body . . . and killing her."

Rees was arrested in West Memphis, Ark., 15 months after the bodies of the mother and daughter were found in a shallow grave at the end of a lover's lane near Gambrills, Md. on March 22, 1959.

He is charged by Virginia authorities in the slaying of the husband, Carroll V. Jackson Jr., and another daughter, Janet, 18 months.

Rees also is accused in the murder of Mrs. Margaret V. Harold near Gambrills June 26, 1957.

Rees, who has been held in Baltimore since his arrest, has pleaded innocent to all charges.

The choosing of a jury is expected to take up most of Wednesday's action.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—The monster of Baltimore's north side may have been a shaggy dog, says the only man who saw the beast.

A service station attendant set off the Sunday search for the animal with black hair, big eyes, long teeth and the overall appearance of a six-foot-tall kangaroo.

A laboratory test of two pools of blood left when the attendant smacked the beast with a length of pipe turned out to be traces of transmission oil. "It might have been a dog," said the 39-year-old gas station employe, Paul Quinn.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harrison L. Winter, Baltimore City solicitor, ruled Tuesday the City Council has authority under its police powers to adopt a minimum wage and hour ordinance.

The ruling came in connection with a bill to set a minimum $1 an hour wage, with time and a half pay for work beyond 40 hours. The bill before the council would exempt executives, professional employes and outside salesmen, but would cover wages paid maids and other domestic workers.

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Thirty-eight patients were evacuated without injury from a men's convalescent cottage at the Spring Grove State Hospital Tuesday when a fire broke out on the second floor of the building.

More than 100 firemen who answered the three - alarm blaze brought the flames under control within 25 minutes. The damage, expected to run into the thousands of dollars, was confined to the roof and ceiling above one room.

Bill Would Ban Capital Punishment

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill to abolish the death penalty was introduced in the Maryland Legislature Tuesday by Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot.

The measure includes explanatory material, noting that the State Declaration of Rights and its Constitution "have declared that sanguinary laws ought to be avoided as far as it is consistent with the safety of the state."

The death penalty, says the bill, is "sanguinary," or harsh and its abolition would be "consistent with the safety of the state and . . .in the interest of sound morality."

The measure would provide for life sentences in capital punishment criminal cases.

Earlier, a similar bill was introduced in the House by Del. Richard T. Rombro, D-4th Balto.

$20 Million In Bonds Sold By Maryland

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland sold $20,030,000 worth of bonds Tuesday at a net interest rate of 2.718 per cent, the lowest in more than four years.

Submitted by Bankers Trust Co. of New York, the 2.718 per cent rate compares with 2.98 per cent for which state bonds were sold last June and the 3.30 per cent rate of a sale six months earlier. The 3.30 rate was the highest in at least 20 years.

Snow Ball Raises $2,800 For Memorial Hospital

The spirit of Old Vienna and the days of the Hapsburgs reigned again last Saturday night at the Cumberland Country Club when the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary raised approximately $2,800 at its Charity Snow Ball.

Blue and white Celanese fabric was draped in artistic lines from the ceilings and along the sidewalls of the ballroom and supper rooms. Crystal chandeliers hung in these rooms and crystal prisms were attached to the draperies. In the middle of the ballroom was suspended a huge snow ball dotted with tiny mirrors which revolved slowly, picking up the rays from the various colored spotlights centered on it. White columns lined the ballroom walls and on top of each column and in the corners of the room were arrangements of white branches and pine boughs. Two Italian garden figures depicting summer and winter stood on pedestals in a setting of white and pine branches. The candlelighted supper rooms featured table arrangements of white mums and gold - specked pine in crystal bowls which were flanked on each side by tall crystal candlesticks. A large vase of white gladiolus and mums highlighted a winter scene in the lobby and guests arriving were greeted by the music of recorded Strauss waltzs.

The attractive dance program featured on the front a sketch of a ballroom scene of bygone days dominated by a huge crystal chandelier, and on the back, an outdoor scene showing Memorial Hospital on its hill and below a group of merrymakers in a sleigh.

Mrs. John A. Moberly, general chairman for the dance, announced that approximately $2,800 had been raised at the Snow Ball and that the supply of tickets had been exhausted a week before the event. Mrs. Moberly was assisted by Mrs. Frank Butt, who handled the table reservations. Also on the general committee were Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth, decorations chairman, assisted by Mrs. William H. Ryan, Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Simon Rosebaum II. Mrs. John R. Wilkinson was publicity chairman. Also assisting the committee were Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, Mrs. Charles F. Helmrich, Mrs. Irving Millenson, Mrs. Frederic W. Eiler, Mrs. George M. Young and Mrs. William H. Geppert.

A grand march, led by Dr. and Mrs. Ryan, and including other board members and dance chairmen with their husbands, formally opened the ball. Music for the evening was played by the Dick Lewis Orchestra of Morgantown, W. Va.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to purchase furniture for the nurses' home and to assist in the redecorating of the maternity wing of the hospital.

Allegany County Homemakers Clubs Plan Two Meetings

Two meetings have been scheduled for Allegany Homemakers Clubs, according to Miss Mary P. Wise, home demonstration agent.

A clothing meeting will be held January 30 at 1:15 p. m. in the Extension Office at the Court House. It is for club and county clothing chairmen and discussion will be on the topic, "Wardrobe Dollars and Sense." This meeting was originally planned for January 26, but the date was changed because of a conflict with another meeting.

An executive board meeting of county officers and chairmen and club presidents will be held February 1 at 10:15 a. m. in the Extension office. The most important item of business will be a discussion on making plans for the National Home Demonstration Week to be celebrated May 1-6. County chairmen will make their reports and discuss ideas or programs they might wish to promote.

Society Discusses Observance

The Women's Society of World Service of First EUB Church discussed tentative plans for drafting local society by-laws and the observance of "World Service Day," which will be February 5, when the women will have special parts in the morning service.

All chairmen made reports during the business session which was conducted by Mrs. William Knotts. The women of the church were urged to participate in the 75th annual World Day of Prayer observance, February 17, and were invited to attend any of the several services which are to be held at various hours in Cumberland that day.

Members also were asked to support the young people in a special observance of Youth Week, which will be January 29 through February 5.

"Into all the world together" was the theme of the program, held in the fellowship hall, with Mrs. Nelson Estep as leader. The problems and tensions in a changing world were discussed by Mrs. William Brake, Mrs. Frank Wilson Jr., Mrs. Denver Corley, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Milton Johnson, and Mrs. Bernice Wolford. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Mamie Aronholt. Mrs. Whiting Linaberg led in prayer and the group sang, "The Church's One Foundation."

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by the program committee.

Hospital Party Postponed

The hospital party planned for Newton D. Baker VA Center in Martinsburg on Sunday by the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of World War I Barracks 1125 has been postponed on account of weather conditions.

East Side PTA will hold a ham supper Thursday from 5 until 7 p. m. at the school. Candy will also be sold.

The executive board of the LaVale Century Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the LaVale Library.

Panel To Feature Jr. Woman's Civic Club Meeting Tonight

A panel discussion will feature the meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club tonight at the Woman's Civic Club House. The topic will be "Changes in Trends in Medicine," with Dr. Carlton Brinsfield as moderator. This program is being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society, as part of its program of public medical education.

Serving on the panel with Dr. Brinsfield will be Dr. William James, Dr. Leland Ransom, Mrs. Glady Brooks and E. R. Kellough.

A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion with the audience invited to submit questions to the panelists.

Thompson Class Has Meeting

The Thompson Bible Class of Flintstone Methodist Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Mabel Bible. Mrs. B. C. Robinette was in charge of devotions on the theme, "The New Year."

The meeting opened with the group singing "He's My Best Friend," followed by prayer by Mrs. Charles Shriver. Mrs. E. S. Robinette read the Scripture and each member gave a reading.

Mrs. Pearl Shriver presided at the business meeting. Routine reports were given and Mrs. Catherine Moore reported on cards sent. Mrs. Charles Shriver and Mrs. Emory Shriver were appointed a committee to visit ill and shut-in members. Mrs. Pearl Wilson, Mrs. Nina Bender and Mrs. Edna Shriver were named to a committee to redecorate the church kitchen.

The next meeting will be February 15 at the home of Mrs. Moore. Refreshments were served by the hostess. She also showed slides of her recent trips to California, Florida and New York City.

Others attending were Mrs. Grace Clingerman, Mrs. R. T. Gilson, Mrs. Eloise Bible, Miss Vickie Bible and Mrs. Helen Dennison.

Alpha Alpha Chapter, BSP Plans Social Activities

Alpha Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met recently at the home of Mrs. Virginia Topper, 1504 Bedford Street. Following the opening ritual, social activities were discussed.

A bowling party for members, husbands and friends is planned for February 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the Bowler.

On February 3, the chapter will hold a Mardi Gras party at the home of Mrs. Betty Barnes, Frederick Street. Members will attend in costume.

The group decided to donate bed side-rails to the Cancer Society.

Mrs. Imogene Hixon conducted the cultural program on "Oratory."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beverly Bauers, 626 Shriver Avenue, February 7.

Those attending were Mrs. Hixon, Mrs. Genevieve Poorbaugh, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Jane O'Rourke, Mrs. Lee Shelby, Mrs. Eleanor DeVore, Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Mrs. Catherine Simpson, Miss Betty Stegmaier, Mrs. Martha Russell and Mrs. Jeanne Fraidska.

To Appear On Dimes March Telethon

The Steckman Dancers, along with the Continentals, a dance band composed of George Kirby, Bill Lawyer, Eddie Harrison, Ronnie Burkey, Bob Dolan, Bill Hartung, Pat Shannon and Dave Windish, will appear on the March of Dimes telethon in Harrisonburg, Va., January 29.

Also appearing on the show will be William Seiler, who will play several polkas on the accordion.

CWV Auxiliary Discusses Tentative Welfare Plans

Victor Tambolleo Auxiliary, Catholic War Veterans had a review of its rituals and discussed projects at its first meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. Marie Challinor Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus home.

Other officers of the auxiliary, which was instituted last month, are Rev. DePaul Ripko, O.F.M. Cap., chaplain; Mrs. Mae Norris, first vice president; Mrs. Patricia Zollner, second vice president; Mrs. Louise May Laing, third vice president; Mrs. Shirley Norris, secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Kimberlin, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Grabenstein, welfare officer; Mrs. Marie K. Spiker, historian; Mrs. Julia Bertone, ritual officer; Miss Ann Grabenstein, Mrs. Theresa Carpenti and Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, trustees.

Pointing out that the auxiliary is organized to do welfare work, Mrs. Challinor suggested the group give help wherever it is needed, consider taking up first aid or home nursing, provide toys for the hospital nursery and give assistance to needy children.

The auxiliary was asked to consider nominating a "Catholic Woman of the Year." She will be named by the state organization at a Mardi Gras supper, April 17 in Baltimore. Local members are invited to attend. The nominee should be a resident of the state for at least one year, active in civic, educational, hospital, political, recreation, religion and social work. She is to be chosen regardless of race or color, but may not be a member of the organization or have ever received a Catholic War Veteran organization award.

Two new members were installed. They are Mrs. Ivy Carder and Mrs. Clara Mantheiy. Various committee reports were given and state meetings were discussed.

Tentative plans were formulated to discuss phases of auxiliary programs at each meeting and after Lent to begin socials. The third Sunday of each month the auxiliary will observe communion Sunday with the veterans.

Concluding the meeting the auxiliary attended the veterans' shrimp feed.

Mrs. Paul E. Crowe, 527 Maryland Street, LaVale, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Farm Bureau Dinner To Be In April

Two officers were installed and plans were discussed for the annual spring dinner at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Associated Women of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, which was held yesterday at Lazarus' fountain room.

Mrs. Roy Shryock Sr. presided and installed Mrs. Joseph Pollock as secretary and Mrs. Theodore Stegmaier as director.

It was decided to have the dinner sometime in April. Mrs. Stegmaier was named ticket chairman. Other chairmen are to be named at a special meeting March 14, which also will be held at the fountain room. At that time the program will be outlined.

Reports on the state meeting held in Baltimore were given by Mrs. Edgar Matthews and Mrs. Stegmaier. They included a talk on medical research, clothing and garden vegetables. The financial statement was read by Mrs. Philip Brode. Mrs. Pollock gave a routine report.

Other members present were Mrs. Vernon Loar and Mrs. Howard Appel. Two visitors also attended.

DON'T GAMBLE WITH A COLD

The best thing to do for a cold is to take care of it. Prompt treatment with approved home remedies often lessens the miseries and shortens the duration of a cold. If a cold "hangs on" or is accompanied by fever, call your doctor.

One thing never to do about a cold is to gamble it will cure itself. This could be a losing proposition.

Health Examination Issue Explained To Board

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and James S. Getty, state's attorney, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to outline their position pertaining to an examination requested by the state's attorney's office.

Mr. Getty released a statement Monday concerning the refusal of the County Health Department to examine a girl involved in a morals case.

Dr. van Strien said that in view of the situation that Getty had a "right to be upset" but that he was acting on a policy which had been agreed upon in 1958 with former State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher when a similar incident occurred.

The health officer said he is awaiting further word from Dr Perry Prather, director of the State Department of Health, on such examinations. Dr. van Strien said he felt there should not have been any publicity in the matter prior to Dr. Prather receiving the letter and acting on the problem.

John J. Rowan, president of the county board, said he felt the public should be advised of all such matters.

After Dr. van Strien stated that the State Department of Health has a policy of not entering into medical-legal questions, Getty commented that if that is the state agency's policy he does not agree with it.

In his experience he has never found a report from a physician being rejected by the courts, Getty said. Dr. van Strien said that a gynecologist should perform such examinations but Getty said the only question which his office wanted to ascertain was "has the child in question been sexually molested."

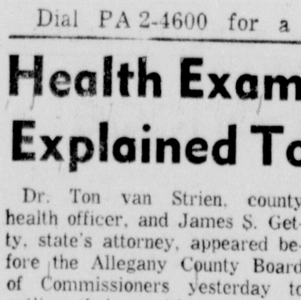

Any general practitioner of medicine can make such examinations, Getty said, as the courts do not require expert reports. The health officer said that his department did not refuse to have the examination made just to be arbitrary, but was following what was believed to be a policy. The Health Department does not practice medicine, Dr. van Strien also said.

Commissioner Rowan said the incident should not be repeated and he wanted Dr. van Strien to cooperate with Getty's office in the future pending receipt of word from Dr. Prather.

Commissioner William A. Wilson told Dr. van Strien that in past years the late Dr. Winter R. Frantz made such examinations for the state's attorney's office while he was health officer.

Wilson asked Dr. van Strien "where would you stand if the board asked you to make such examinations and Dr. Prather ruled otherwise." Dr. van Strien said that in ethical questions he would have to abide by Dr. Prather's policies.

2nd National Stockholders Hold Meeting

With 20,716 number of shares out of a total capitalization outstanding of 24,000 shares represented either in person or by proxy, the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Second National Bank was held yesterday at the bank. Directors were re-elected and a report on the 1960 operations was presented. A thorough discussion of the significance of the data followed.

Members of the board re-elected are: Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, G. William Bibby, W. Earle Cobey, J. Russell Cook, William A. Douglas, Walter E. Dyck, Charles Z. Heskett, Owen E. Hitchins, Henry W. Miller Jr., John H. Mosner, Joseph M. Naughton, Lewis J. Ort, George A. Schwarzenbach, Fulcher P. Smith and James L. Weber.

The meeting of directors will be held tomorrow when officers will be appointed and the various governing committees of the board will be elected.

In a report to the stockholders, President J. M. Naughton noted substantial growth in all departments. Net earnings available for dividends were $116,684 or $4.86 per share of capital stock in contrast with $108,090 or $4.50 per share for 1959. Dividends of $2 per share were continued at the regular rate. At the close of the year, the book value of the bank's capital stock was $77.46 per share. Both deposits and loans recorded material increases but the outstanding growth was 15.7 per cent in the value of trusts and estates under the management of the bank's trust department.

Plans will be discussed for the PTA's dinner scheduled February 9, and refreshments will be provided by Miss Jennie Lee's room.

Rail Retirement Bill

WILLIAM H. GEPPERT

THOMAS B. FINAN

Finan And Geppert Are Named Directors

Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland, and William H. Geppert, local attorney, were elected directors of the First National Bank and Trust Company at the annual meeting of the stockholders yesterday in the bank, 153 Baltimore Street.

The board of directors was expanded from 12 to 14 members.

The directors will meet today to elect officers.

Geppert is a member of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert, 7 Washington Street. He is a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., and received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from West Virginia University.

He established a practice of law in Cumberland in 1935, being associated with William A. Gunter, with whom he is now associated.

From 1938 through 1939 he was a magistrate in old Peoples Court here and in 1941 enlisted in the Navy. He served in the Navy until 1946 when he entered active reserve service. He holds the rank of commander and is chairman of the Naval Advisory Committee in Western Maryland. He resides on Braddock Road.

Finan is a native of Cumberland and was graduated from La-Salle High School. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Georgetown University in 1936 and his bachelor of laws degree from University of Maryland in 1939.

He opened his office for practice of law in Cumberland in 1939 and in 1941 entered the Army. He served 26 months in the European Theatre with the 45th Infantry Division, and part of the time he was a prisoner of war of the Germans. He was a captain upon his discharge in 1945 and today holds the rank of major in the reserve corps.

Finan returned to Cumberland and became associated with William C. Walsh in a law practice. From 1948 to 1950 and from 1952 to 1958 he was city attorney of Cumberland. In 1958 he became secretary of state of Maryland and this month was sworn in as attorney general.

Finan is a vice president and director of the Times and Alleganian Company.

Railroad Worker Hurt In Accident

A local railroader underwent surgery yesterday after he was injured while working in the yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital at 3 a. m. yesterday was Elmer W. Holler, of 513 Forester Avenue, who is employed as a carman for the rail company.

Ataches reported the man's condition as "good."

Holler was admitted to the hospital after a rail car ran over his right foot. He was taken to surgery after being admitted.

County Fund Report Given

James Bishop, county treasurer, submitted a report to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning the financial position of the county as of December 31, 1960.

The bank balance as of December 1 was $654,978.87 with receipts of $263,110.77 and $303,124.97 from investments. The latter consists of withdrawal of a $300,000 segment of tax funds invested in certificates of deposit in two local banks and one in Frostburg. The $3,124.97 was interest realized on the deposit.

During December there were disbursements of $945,620.66 and the bank balance as of December 31 was $275,593.95. In addition to the bank balance December 31 there is on deposit $1,500,000 of tax monies in certificates in the three banks.

County Given Job Report

A booklet and report has been received from the State Employment Security office by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on a job classification survey conducted here last fall.

The survey was made by George Widman of the state agency and lists the job classifications of all positions under Civil Service in the county.

Commissioner John T. Mason said the board would analyze the booklet and report before taking any action on the matter. The report makes a clarification of the various jobs in the county system so that the commissioners will be better able to determine such factors as jurisdiction, responsibility and possible pay increases in the future.

France Gains Notch

PARIS (AP)—France, with 797 ships totaling 4.6 million tons, moved up a notch last year to eighth place among the world's merchant fleets, the Merchant Marine Ministry said.

Fort Hill Girls Hear Talk On Dimes Drive

The expanded services offered under the New March of Dimes were outlined to members of the Tri-Hi-Y units of Fort Hill High School yesterday.

Addressing the girls organizations following yesterday's classes was Frederick J. Hill Jr., general chairman of the 1961 March of Dimes campaign for Allegany County.

"Scientific research," he said, "is the keystone of the attack on arthritis and birth defects. We can conquer such crippling diseases and continue the almost-won fight against polio with the support of March of Dimes contributions."

In urging support of the campaign, the Tri-Hi-Y girls were told that scientific research is being carried on against crippling diseases in over 100 hospitals, universities and laboratories, all underwritten by the National Foundation.

Six new study centers have been established within two years, Hill said, by March of Dimes funds to conduct clinical research in the care and prevention of birth defects and arthritis. The National Foundation, he continued, also maintains 13 clinical study and special treatment centers devoted to problems of polio.

Pointing to the progress in the training of workers for the health field, Hill reported that more than 800 young people are studying under March of Dimes scholarships in the fields of medicine, nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy and medical social work.

In concluding his talk to the Fort Hill groups, Hill said recent progress in the study of the causes of crippling has led scientists to believe important breakthrough are directly ahead.

Stone To Be Shipped

SALISBURY, England (UPI)—A stone from Salisbury's famous St. Andrew's Cathedral will be sent to Honolulu shortly for incorporation into St. Andrew's Cathedral there, it was announced Tuesday.

The stone, will be taken from the south side of the 747-year-old cathedral and shipped to Honolulu in a box. The officials said the Honolulu churchmen might use the box for church collections.

Sugar Contract Signed

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has signed a contract with Cuba to import one million tons of sugar this year, the New China news agency reported Tuesday.

Price of the sugar, under the contract signed in Havana on Jan. 21, was fixed at four Cuban centavos a pound, the Communist agency said.

There are two and a half times as many traffic deaths on rural roads as on city streets.

Identification Bands Are Adopted At Sacred Heart

The possibility of a patient mix-up at Sacred Heart Hospital is now about as remote as mistaking a dose of castor oil for a vitamin tablet—all because of a small plastic band which is fastened around the wrist of every patient as soon as he or she is admitted to the local hospital.

The plastic band, known as an Ident-A-Band is applied on the wrist to give maximum protection against mistakes of identity and conforms with procedures recommended by the American Hospital Association.

"The addition of the bands is another demonstration of the hospital's policy of bringing to its patients and the community the latest and most up-to-date hospital methods and procedures," Sister Celeste, administrator of the hospital said.

The new wrist bands are made of soft, transparent plastic into which is inserted a card with complete information about the patient, including his or her name, hospital case number and attending physician. The Ident-A-Band is sealed around the patient's wrist as soon as he is admitted to the hospital and remains there until his release. Thus, just a glance at the wrist confirms patient identity even when he is sleeping or under sedation.

"With the use of the bands," Sister Celeste pointed out, "there now could be four 'Bill Smiths' in the hospital, for instance, without fear of a mix-up. Each would have his own complete identification sealed within the band on his wrist."

"We are using the system because it positively identifies every patient in the hospital at all times—whether the patient is awake or asleep. It is especially valuable in any emergency situation—and will also be a safeguard in our daily routine of medications and treatments," Sister Celeste continued.

"Although misidentification has never been a serious problem at Sacred Heart Hospital, if the bands prevent just one error, they will be well worth their cost," Sister Celeste noted.

PTA Of Ridgeley Plans Minstrel

Largest Check Split

LONDON (UPI) — The largest check in British banking history—119,595,645 pounds and 12 shillings (roughly $334,867,000) — changed hands Monday to seal the U.S. Ford Company's purchase of British Ford stock held by Britons. Tuesday the check was split into 19,000 smaller ones to be sent to the former shareholders.

Wins Soccer Pool

LONDON (UPI)—A 64-year-old woman Tuesday won the largest payoff ever received on the one quarter of a penny stakes of the English soccer pools.

The woman, who refused to identify herself, won $215,006.82 for betting 87 cents on Vernon's "Treble Chance" pool.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Producer Hall Bartlett hasn't yet selected a woman star for his "Woman of Paris" picture for United Artists. But he's lined up enough "bait" to tempt Liz Taylor, Gina Lollobrigida, Audrey Hepburn, Ingrid Berman or any other top beauty he's seeking. Ladies, read this and gasp:

Cartier will "loan" a fortune in priceless gems for the heroine to wear; Jean Louis will do the clothes for the star and the gowns worn by the models will be from the houses of Jacques Heim, Dior, Nina Ricci, Balenciaga, Balmain and Fath.

Last, but really the piece de resistance, is that noted writer Eugene Vale was signed Friday to do the script of "Woman of Paris," the drama of a modern day Mary Magdalene. Vale is the author of "The Thirteenth Apostle" and he has written the screenplays for such strong spiritual stories as "Francis of Assisi" and "Dear and Glorious Physician."

Jason Robards Jr., said he accepted "By Love Possessed" just to make enough money for his divorce settlement. But such mercenary motives seem to have faded into a movie love affair.

While he won't agree to sign with 20th on a term deal following "Tender Is the Night," his next, with Jennifer Jones — Robards has a movie of his own on the fire. It's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," the Eugene O'Neill drama he did on Broadway with Frederic March. March has joined with Jason in making arrangements with O'Neill's widow for the screen rights.

You can bet some non-inflated moola that Lauren Bacall, the future Mrs. Robards, will be in the cast.

Romance really burst into bloom on that bus ride to Long Beach for the preview of "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" aboard the USS Hamul. Ricky Nelson, who is in the comedy with Jack Lemmon, discovered pretty Vicki Trickett, who was just along for the ride.

The press also were treated to a fair idea of the seriousness of the feeling between Bobby Cohn, nephew of the late Harry Cohn, and Patricia Powell. She's the widow of the late taxicab king, Danny Arnstein. These two gazed more into each other's eyes than they did at the screen during the unreeling of Freddie Kohlmar's funny picture for Columbia.

I saw Eve Arden and her husband, Brooks West, in the West Coast company of "Auntie Mame" —and thought they were both very good. So I'm not surprised that they are teaming up for a new TV series called "The Colonel's Lady." It's about a famous screen star who retires when she marries an Army colonel stationed in Washington, D. C., all handled in a sophisticated comedy manner.

Come to think of it, many movie ladies have married Washington figures including Constance Bennett who married a colonel, Jessie Royce Landis married to a general, Ella Raines wed to a Pentagon official and Myrna Loy, recently divorced from a capital biggie.

It was bound to happen: Marlon Brando, whose weakness for exotic native-type beauties is marked, finally dated Tarita, the Tahitian charmer playing his leading lady in "Mutiny on the Bounty." Took her out to dinner three times despite the fact that Tarita had confided in French (the only language she speaks) that she had never heard of him before the MGM company landed on her island. Marlon speaks French fluently — so there's no language barrier, if there ever is where amour is concerned.

Producer Aaron Rosenberg had to make a sad mission back to Hollywood to attend the funeral of his mother on Sunday. Our deepest sympathy goes to "Rosey" who was very close to his mother.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm employed in the kitchen of a state institution and there's so much monkey-business going on that I can't keep still any longer. This is not a special situation. I've worked in state institutions elsewhere and it's the same.

I've seen institution empolyes eat food gifts which were sent to patients and then deny they saw the package. I've watched employes take home roasts, chickens, cans of coffee and jars of fruit. Trays of crackers are hidden in the ovens because no one wants to count them out. Quarts of hot coffee, platters of crisp bacon and eggs, bowls of butter and stacks of bread disappear into employes' dressing rooms.

When the board of visitors come they are served filet mignon and fresh strawberry shortcake. Then they go home and tell everyone the food is great. No one ever pops in unexpectedly to see what is REALLY going on.

Don't tell me to report it. I fried this once and was laid off the following week. Something must be done from the top.—GOD HELP THE TAXPAYER

DEAR FRIEND: I consider your letter a public service. I'm sure many state institutions need cleaning up and such complaints as yours can help trigger action The badly run institutions are an outrage in a country as well off as ours. It would be unfair, however, to accuse ALL state institutions of waste, incompetence and negligence. You said "No one ever pops in to see what is REALLY going on." In Ohio last year many newspapers printed a page one picture of Governor Di Salle just after a surprise visit to a mental hospital. What he saw had made him ill.

Ohio's state institutions under Governor Di Salle have been vastly improved. Wisconsin, California and Michigan are among the better ones, too. Most states still have a long way to go.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a close friend who is a widow She lives alone in a lavish apartment with her two pet poodles. The dogs have velvet pillows in their wicker baskets. They eat choice filets and she takes them to Florida every winter.

Her two daughters married against her wishes and now they are having a rough time financially. The mother never gives them a dollar. What do you think of this?—AN OBSERVER

DEAR OBSERVER: It sounds as if the daughters treated their mother like a dog and now the dogs are being treated like daughters.

DEAR ANN: I am a 17-year-old girl who needs an outsider's opinion.

I know this sounds terrible, but my best friend got into trouble with a boy. She went with this fellow for a year and thought she was in love. Her folks sent her to a home for unwed mothers and she gave up her baby for adoption.

Now that she's home everyone has turned their backs on her. She needs friends more than ever but my folks don't want me to go with her. My mother says "A leopard never changes its spots." Is she right?—CELE

DEAR CELE: Your friend isn't a leopard — she's human — and humans often change. She needs kindness at this time, now more than ever. I hope your folks will encourage you to continue the friendship.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four-year-old Patricia Robins walks the halting way — on crutches.

Her twin sister, Jacquelyn, free of cerebral palsy's crippling, some times has trouble keeping up with dauntless Patricia.

To Mrs. Ravers Robins, of Levittown, Long Island, the presence of twins — one well, one handicapped — in the family calls for super-strength in the child raising arena.

To medical science, the twins pose a riddle: Why was one struck by cerebral palsy and not the other?

Patricia currently is basking in the attention reserved for celebrities. The pint-sized "Woman-in-the-News" is the 1961 National Poster Girl for the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

As National Poster Girl, Patricia this month is leading thousands of "53 Minute Marchers" across the nation — all volunteers helping the health organization to raise $12 million to help crack the mystery surrounding the crippling disorder.

The campaign's theme, "The 53 Minute March on Cerebral Palsy" dramatizes the fact that cerebral palsy strikes a newborn child every 53 minutes.

Mrs. Robins said Patricia was born with cerebral palsy. But Jacquelyn, delivered only a few minutes after Patricia, escaped a similar fate.

The two girls look very much alike but they are not identical twins. Both were born prematurely, Patricia weighing three pounds two ounces, and Jacquelyn two pounds, 15 ounces.

When Patricia was 11 months old the doctors confirmed her parents' suspicions that she had cerebral palsy.

A month later, Patricia became a patient at the United Cerebral Palsy of Nassau County's treatment center in Roosevelt, Long Island.

When she first came to the center, Mrs. Robins said in an interview, Patricia could neither sit nor stand upright. Now, with the aid of crutches, she is able to walk.

Patricia is a pretty, brown-haired, blue-eyed tot with an outgoing personality. Her mother said she has unusually good speech for a four-year-old and talks easily to strangers.

Patricia still goes to the treatment center a week, but otherwise lives the normal life of a four-year-old playing with her sister and other children in the neighborhood.

The Robins also have a son, Douglas, 12.

Mrs. Robins has definite ideas about bringing up twins, one of whom is handicapped while the other is normal.

"I feel that they gain a lot from one another," she said. "Of course Jacquelyn has activities which Patricia cannot share but they have friends in common and play together a good deal.

"But I am very careful to see that Jacquelyn does not feel slighted because of the extra attention which is given to Patricia because of her handicap — and because she always hears people asking about Patricia.

"We try very hard not to show one more attention than the other."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Anatomy Of An Apple

The ordinary apple is having its day—so I hope each of your days has its apple! The more we examine the character and accomplishments of the apple, the more we understand Eve's temptation. While we might deplore her disobedience, we certainly should admire her taste and wisdom.

Ancient as the oldest fruits, the apple can still amaze us. One of the more recent revelations about its attributes came from a noted physiologist who found that the apple-carbohydrate, pectin, can help reduce the amount of fatty material in the blood—that cholesterol you've heard so much about.

The deeper we cut into the apple the more we discover. It's an incomparable aid to skin beauty. It's a remarkably strong building-block in your resistance against colds and other infections. It makes a capital toothbrush and gum-massager, actually able to extricate and flush away film and food particles trapped on and between the teeth.

And think of the exercise. For the joints and muscles of the jaw, for the cheek, the jowls, the chin. It's slow work, too . . . biting into that hard, raw apple, cruching the juicy flesh, pulverizing the peel. Slow and rhythmic . . . just the way exercise should be . . . and just the kind of eating technique for dieters to adopt. Remember, food eaten slowly seems to fill you more quickly. And that feeling of satisfaction lasts longer.

For that dual-reason, the apple is a perfect between-meal snack or dessert for weight-watchers. There are other reasons, not the least of which is the way an apple can settle a craving for sweets, yet raise the blood-sugar level to stoke up energy and high spirits when you feel depressed and droopy.

Then, there's the calorie count . . . just about 7 for one medium size sphere.Notice, I've been referring all along to apples in the RAW, unpeeled, uncooked, unsweetened. You may have been taking your apple-a-day in other forms, so you should realize that, while apple-dishes are good for you, some of the advantages I've descirbed are cancelled by cooking.

And not the least of them is that calorie count. Compare 76 to the 200 total of baked apple, the 150 in a serving of canned applesauce, the 250 for a half-cup of Apple Betty, the 118 in 8 ounces of apple juice . . . the 377 for a 1/6 cut of a medium-size pie.

Depending on your diet, include all these apple-a-day substitutes when you can afford them, then whenever they appeal to you. Because they are delicious, as well as nutritious. But let them be in addition to the one or two raw apples that you make a MUST on your daily menu. Enjoy THEM for the same reasons—PLUS!

Washing Machine Is Symbol Of New Wealth

New Mexico's Laguna Indians, owners of one of the greatest uranium mines in the country, have come a long way from the time when their ancestors traded valuable land and furs for a handful of sparkling trinkets.

The Lagunas are handling their new wealth wisely—buying not flashy cars or clothing, but gleaming new washing machines and refrigerators for their wives who still live in hogans.

Tissue Packs Handy For School

Few youngsters go through a Fall without at least one cold. Unfortunately, they generally spread it around to their classmates at school.

To help prevent this, send along a couple of the pocket-sized packages of tissues to school with your young one. That way he'll have a ready supply of disposable tissues in his desk at school for use at the first sign of a sneeze or sniffle.

It might help to stop the spread of the cold throughout the classroom.

Opening lead: Four of ♣

A problem in percentages, combined with a safety play in the trump suit, make up the elements of our story today.

North and South staggered into four hearts on an involved sequence of bids, when they had a virtual laydown game in diamonds and even a good play for slam. A more aggressive attitude on the part of either player might have enabled the partnership to reach the slam. North in particular rates a demerit for his failure to leap directly to five diamonds when South supported him.

West opened the four of clubs against the four heart contract. East took the trick with the ace and continued the suit as declarer ruffed. Now came the three top trumps but, when East failed to answer the call on the third round, South was obliged to shift his attention to the diamonds. West merely waited till the third diamond was played to ruff in, thus permanently disconnecting declarer from the dummy. Another club forced out South's last trump and he wound up with only eight tricks.

There is only one way for declarer to fulfill his contract. After he ruffs the second round of clubs, he must lead a low trump away from his A-K-Q. This has the effect of giving West his trump trick while the dummy still retains a heart to take care of a third round of clubs. Declarer returns to his hand to draw trumps and then the diamonds can be run for the rest of the tricks. Any return other than a club by West is handled in the same manner.

Nor is this a double dummy analysis. South's handling of the trump suit was very naive. The 3-3 division occurs only 36 per cent of the time, whereas a 4-2 break can be expected 48 per cent of the time. The safety play in hearts will take care of either case and makes declarer a better than five to one favorite on the hand.

Set Up Rainy Day 'Dry-Off' Area For Kids

Be prepared for the coming rainy season by setting aside a special area in the house where the children can remove their damp outdoor clothing. It will save a surprising amount of stain removal chores on floors, carpeting and furnishings.

Most practical place could be just inside the back door. Install hooks so the youngsters can hang their raincoats and caps. Place a rubber mat on the floor for galoshes and boots.

Be sure to hang a paper towel holder, too, for quick drying off jobs. Because of their softness and sponge-like qualities, these paper towels are good for wiping water and mud from boots as well as for hand drying.

Give each child his own set of hangers. Plastic hooks from variety stores are obtainable in a variety of colors, making it simpler for each to recognize his own hang-up spot.

Rev. Martin P. Davidson will officiate and interment will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park. Pallbearers will be Raymond Long, Howard Long, George Carder, Edward Carder, Sonny Long and Jack Mixon.

Good Tip

When redecorating do you ever wonder what color your paint will be when it dries? Here is a sure test to let you know before using it: Brush flat paint on a clean white blotter. Oils will be soaked up in the blotter leaving the pigment on the surface. This will assume the same color as the paint when it has dried.

Narrow Face

If your face is too narrow, apply rouge around your ear lobes instead of at the cheekbones.

Give Sticky Card Deck 'New Deal'

If your favorite set of plastic-coated playing cards is sticky after a long summer of between-deals snack sessions, you usually can get a better "deal" by dusting each card on each side with talcum powder.

If they are badly soiled, wash them carefully in slightly-soapy, tepid water. Dry each one carefully and then dust with talcum.

Merchants Unit Names Four Committees

Four new committees of the Retail Merchants Association of the Chamber of Commerce were appointed this week by John J. Coyle, chairman.

Robert Little Ebert was named chairman of a committee asked to study realignment of the dues structure. Members are John F. Vandegrift and Mr. Coyle.

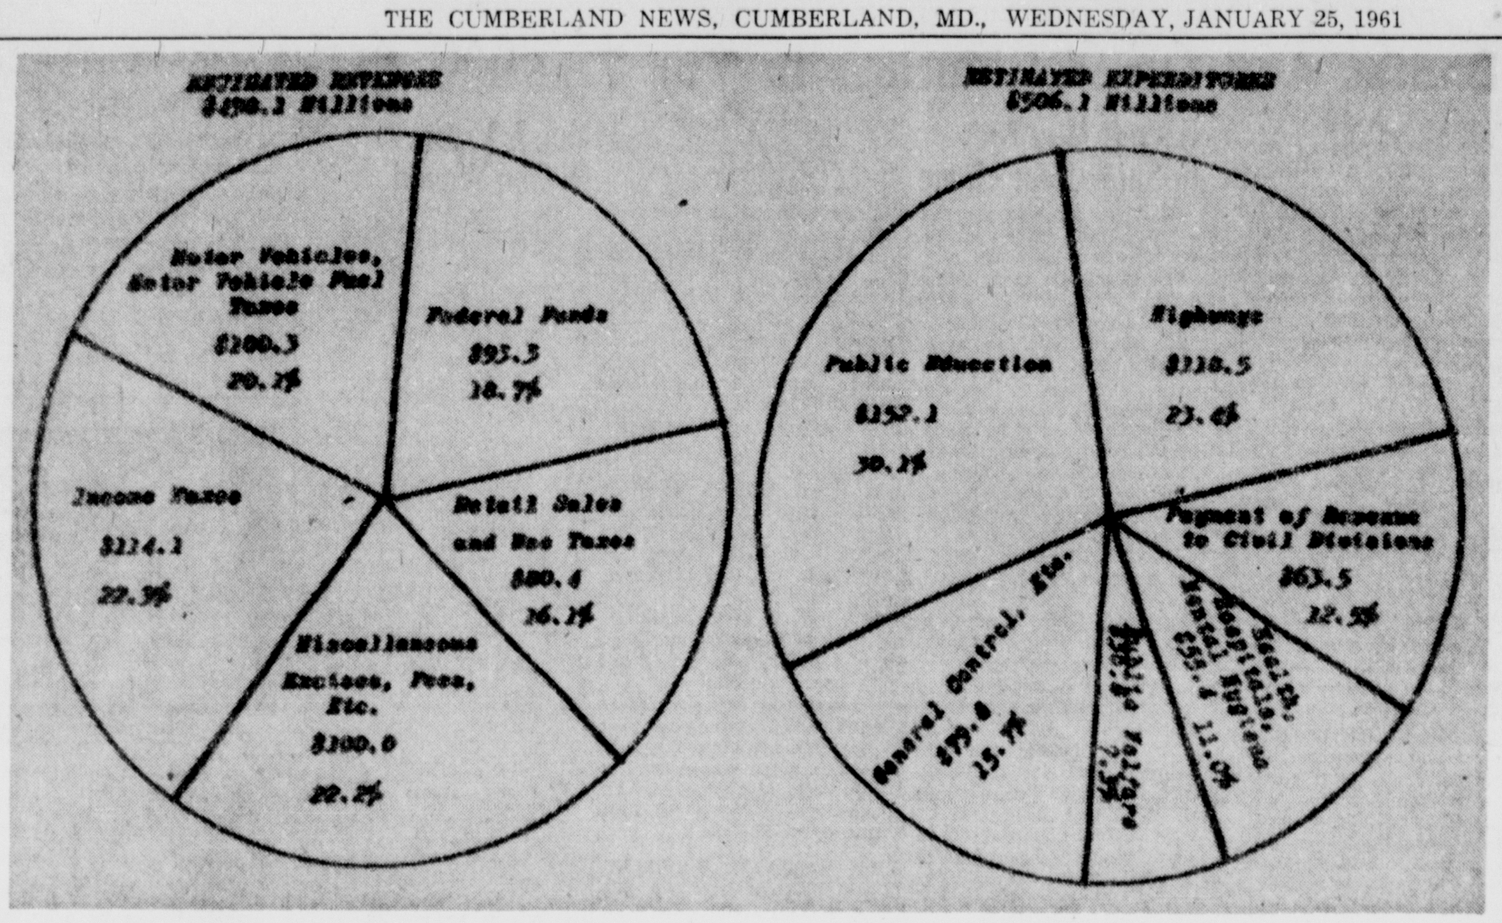

Samuel Moses was named to a new committee which was asked to study city ordinances dealing with retail business and the downtown area. He will be assisted by Harry Kauffman and Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber.

Morton Peskin Jr. was named chairman of a unit set up to arrange promotion plans for the first Thursday night opening on March 2. He will be assisted by Mr. Moses and Carl McAninch.

Mr. Kauffman will head a parking committee. Members are Louis V. Shinnamon, Mark Lazarus Sr. and Mr. Petersen.

The committees were appointed during a weekly luncheon meeting here Monday, attended by some 20 members of the association.

Maryland's Fiscal Pies

The chart at left shows where the money will come from, and the one at right, where it will go in Gov. Tawes' $506 million budget submitted to the Maryland General Assembly yesterday. Not reflected on the expenditure chart is an additional $6.4 million in aid to education, and $2.5 million in welfare aid, to be added to the budget later. The revenue chart also does not show $9 million more in sales taxes which the governor proposes to finance these programs. Because total expenditures exceed total revenues as depicted, the governor had to dip into the surplus to balance the budget. (AP Photofax)

Polio Clinic Set Today

The Allegany County Health Department will hold a polio immunization clinic today from 1-4 p. m. in the Health Department quarters at 111 Union Street.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said he hopes attendance is better than at the opening clinic held Wednesday, when only 79 persons turned up for polio inoculations.

He said all residents under 40 should get the protection from their family doctor of the Health Department both for themselves and for the protection of others.

There are thousands of children, Dr. van Strien said, who received three shots in school and need a booster shot to maintain immunization at a desirable level.

Bid Is Accepted

The Mayor and Council has accepted the $569.35 bid of the Builders Paint and Supply Company for about 200 gallons of paint for the interior of City Hall and the Court Room in the Public Safety Building.

Health Staff Hours Changed

New working hours for the Allegany County Health Department were announced yesterday by Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said the schedule adopted Monday calls for offices to be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4.30 p. m. during the winter months and from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the summer.

The previous schedule was 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the winter and 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. in the summer.

He said the new schedule was adopted to bring hours as nearly as possible in line with schedules observed at the Court House and other county offices.

Dr. van Strien said the earlier schedule should boost efficiency of the department, as the most clinics are scheduled during the morning.

To stress the progressive strides that can be expected in the future, Mr. Edmund pointed to a time capsule that was buried in the year 1938 with instructions not to be opened until 6938. In just 22 years, most of the things that were placed in the capsule are obsolete. For instance, there was no mention of television, jet planes, the United Nations, atomic bombs, radar, World War II or the Korean war or nuclear powered submarines.

Mr. Edmund was introduced at the dinner by J. Carson Dowell, assistant to the president of the Kelly - Springfield Tire Company. Mr. Dowell and H. D. Barber were co-chairmen for the annual dinner.

Nonnenmann Presides

Earl Nonnenmann, who has been re-elected president of the YMCA for 1961, presided at the annual meeting. Other 1961 officers are Robert E. Moore, vice president; Milton Bernstein, secretary, and Roy W. Eves, treasurer.

Dr. William R. Allen, the 1959 president, who submitted the nominating committee's report last night, also was presented a past president's pin by Mr. Nonnenmann. The 10 new directors nominated for three-year terms are G. Louis Baker, James W. Bishop, Roy W. Eves, Walter E. Dyck, C. William Gilchrist, Joseph S. Gratton, Mrs. Calvin Keiter, Mrs. E. F. Phillips, Simon Rosenbaum II and Phillip M. Walker. Mrs. Keiter declined to serve and Rev. John F. Sammel was elected in her place at a meeting of the board directly after the dinner meeting.

Robert M. Williams, new general secretary of the YMCA, submitted his first annual report. It showed membership had advanced from 1,352 as of January 1, 1960, to 1,512 December 31. During the year, 647 groups used meeting rooms, 478 individuals were taught to swim, 56 athletic teams competed, 391 belonged to Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y, 8,649 attended rec club dances and 440 was the total day camp attendance.

Invocation was delivered by Rev. Ralph E. Burnett, pastor of First Christian Church, and the benediction by Rev. Everett E. Culp, pastor of First Methodist Church.

Snow Removal Cost County Nearly $17,000

It cost the Allegany County Road Department nearly $17,000 to remove snow and ice from the county roads in the quarter which ended December 31, according to a report from Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Skelly's quarterly report for the period from October 1 through December 31, 1960, lists total expenses of the department at $83,919.48.

Snow and ice removal, primarily, from the December 11 snowstorm, cost $16,982.20. Another $51,691.68 actually was spent on roads of the county in the final quarter of 1960. Of that amount $28,285.92 was for labor, $13,850.46 for materials and $9,555.30 for equipment. Other departmental costs in the quarter included $4,475.25 for administration and $10,770.35 for the shops.

Equipment expenditures by the roads department in the last quarter totaled $7,888.66. This included $3,447.29 for gas and oil, $141.62 for tires, $273.60 for batteries, $3,083.07 for labor and $943.08 for parts. Purchases during the final quarter of 1960 included $20,313.46 for roads and bridges, $9,634.89 for equipment, $158.83 for tools and $2,016.74 for miscellaneous expenditures.

Mr. Skelly also submitted to the county commissioners yesterday a detailed report on road improvements during the past calendar year. Sections of 13 different roads adding up to 3.195 miles received new construction between July 1 and December 31 last year at a cost to the county of $40,708.84. Itemized it included $9,165.63 for labor, $7,651.51 for equipment and $23,891.70 for materials.

During 1960, some 25 new roads primarily in residential areas, were added to the county roads system, giving the county 3.477 additional miles of roads.

The county roads supervisor also disclosed in his report that eight roads, totaling 5.35 miles had received new construction, relocation, drainage changes, widening and building base from dirt to shale in 1960.

Eleven other roads, with a total of 2.083 miles, were deeded to the county after having been built to county specifications by the property owners. They gave the county additional mileage for more gasoline tax revenue. Six of these roads are in Election District 29, four in District 11 and one in District 6.

Mr. Skelly also stated that 16 other roads with 1.405 miles, maintained by the county roads department, have been added to the county mileage in 1960.

Six bridges in the county were completely reconstructed between July 1 and December 31, 1960, and four other bridges were eliminated and the crossings replaced with boiler pipe for cross drainage.

Ten roads, with 1.28 miles, add in District 29, LaVale, received single surface treatment between July 1 and December 31 of last year.

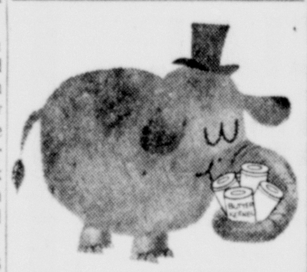

Half-Billion

Tawes also told newsmen he felt the fiscal program he outlined is the answer to school teachers seeking a general pay raise—not only for this year but also for next.

The $6.4 million in aid to education proposed by the James Committee does not require any of it to be spent on salaries, but Tawes said:

"In honesty, it cannot be asserted that Maryland has neglected its school teachers. I am proud that this is so, as I know you are."

Khrishna Menon And The 'Stupid' Chinese

The "stupid" attitude of Communist China in threatening India and grabbing territory along her borders shocks V. K. Khrishna Menon, India's credulous defense minister. By creating an enormous amount of conflict, he says in New Delhi, China casts doubt on the whole concept of peaceful coexistence.

He had no doubts of it before? Nikita Khrushchev has made it abundantly clear what the concept of peaceful coexistence really means. In words, that is—but he also has made it clear by deeds, as in Hungary.

Early this month, for instance, he told a party meeting in Moscow that worldwide victory is not far off for Communism, "which will rule the world." If the capitalist nations accept this without a struggle, that's peaceful coexistence; and then war would not be necessary. But if the capitalist nations resist being ruled by Communists, said Khrushchev, war will come.

Apparently Menon still doesn't realize that China was practicing "peaceful coexistence" when she undertook to extend her rule past the fringes of Indian territory. Menon even says he is certain that Khrushchev "will do everything he can, perhaps, to resolve" the issue and end the injustice against India.

Obviously, his disillusionment is far from complete. He's a very slow learner.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Unemployment

Undoubtedly of equal importance to the questions raised by our seeping gold and our international relations, is the question of unemployment. The responsibility for this condition is manifold and the blame will never be fixed altogether, but the cold fact is that unemployment is intolerable, that the social problems that arise from it are costly to any nation but are multiplied in ours because of our high standard of living, and that it leaves future generations morally antagonistic to the American way of life. Unemployment is not only an economic disease; it is a moral and social disease.

The Kennedy Administration has inherited about 5,000,000 unemployed with the prospect of more to come. It has inherited this condition from the Eisenhower Administration which ignored the rise of unemployment as a temporary, seasonal situation which would, in time, erase itself. That was the attitude of the Coolidge Administration which pitched its unemployment problems into Herbert Hoover's lap.

Two clear factors and many not so clear factors appear in this problem. The two clear factors are:

1. Because of inflation and the high cost of labor and taxes the United States has outpriced itself in world markets and cannot even take competition in certain commodities in the American market, a condition which we have never faced before in our economic history;

2. The removal of some American industries to European, Asiatic and Caribbean markets has meant an export of jobs, which cumulatively produced the large unemployment figures. Certain American industries have almost disappeared in this struggle against cheap, subsidized goods. The American ceramic industry is almost gone; knitwear is going; clothing, both for men and women, is imperilled; even typewriter parts are made abroad and brought back to this country which is their market. The electrical equipment industry, which has been basic in the United States, is fighting against contracts which go to our allies.

Again, as before World War II, Japan is our principal problem, with West Germany and Italy coming up as sharp competitors for first place as America's chief economic competitors.

Significantly, it is our allies, and important ones, which raise the issue of economic instability and it is also significant that these countries have benefited by our aid munificently.

The United States, politically, cannot afford to antagonize Japan, especially in view of the very strong Red Chinese anti-American propaganda among Japanese youth. The Japanese need the American market if they are to live at all because they have lost their national market which is mainland China. The Japanese cannot raise their own food because only 20 per cent of their land is arable. Their historic ambition had been to occupy and hold China. From 1894 until 1945, their national effort had been to take Manchuria and Mongolia and make them part of Japan. In this they failed as they failed in the substitute plan of building an empire in the South Seas. Actually, these countries have been divided between Soviet Russia and Red China.

Without markets, Japan can die and become a string of islands in the Pacific. On the other hand, the United States has developed into a profitable market for Japanese goods of all kinds. Thus the Japanese have become increasingly dependent upon the United States, but as such things go, no one planned or integrated American-Japanese trade. Japan is producing goods which cost American workers their jobs and that raises many serious internal American political problems. For instance, the American men and women's clothing industries, which have been internationalist and socialist in their leadership are now definitely frightened by the import of finished products from Japan, Italy and Hongkong. American hats, caps, millinery industries are beginning to suffer. Unemployment in these industries would be socially severe as they exist in big cities.

It can be stated categorically that the United States will never again tolerate 10,000,000 unemployed. Statistics and percentages do not matter. The labor unions are becoming conscious of the peril but they have not yet related the subject to inflation for which the unions are partially responsible. That will come too.

Unless the Kennedy Administration meets the problem quickly and correctly, the big issue in the 1962 campaign will be unemployment—a social as well as an economic problem. The appointment of Arthur Goldberg to the position of Secretary of Labor is evidence of the seriousness of the problem.

Atmosphere Of Action Observed By Many Officials In Washington

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There's a zing and a zest in the air of Washington. It's a spirit of hurry-up, get-going. Even diplomats with no political axes to grind are commenting on it.

"It reminds me of Washington during the war when you were really driving to get things done," remarked one British diplomat who knows this country well, flies back and forth across the Atlantic a dozen times a year.

"We have felt so sad in Europe lately," said a French diplomat. "We have always looked to you as the great and powerful country, and recently you hadn't been leading. Now you are. We are so glad that the old America is coming back again."

Moscow's Ants In Pants

This hurry-up, no-time-to-lose spirit may not, however, be fast enough for the man President Kennedy will chiefly have to reckon with—Nikita Khrushchev.

The Russians had early made it clear that they were ready to negotiate 10 minutes after Kennedy took the oath as President of the United States. Ambassador Menshikov had conferred with Adlai Stevenson, had dined with Dean Rush even before the American public knew Rush was to be Secretary of State—which shows Soviet guesswork is good. Khushchev had even offered to send a top-ranking official as a special gesture to honor Kennedy's Inauguration. Kennedy turned this down on the ground that he didn't want any one ambassador outranking the others.

All this, plus the two-hour interview between Khrushchev and Ambassador Thompson one day after Kennedy became President, points to Moscow's ants-in-the-pants desire to get going toward discussing a new deal with the United States.

Two allies and advisers of the new President also entertain a restrained and dignified ants-in-the-pants approach toward USA-USSR negotations. They are:

ADLAI STEVENSON — Who would like to see roving Ambassador Averell Harriman go to Moscow immediately to begin exploratory talks with Khrushchev, ascertain just how far the Russians will go toward ending the cold war.

PRIME MINISTER HAROLD MACMILLIAN—Who wants to fly to Washington after Kennedy has had about a month to settle down, talk about the imperative need of a summit conference. Macmillan has a new argument for such a conference—namely, that the Red Chinese are pushing Khrushchev to show some real results from coexistence, therefore Khrushchev should be in a mood for concessions.

President Kennedy, however, remains cautious. Sincerely as he wants to improve USA-USSR relations, he is worried over making haste too fast.

Note — Soviet diplomats are spreading word that Khrushchev is coming back to the U. N. General Assembly meeting in New York in March—another evidence of the Soviet's hurry-up-and-get-there attitude.

Old Man's Battle

Sam Rayburn, 79 years old and the survivor of many tough political battles, has been cajoling friends and challenging enemies about 18 hours a day for the past week end in what may be the most climatic battle of his life. Mr. Sam has his dander up. His prestige, his control of the House is at stake. Seldom has Sam fought so hard. He is determined to force 78-year-old Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia to abdicate his dictatorial power over the Rules Committee.

Most people don't know it, but Sam is getting some secret support from Republicans. One silent comrade-in-arms is ex-Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts. Joe and Sam have run the House of Representatives for a long time, and there's a lot of genuine affection between them. Joe doesn't want to see his old friend get rebuffed.

Sam is also getting help from some tough young Republican Congressmen—Tom Curtis (Mo.) Silvio Conte (Mass.), William Cahill and Florence Dwyer (N. J.), Seymour Halpern and John Lindsay (N. Y.), with Perkins Bass (N. H.). They have been lining up votes to break the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition, will probably deliver — with Martin's help — about 50 GOP votes.

Mr. Sam's Plea

"I have received thousands of letters opposing this change in the Rules Committee," Speaker Rayburn told the closed-door Democratic caucus the other day. "About 80 per cent of the letters, I might add, came from people who voted for Richard Nixon. Most of them believe either in maintaining the status quo or turning back the clock.

"I've also talked with hundreds of people who have traveled the world and they tell me how the United States is looked upon today by foreigners. Their reports have not been very encouraging at a time when it is vital that, to maintain our position of leadership, we have the confidence and respect of other nations.

"The reason is that the last administration failed t. live up to its responsibilities, failed to do a good job.

"At the same time, we must not look for miracles by the new Kennedy administration in the next hundred days. There's a lot of work to be done by all of us and I intend to give the new administration the tools it needs to get the work done. That's why I am convinced that this change in the Rules Committee is imperative."

New Administration To Have Style Of Its Own

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It was the night of the "inaugural snow storm," as the weathermen are said to call that disrupting blizzard. The quiet street blanketed, sound-proofed, all but choked with snow.

All through the evening, Robert Frost had been bouyed up by his own gaiety and the stimulus of admiration. But now, as the venerable poet prepared to plunge out into the blizzard for the drive home, his strength quite suddenly failed him, as their strength will sometimes fail all men of eighty-seven. For help, he turned to his close friend and host, President Kennedy's new Secretary of the Interior, Stewart Lee Udall, who is himself something of a poet of nature.

Into the white darkness of the street, the young man supported, all but carried the old man, sustaining him not just with a strong shoulder and a strong arm, but also with the strength of his reverent affection. It was a scene to remember, if only because it was so wonderfully unlike the customary scenes of political Washington.

The backdrop of scene two was equally dramatic—the wide balcony jampacked with grandees' boxes at the inaugural ball in the armory. John F. Kennedy and his beautiful young wife had just made their entrance, so the whole vast room was watching. From one end of the balcony to the other, there were people in the boxes whom Kennedy wished to welcome, but the crowd made the passageways absolutely impassable.

Quite unconcerned, the new President of the United States began leaping from box to box with the easy agility of a mountain goat. It was a creditable performance for a man of forty-three. But what made this scene memorable were the expressions of absolute horror, of open consternation, on the faces of the secret service men, who were by no means used to imitating mountain goats yet were forced to follow their charge as best they could.

These memories of the inaugural week in Washington, in themselves trifling, also help to make a point which is not trifling. The point is that the new President and his new administration have a style of their own, quite new in American politics, which will delight some people, annoy other people, and astonish just about everyone until its style becomes familiar.

All American administrations have their own styles, which are almost invariably set by the President. Consider for instance the vast change of style that occurred when the infinitely staid William McKinley died, and Theodore Roosevelt took over the White House.

The chief ingredients of the first Roosevelt's style were his boldness, his strong historic imagination, his picturesquely strenuous way of life, his liking for the company of thinkers and learned men and, of course, his teeth and his eyeglasses. And that style contributed, in an indirect but not inconsiderable way, to the chief event of the first Roosevlet Administration, which was America's coming of age as a great power. He behaved like the leader of a great power, and quite suddenly we saw ourselves as a great power and the world saw us that way, too.

The Kennedy style, if one may hazard a guess, will be nearer to the first Roosevelt's style than to any other White House style of the past. At any rate, Kennedy oddly resembles the first Roosevelt in at least one infinitely revealing way. He is snobbish about the same things, which make an odd but not unimpressive list.

Like TR, he is a physical fitness-snob. All Kennedys have this singular trait. Like TR, he is also a courage-snob. It is not customary, any longer, to give much weight to whether another man has "had a good war," as the British put it. But this weighs with Kennedy as it weighed with the first Roosevelt, whose example inspired his oldest son to win the Medal of Honor on the blood-drenched Normandy beaches.

Finally, Kennedy once again resembles TR in being an experience-snob — in wanting what he does and what happens to him to be vivid, intense and, above all, meaningful, rather than cosy and average and hundrum. The instinct that drove Theodore Roosevelt to undertake his last journey to the sources of the Amazon, which killed him, is also quite visibly present in Kennedy.

Why Roosevelt had these three kinds of snobism, why Kennedy now has them, is an interesting subject of speculation. They were not common elements in average American success stories, even in TR's time, and they most certainly are not common elements in our success stories of today. In TR's case, they gave the man a personal style so singular, so unaccustomed that the whole country goggled — and was then delighted. But one must wait and see what they will do in Kennedy's case. Whatever the result, it should at least be interesting.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CIVIL WAR FIRSTS—As the nation enters into its five-year observance of the centennial of the Civil War, it is well to recall some of the "firsts" chalked up by that arduous, bloody contest.

Aerial reconnaissance was first effectively used from anchored balloons in military operations. The electric telegraph was used in the strategic control of military operations in widely separated theaters, and in the direction of troops in battle. A multi-manned submarine sank a surface vessel. Medical care for the wounded was systematically organized.

Participants, sites and equipment were photographed on a large scale. Nationwide conscription was used to raise armies in North America. A practical machine gun was developed. Artillery fire came into general use.

And, the Medal of Honor was awarded for the first time.

THE LOSER PAYS—New York Republican Senator Kenneth B. Keating has had to find a new place to live in Washington, and all because the Democrats won the elections last November.

Keating's landlady asked him to move because she wanted to rent the small house he occupied to a Democratic victor freshly arrived in Weshington. She explained she had promised the residence to the individual in case he won his election.

Keating remarked that it's probably the only campaign promise that will be kept. And he added, tartly, "They sure have the courage of their evictions."

Ambrose Bierce was at his best in the years 1887 to 1896, when he wrote for the San Francisco Examiner. He was bitter and amusing, but never a great success. His older son was killed in a shooting over a girl; his wife left him after 33 years of marriage; his younger son died of alcoholism. He wrote a lot more than The Devil's Dictionary, but his acidulous definitions are among my favorites.

FRIENDLESS: Having no favors to bestow. FRIENDSHIP: A ship big enough to carry two in fair weather, only one in foul. GALLOWS: A stage for the performance of miracle plays. GENEALOGY: An account of one's descent from an ancestor who did not care to trace his own.

HABEAS CORPUS: A writ by which a man may be taken out of jail when confined for the wrong crime. HAG: An elderly lady whom you do not happen to like. HANDKERCHIEF: A small square of silk or linen used at funerals to conceal a lack of tears. HISTORIAN: A broad-gauge gossip. HONEST: Afflicted with an impediment in one's reach.

HUSBAND: One who, having dined, is charged with the care of the plate. HYPOCRITE: One professing virtues that he does not respect, secures the advantage of seeming to be what he despises. IGNORAMUS: A person unacquainted with certain kinds of knowledge familiar to yourself, and having certain other kinds that you know nothing about.

IMMIGRANT: An unenlightened person who thinks one country better than another. IMPENITENT: A state of mind intermediate between sin and punishment. INCOMPATIBILITY: In matrimony, a similarity of tastes, particularly the taste for domination. INFIDEL: In America, one who does not believe in Christianity; in Egypt, one who does. INGRATE: One who receives a favor from another.

INSURANCE: A modern game of chance in which the player is permitted to believe that he is beating the man who runs the table. INTIMACY: A relationship into which fools are drawn toward their mutual destruction. JEALOUSY: A concern about the preservation of that which can be lost only if it is not worth keeping. LAWYER: One skilled in circumvention of the law.

LITIGANT: A person ready to give up his skin in the hope of retaining his bones. LOVE: A temporary insanity curable by marriage. MAD: Affected with a high degree of intellect independence. It is noteworthy that persons are pronounced mad by officials destitute of evidence that they are sane. MAGDALENE: A woman found out.

MARRIAGE: A master, a mistress and two slaves, making in all, two. MAUSOLEUM: The funniest folly of the rich. MERCY: An; attitude beloved of offenders MIRACLE: An act unaccountable, as beating a normal hand of four kings and an ace with four aces and a king. MISFORTUNE: The kind of fortune that never misses. MISS: A female who is in the market. MOUTH: In man, the gateway to the soul; in woman, the outlet of the heart.

NEPOTISM: Appointing your grandmother to office for the good of the party. NOISE: A stench in the ear. NOSE: The outpost of the face.

NOVEL: A short story padded. OPPOSITION: In politics, the party that prevents the government from running amuck by hamstringing it. PAINTING: The art of protecting a flat surface from the weather by exposing it to the critic. PARDON: To resort to a life of crime. PATIENCE: A form of despair disguised as a virtue.

PICTURE: A representation in two dimensions of something wearisome in three. PLATITUDE: .. moral without the fable. PLATONIC: A fool's name for the affection between a disability and a frost. POLITENESS: Acceptable hypocrisy. POSITIVE: Mistaken at the top of one's voice. PRAY: To ask that the laws of the universe be annulled in behalf of an unworthy petitioner.

PREJUDICE: A vagrant opinion without visible means of support. PROOF-READER: A malefactor who atones for making it unintelligible. PUSH: One of two things conductive to success. The other is Pull. QUILL: An implement of tortue yielded by a goose and wielded by an ass.

RIOT: Popular entertainment given to the police by innocent bystanders. ROAD: A strip of land along which one may pass from where it is tiresome to be to where it is futile to go. SAINT: A dead sinner revised and edited. SIREN: Any lady of splendid promise and disappointing performance.

SUCCESS: The one unpardonable sin. TOMB: The house of indifference. TRICHINOSIS: The pig's reply to pork chops.

Ergotamine Effective Remedy For Migraine

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ergotamine is the most reliable agent in the treatment of migraine headaches. It is mixed usually with caffeine and good results are obtained in 80 per cent of all attacks. The secret is to take the remedy as soon as headache develops.

The need for quick action means that the victim must know how to administer the drug. The oral use of ergotamine is not satisfactory because the amount absorbed by the stomach is too irregular to be of value. The more adept individual takes the product hypodermically because it works more rapidly and there is no question about the amount absorbed.

Others prefer the use of suppositories. Those who can't learn to give themselves hypos are taught to place the tablet under the tongue or inhale a special aerosol mixture that is absorbed through the membranes of the nose. A word of caution is needed. Ergot is a powerful drug and continued usage or overdosage may result in serious side reactions such as gangrene of the hands or toes.

Migraine is the king of all headaches. It develops usually on one side of the head and is throbbing in nature. In addition, there may be nausea, blurring of vision, or numbness in a leg or an arm. Light as well as strong odors as from fresh paint aggravate distress and the majority prefer to sit or lie quietly in a dark room.

Migraine often runs in families. It begins early in life and is brought on by many adverse physical and psychological factors. In some, headache follows prolonged study or concentration, several sleepless nights, or unusual fatigue. Others suffer from headache when they travel or develop constipation.

The attacks occur also during the letdown that follows a period of stress such as school examinations, business conferences, moving or housecleaning. At any rate, the number of headaches can be reduced considerably when the precipitating factor is recognized and avoided.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on migraine if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Junior's feeding problems.

A TEN MILER

A. L. B. writes: I'm a retired factory worker of 76. If I trained myself to walk 10 miles a day would this exercise strengthen my heart?

REPLY

The heart cannot be strengthened like the biceps but walking will make the organ more accustomed to exertion. Ten miles is a long distance. Why not take it gradually, beginning with one mile and adding another mile each day.

AGE AND HEART

W. R. writes: Are heart attacks more serious in mid-life than in old age?

REPLY

Yes, because the basic cause of coronary thrombosis is narrowing of a hardened coronary artery. Arteriosclerosis that is causing symptoms is serious at any age but when it develops in mid-life the process is somewhat premature and represents early deterioration.

CATARACTS

P. S. writes: Is a nervous person more likely to develop cataract than one who is calm?

REPLY

No. The two are unrelated.

PROTRUDING BLADES

R. M. writes: What causes a child's shoulder blades to protrude?

REPLY

Poor posture, underdeveloped musculature, and not enough fat.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

More Surplus Foods Being Sent To W. Va.

President Issues Order For Butter

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Fourteen carloads of butter—295,654 pounds—are being shipped to West Virginia as the first step in expanding the surplus food program for needy families under a presidential directive.

Hubert E. Perry, supervisor of commodity distribution for the State Department of Public Assistance, received that notice Monday from U. S. Agriculture Department officials.

Perry said he was told that seven carloads were being shipped Monday, five more on Jan. 30 and the final two on Feb. 6.

"We have in excess of 300,000 persons receiving surplus commodities," he said. "They'll get one pound per person up to a maximum of 10 pounds for a family."

Perry said that finding warehouse space will be a problem because "we're already loaded to the gills" with items now on the distribution list — flour, meal, rice, lard and dry milk.

"We can find facilities for this one new item, but if orders are added we'll have to look for more warehouse space," he said.

Perry said he was told by USDA officials that West Virginia is receiving first priority in distribution of butter.

DPA director Thomas Egbert said the Legislature will be asked for emergency funds to handle the prospective increased shipments "if we find that is necessary."

Perry's division now has 15 trucks and eight warehouses around the state, and operates on a budget of $293,100, the same amount requested for the coming year.

The director said additional trucks, warehouse space and personnel will undoubtedly be needed when the program is expanded under President John F. Kennedy's executive order of last Saturday.

Egbert and Perry, both holdovers from the Underwood administration, are expected to be replaced shortly by appointees of new Gov. W. W. Barron.

Upwards of 400,000 West Virginians in needy families are eligible for surplus commodities while the number of actual recipients recently passed the 300,000 mark. Another 200,000 persons also participate under the school lunch program and as inmates of state institutions.

AAUW Board Studies Plan For Conventions, Election

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women board of directors, at a meeting in Lowndes Hall of Frostburg State Teachers College, made plans for their annual election, heard reports and discussed legislation and the state convention to be held in Cumberland this spring.

GETS ASSIGNMENT — Pvt. E2 James H. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, left December 3, for Munson Kera where he will spend 18 months. He spent a 14-day leave at home before going to San Francisco, Calif., to be shipped overseas. He enlisted in July 1960 and received training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Miss Bernice Winner, and Miss Mabel Myers were named to assist Mrs. Ernest Ogden, chairman of the nominating committee to choose new officers for the branch.

Dr. Hazel Ramsey and Miss Jane Grindel were named to act on an award committee, in conjunction with the president; Mrs. Reford Aldridge and Mrs. Lowell Sowers, chairman.

Mrs. Donald Butts, membership chairman was in charge of an orientation program for 13 new members, and presented a history of the organization.

Each member gave a review of activities of her particular branch. Miss Imogene Caudill reviewed the Arts; Dr. Ramsey reviewed the International Relations program; Miss Grindle discussed Mass Media; Miss Josephine Frase, Secondary and Elementary Education; Miss Esther Doerr, Higher Education; and Miss Jean Cordts, Young Woman's Study Group. Miss Cordts exhibited colored slides of the fall flower show.

There was brief discussion of the state convention to be held in Cumberland, April 21-22. The branch has been advised that Mrs. John Sippel of Laurel, chairman of the state nominating committee has submitted the names of Mrs. Conrad C. Mueller of Silver Spring for state president; Mrs. Gordon Prange, College Park, for state vice president; and Mrs. Quentin Verdier, Kensington, as state corresponding secretary.

The national convention, to which the branch hopes to have representation will be held in Washington, D. C. June 18 to 23.

The next board meeting will be held February 7 at the home of Mrs. Roger Hasbein, Standish Street.

The social committee served refreshments with Mrs. Gerald Reeves, chairman, assisted by Miss Datha Thomas and Mrs. Robert Hager. The branch voted a resolution to be sent to the family of Miss Kathleen Wolf, deceased.

It was reported that Maryland AAUW now has a membership of 1,758.

Parents' Consent Proposed For W.Va. Driving Licenses

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill requiring that parental consent be required before 16 and 17-year-old youths could obtain a driver's license in West Virginia was recommended for passage Monday by the House Judiciary Committee.

Presently, a boy or girl may obtain a license at the age of 16 simply by passing a State Police driver's test.

A bill along the lines of that reported to the House floor Monday passed the House last year but died in a Senate committee.

Cub Scouts Arrange Party

LONACONING—A games party will be held Wednesday at the VFW home at 7 p. m. for friends and families of the Cub Scouts.

Refreshments will be sold at this party at the VFW home.

Pack No. 26, Cub Scouts, will meet on Monday, January 30, at the Presbyterian Church education building.

Homemakers To Study Wills

LONACONING — Lonaconing Homemakers Club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the VFW home.

Mrs. John McKenzie will give a demonstration talk on "Important Papers and Wills."

Mrs. Marie Clark, Mrs. Betty Shockey, Mrs. Becky Wilson and Mrs. Margaret Lintz will be hostesses for this January meeting.

Enters Hospital

PIEDMONT—Donald M. Mellor, Ashfield Street, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for treatment.

Businessmen Meet Thursday

FROSTBURG — Edward P. Flanigan, president of the Frostburg Merchants Association, has announced that a meeting will be held Thursday at 6 p. m. at Salem United Church of Christ recreation room. Flames, Smoke, Water, Wreck Frostburg Restaurant

Fire, smoke and water caused extensive damage to the interior of Harper's Park Lane, a Frostburg restaurant owned and operated by Lucius Harper. Volunteers of the Frostburg and Clarysville fire companies had trouble getting to the source of the blaze between a built up ceiling and roof of the one-story building. At least 40 or 50 volunteers from Frostburg and Clarysville fought the stubborn blaze. They took three trucks to the scene. The fire seemed to be concentrated in the area midway in the building about a block from Frostburg State Teachers College. The fire was possibly caused by an overheated furnace, according to the firemen. The photo shows the extensive damage to the interior of the building.

Bills Offered To Increase Aid To Schools

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Both houses of the West Virginia Legislature Monday received a bill designed to eventually provide $38 million more a year for the state's school system.

The measure, introduced by Del. Noah E. Floyd, D-Mingo, and Sen. C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, is backed by the State Education Department and the West Virginia Education Association (WVEA).

The proposed legislation would add $12.7 million to state school aid in the first year, with the amount increasing each year until it reaches $38 million after four years. This would include a $1.5 million fund for matching purposes for counties to use for general school improvements.

Under the proposal, teachers with college degrees would get a $60 month pay hike the first year. Other teachers would get a $30 monthly pay raise. Teachers also would get an additional week's pay each year to help pay for studies to met requirements for accreditation.

There would be further pay hikes in each of the ensuing three years.

Floyd and McKown, education committee chairmen in their respective chambers, also introduced another bill backed by the WVEA. It would provide an additional $1 a month for each year of service for retired school teachers not covered by social security.

Introduced in the Senate by President Howard Carson were two administration bills — one to set up a new state department of commerce and one to create an industrial development authority to make loans to new industry coming into the state. Both were introduced in the House last Thursday.

Other bills included measures to:

—Substitute a flat fee of $5 for all services by justices of the peace in civil suits and a flat fee of $2.50 for all fees relating to garnishment and execution proceedings, by Del. Tsapis, D-Hancock.

—Increase from $20,000 to $25,000 the amount that can be recovered from a wrongful death provided a financial or pecuniary loss can be proved, by Dels. Myles, D-Fayette, and Seibert, R-Ohio.

LONACONING — Lonaconing City Band will practice this evening at 7:30 at the band hall.

Seeks More Pay For State Police

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Police Supt. William E. Burchett plans to ask the legislature to increase both the pay and number of members of the West Virginia State Police force.

Burchett is expected to request, possibly this week, a $300,000 allocation to provide a $50 per month pay raise, as well as an increase of 50 men to raise the total to 337.

Burchett, who replaced Hazen H. Fair in the post just last week, would like to have at least 400 men in the force. However, he'll settle now for an additional 50, he said. And he may have a good chance to get his request.

The former Huntington resident has already talked over the matter with several members of the legislature. Burchett reportedly got some encouragement, though no definite commitments.

Mental Health Crash Plan Is Given Support

State AAUW Votes Full Endorsement

FROSTBURG — The Maryland State Division of the American Association of University Women, at a recent meeting in Baltimore, voted to take an active stand for, and interest in a program of mental health and aging legislation to be proposed in the Maryland General Assembly.

Thus, they placed their support alongside that of the Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce, in their proposed 19 million-dollar crash program to improve mental health services and facilities, and to the Department of Mental Hygiene budget for 1961-62. The program also has the support of the Maryland Mental Health Association and is being promoted in the present session of the Maryland General Assembly.

The State Board of the AAUW organization with 22 statewide branches also voted to approve proposed legislation to provide more equitable representation in the Maryland Assembly, (the reapportionment issue.) Only nine of the branches of this state group are in metropolitan areas, which stand to gain greater representation by this measure. The other thirteen counties of Maryland include Allegany, Washington, and Carroll counties. The reapportionment item was introduced three months ago, in October, by the Bethesda-Chevy Chase branch and was studied by the other branches and approved by a majority of them.

In order to strengthen public education throughout the state, Miss Jane Joslyn of Annapolis, State Chairman of Elementary and Secondary Education, urged the AAUW branch delegates to support actively in their own counties the adoption of adequate county education budgets.

Explorer Five Routs Valley Knights, 97-58

Long Tallies 35 To Pace Eleventh Consecutive Win

By TED TROXELL

Sharpshooting LaSalle "zeroed in" its guns last night on the SS. Peter and Paul target range for a 97-58 victory over a defenseless Valley High quint.

On Friday night the red-hot Explorers, who have rolled to 11 wins in a row, will trair their fire on city rival Allegany in a battle that promises to draw a record crowd into the Campobello gymnasium.

With the regulars playing all but the latter part of the fourth period, LaSalle scored bullseyes on 41 of 68 shots from the floor for a remarkable .603 percentage.

Field goal accuracy is the height-lacking but run-happy Explorers' forte and they were popping them in at such a rate last night that the fans were urging them to hit the hundred mark.

Explorers Fall Shy

At the end of the third period the Irish held an 81-39 advantage and it appeared quite likely that the triple-digit total would be reached. Valley, however, slowed it up in the final quarter and the Explorers fell three shy of the "magic number."

Junior Mike Long, who was already far in front in the city scoring race before last night's contest, racked up 15 field goals and converted four of six free throws for 34 points, upping his total to 278 in 13 games. Long, who missed only six shots from the floor, upped his per-game average from 20.3 to 21.4.

Valley, having its worst year since the school was opened in 1953, led briefly in the first period when a jump shot and foul toss by Tommy James gave the Knights a 5-4 edge. Phil Barbe canned a free throw to tie it up, then Long registered five straight points to give the Explorers a lead they steadily increased.

Coach George Geatz's crew scored 26 points in the first quarter, added 27 in the second and 28 in the third. They shot at a better than .500 clip in every period, missing only four of 16 attempts in the opening stanza.

Hit Double Figures

Long had plenty of scoring help from his teammates, as the other four starters all hit in double figures. John Sloan collected 17, Barbe got 1, and Gary Blake and Carroll Wilt tallied 13 apiece. Wilt was the only player to leave the game with five personals, making his exit with 6:20 remaining.

The Black Knights made but seven of 28 floor tries in the first half but came back with a 14-27 performance after intermission to wind up with a 21-55 mark for the night. Wayne Johnson and Clarence Kimble paced the Knights in scoring with 15 points each.

Hyndman Registers First BCL Victory Over Bedford 74-57

HYNDMAN, Pa. — Coach John Keller's Hyndman High cagers broke a five-game losing streak here last night to score their first victory in the Bedford County League, turning back Bedford High's Bisons, 74-57.

The win was the fifth of the season for Hyndman which is now 1-3 in the league. Jim Arnold paced the victory with 22 points while teammate Vohn Lehman chipped in with 19. High for Bedford was Arnold with 14 points.

In the preliminary game Hyndman's Jayvees edged the Bedford Junior Varsity, 44-42, in an overtime battle. The lineups:

WMI Fans Eye Bruce — Jawns Back In O.B.
Lycoming Is Coming — Nelson Dunstan Dies

By C. V. BURNS

BRUCE HIGH SCHOOL, a member of the W.M.I. League since 1924, never has won a basketball championship in the county circuit but this could be the Bulldogs' year.

At the present time Coach Leonard Ritchie's quint is tied with Allegany High for first place at 4-1 and three of the victories were scored away from home over Beall, Mt. Savage and Allegany.

The closest that Bruce came to winning in recent years was in 1954 when the Western-port team headed by Dave Marple, Mike Nofsinger and Jim Cave was nosed out by Allegany. The Campers finished with 9-1 and Bruce was 8-2. Both losses came at the hands of Allegany. That year the Bulldogs copped state Class B honors and wound up with an overall record of 23-3.

In 1953, Marple, Cave, Nofsinger, Wilson, Biggs, etc., had a good season but Allegany had a better one (9-1) and annexed the league title. Bruce finished in a tie with Fort Hill (7-3) for the runner-up spot. Their losses were to Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill. The Bulldogs, however, bagged the state Class B crown and took 21 out of 25 games.

Last season Bruce finished second with 7-3 and Allegany led with 9-1. Two of the three Bruce defeats were dealt out by the Campers.

Thirty-seven years ago Bruce came into the W.M.I. loop replacing Keyser High. Keyser was a charter member in 1921 along with Barton, Central, Beall, Allegany and LaSalle.

Members of the 1924 Bruce team were Wilt, Dellinger, Hamer, Umstot, Fazenbaker, Davis and Marsh.

With five games remaining anything can happen and it should be a ding dong battle from here to Continued on Page 15, Col. 5

Bucs Hurler Guest Of Dapper Dans

Bob Friend, one of the pitching stalwarts of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team, will attend the Cumberland Dapper Dan sports celebrity dinner this Sunday evening, according to Al Abrams, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and national president of the Dapper Dans.

Abrams announced that Friend and Mal Alberts, TV sportscaster, will be in the Pittsburgh party along with shortstop Dick Groat, National League batting champ and most valuable player.

Alberts a a former Notre Dame football play-by-play announcer and served as master of ceremonies here at the 1959 Dapper Dan dinner.

Friend will be making his first trip to Cumberland. The husky righthander posted an 18-12 record for the Pirates in 1960, although he failed to win in two starts in the World Series against New York. He won 22 games for Pittsburgh in 1958.

Toastmaster for the local dinner will be Jimmy Gibbons, veteran sports announcer from Washington.

Tickets are now on sale and proceeds will be turned over to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Ridgeley High Evens Series With Indians

Blackhawks Whip Mt. Savage, 65-54

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks squared accounts for an earlier 47-44 defeat by winning the final game of their season series from Mt. Savage High School last night at Ridgeley by the score of 65-54.

The win enabled Coach Thomas O'Connor's team to reach the .500 mark with a 7-7 record.

In the first half the teams battled to a 30-30 draw but Ridgeley pulled ahead in the third period at 47-42 and never gave up the lead thereafter.

The loss was the sixth against four victories for the Indians.

Bobby Robertson, of Mt. Savage, was the game's high scorer with 23 points on nine field goals and 5-11 fouls.

Frank Lambert sparked the Ridgeley scorers with 15 tallies, Larry Hinkle collected 13, Jimmy Powelson 13 and Dave Imes 12. Ralph Wilson was runner-up for Mt. Savage with 14 markers.

Powelson committed his fifth personal just as the final whistle sounded.

Rebels Down Alco, 55-53, Sweep Series

South's 24-Point Splurge In Second Period Big Factor

Coach Nick Scallion's high flying South High Rebels made a sweep of their season series with Allegany High School by defeating the Campers last night at Hagerstown by the score of 55-53.

The victory was the 13th in 14 starts for the Rebs who defeated Coach Chet Payne's quint in an overtime battle here December 28 by the score of 70-64. Allegany went down to defeat for the fourth time in 12 games.

South High won the game in the second period by outscoring Allegany 24 to 8 after the teams had battled to an 11-11 tie in the opening period. The Campers outpointed the Rebs 21-8 in the third quarter and 13-12 in the final heat but were unable to overcome the second period deficit. Allegany pulled within a point of South High at 46-45 in the last period but was unable to catch the Washington countians.

Mervin Pope, of Allegany, was the game's high point scorer with 28 points. He garnered nine field goals and sank 10 of 12 foul shots. Strawther, South High pivot man, registered on 11 shots from the field and accounted for 23 points. Walker was runner-up with 14 tallies.

The Rebels in scoring their fourth consecutive win outscored Allegany 25 to 20 from the field. The Campers meshed 13 of 23 free throws to 5 out of 9 by the winners.

Cousy Scores 33 As Celtics Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Cousy clicked off 12 straight points in a spectacular third quarter burst that paced the Boston Celtics to a 125-112 victory over the New York Knickerbockers Tuesday night before 12,104 National Basketball Association fans at Madison Square Garden.

The defeat was the third consecutively for the Knicks, who led 55-52 at halftime and who even looked superior to the Celtics until Cousy led them on a 40-point spurt in the third quarter.

Cousy, the game's leading scorer, netted 33 points, 19 of them during the decisive third quarter which ended with the Celtics out front, 92-79. Willie Naulls led the losers with 25 points.

Romney Snaps PVC Loss Skein, Trips Paw Paw

Pioneers Win Game, 56 To 52; Warriors Score

Romney High's Pioneers, struggling in the throes of a dismal season in the wake of last year's undefeated championship team, snapped a seven-game losing streak in the Potomac Valley Conference last night by upsetting Paw Paw High's Pirates, 56-52, at Romney.

The win was only the second of the season for freshman coach Roger Parker's Pioneers as they handed Paw Paw its fourth conference loss in a battle of also-rans in the 19-team circuit.

Paw Paw Holds Edge

Paw Paw led 24-23 at halftime and held a 42-40 edge at the close of the third quarter before Romney rallied to snatch the victory. The score was tied at 46, 48, and 50 in the final minutes. Then Romney's Connie Davie, John Blue and Terry Mezzatesta dumped in three quick field goals to ice the verdict for the Pioneers. Tom Malcolm's 12th field goal for Paw Paw closed out the scoring with seconds left to play.

Blue was the top scorer for Romney with 20 points. Malcolm pumped in 27 tallies for the losers.

Hubert High, Romney forward, injured his leg shortly before the game ended and had to be carried from the floor.

In other PVC battles between non-contending clubs Wardensville High's Warriors handed Capon Bridge its sixth league defeat, 65-63, on Dixon Orndorff's pair of fouls in the final seconds, and Franklin High's Panthers dumped Circleville High's Indians,69-46, at Franklin.

Come From Behind

At Wardensville, the Warriors came from 10 points behind to catch Capon Bridge in the final period, tying the game at 60-all on a goal by Orndorff. The high-scoring center then broke a 63-63 deadlock with his game-winning foul shots, with 15 seconds to play.

Orndorff was the contest's top point-getter with 38 points to win a personal duel with center Rova Thorne of Capon Bridge who ended up with 33 points for the losers.

Franklin's Panthers won their third conference game in eight starts with an easy triumph over Circleville which bowed for the fourth time in six league engagements.

Charles Moyers scored 15 field goals and 30 points for Franklin who led 13-5, 24-13 and 50-26 at the quarters. Best for Circleville was Orville Harper, high-scoring Indians forward who was held to 11 tallies.

Oldtown Quint Edges W. Va. Deaf On Fouls, 56-55

Oldtown High's cagers scored their third victory in their last four games last night by turning back the West Virginia School for Deaf quintet, 56-55, at Romney when Charles Youngblood converted two fouls with only two seconds remaining to play.

Oldtown trailed most of the first half before catching the West Virginia cagers in the third period to lead 43-40. With less than a minute to play a field goal by Moses Vance gave the Romney tossers a 55-54 lead which was wiped out by Youngblood's clutch free throws.

Vance was the game's leading scorer with 24 points while Dallas Hansberger scored 15 for Oldtown which now has a 4-7 mark for the season. The lineups:

Pistons Win Over Royals 10th Time

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons continued their hold over the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night, defeating them for the 10th time this season in 11 games, 106-104, in a wild fourth quarter.

Cincinnati's Jack Twyman was the game's high scorer with 37 points. Bailey Howell led the Pistons with 29. Royal star Oscar Robertson returned to limited action after sitting out three contests with an injured hip. He scored four points in the 11 minutes that he played.

Catamounts Avenge Early Loss, 98-82

Loughmen Post 10th Victory; Ferrell Gets 29, Allen 26

Potomac State's Catamounts, defeated on December 10 by the decisive score of 85-44 at Elkins, showed a complete reversal of form last night by trimming Davis and Elkins College in the return contest at Keyser by the score of 98-82.

The score was tied nine times before Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's team pulled out the decision in the closing minutes of play.

With the game knotted at 79-79 Mike Checkan tossed in the goal that put the Catamounts ahead to stay.

Potomac held a 10-point lead at 17-7 early in the game but the Senators came from behind to forge ahead at 46-44 at intermission.

The score was tied at 21-21 in the first half and at 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 73, 75 and 79 in the final stanza.

Despite a bad ankle Checkan played the last 16½ minutes and figured prominently in the victory by ringing up a total of 19 points on eight field goals and 3-4 at the charity stripe.

Bob Ferrell, D. & E. forward, who has been averaging 26 points a game, was the game's high scorer with 29 tallies. He collected 11 field goals and converted 7 out of nine free throws. John Allen paced the Catamounts with 26 markers on nine baskets and 8 out of 15 at the foul line. Kenny Vance dumped in 16 and John Fahey garnered 13 for the victors.

Stan Shingleton and Fahey of Potomac and Bill Kirk of D. & E. exited on personal fouls.

The victory gave Potomac a 10-6 overall mark and a 2-4 record in the West Virginia Conference. The setback was the ninth against three wins for the Elkins quint.

Baltimore Gets Herzog, Snyder In Trade With A's

Courtney, Pilarcik, Boyd, Causey, Archer Figure In Exchange

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Frank (Trader) Lane swung his first deal as the new general manager of the Kansas City Athletics Tuesday by obtaining five Baltimore Orioles in exchange for outfielders Whitey Herzog and Russ Snyder.

In a straight swap with no cash involved, the A's picked up catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Jim Archer, infielder Wayne Causey, first baseman Bob Boyd and outfielder Al Pilarcik.

"This is by no means an earth-shaking deal," Lane said. "But it will give us a respectable club with which to open spring training."

Lane pointed out that the A's lost three infielder, two catchers and two pitchers in the draft that followed the addition of two teams to the American League for the coming season.

Herzog, 29, missed half of the 1960 season because of a calcium deposit in his leg. In 83 games last year, he hit .266 and collected 10 doubles, two triples and eight home runs. He drove in 38 runs.

Obtained In Trade

The 26-year-old Snyder was obtained by the A's in a 1959 trade with the New York Yankees. Last year, Snyder led the A's in stolen bases with seven and batted .260 on 79 hits, including 10 doubles, 5 triples and 4 home runs.

In Courtney, the A's obtained a 33-year-old veteran who has seen service with Baltimore, the St. Louis Browns, the Chicago White Sox, and the Washington Senators. Courtney was the American League's Rookie Of The Year in 1952.

Last year, Courtney batted .227 for the Orioles. He has been a major leaguer for eight years.

Lane described the 24-year-old Causey as "a fine prospect who has come a long way since being signed as a bonus player." Lane added that Causey gives the A's "a good young shortstop to compete with Dick Houser." Causey was with Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League last season, and also plays second and third base."

Has Good Arm

Pilarcik, who was with the A's in 1956, hit .247 last year in 104 games with the Orioles. Lane said the 30-year-old outfielder "has a good arm and is a good fly-shagger, although he doesn't have Herzog's power with the bat."

Lane described the 28-year-old Archer as "a left-handed cutie with good control and a good curve and change of pace. He will beef up our crooked arm pitching staff." Archer had an 11-12 record with Miami of the International League last year.

Lane said the 35-year-old Boyd is "an excellent pinch-hitter who could fill in at first base behind Marv Throneberry." In 71 games with the Orioles last year, Boyd batted .317.

Chappell Leads Scorers In ACC

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Len Chappell, Wake Forest's 6-8, 240-pound junior who missed his team's first two games last month because of a knee injury, has taken the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball scoring race at the halfway point.

For 13 games he's averaging 23.5 points against 23.1 for runnerup Art Heyman, Duke sophomore.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

Red Grange . . . the "Galloping Ghost"

THE "GHOST OF THE GRIDIRON" was no ghost that sunny October day in 1924 when he dazzled 66,609 spectators with the greatest scoring exhibition in football history—he was there, in person, and seen by all except a few Michigan defenders.

Harold (Red) Grange, the GREATEST of all football players wearing his famed "77" jersey, stood on the five-yard line as Michigan kicked off. The ball was a low liner and the Illinois star caught the ball near the corner of the gridiron, with the sideline to his left.

At the start it looked like a routine runback, but as Grange passed the 30 and then zigged and zagged through a group of defenders near the middle of the field all knew the Galloping Ghost was on his way. And he was, for 95 yards, and a touchdown on the opening play!

The crowd, a capacity gathering because Illinois was dedicating its new Memorial stadium, had hardly got through buzzing on this spectacular when Grange took a pass from center, the second time he handled the ball, and bare-legged it through the Wolves for 70 yards and a second touchdown.

It was only the beginning.

Before the quarter was over, the "Ghost" handled the ball four more times and twice he went for touchdowns, one of 57 yards and the fourth TD one of 43 yards.

Grange left the quarter after 10 minutes—had scored four sensational touchdowns!

He wasn't through. In the third quarter he ran 13 yards for his fifth touchdown. In the fourth, he threw a pass for the sixth Illini score.

Grange had played 41 minutes, gained 402 yards, carried the ball 21 times, completed six passes and held the ball for Earl Britton on tries for goals after touchdowns.

RED GRANGE, an All-American in 1923, repeated in 1924 and again in 1925. The Michigan game wasn't his only starring effort. Against Penn, in the East, on a muddy field, he scintillated with three long touchdown runs to rout the Quakers. In another one, against Chicago, he rose to great heights with an 80-yard run against the Maroon to score the tying touchdown.

In three years at Illinois, Grange scored 186 points, set a season mark in 1924 with 78 points, had 31 touchdowns for his career and the 13 TDs in a season in 1924 was high then and is now.

A NATIONAL HERO, Grange drew censure and applause when he quit school after the game with Ohio State in November, 1925, and turned pro. He signed with the Chicago Bears, and drew 36,000 fans to Wrigley Field. A week later he drew 68,000 in New York and on a tour which followed he packed 'em in.

Movies followed, too, and so did a long professional career with the Bears. He retired in 1935 after giving the pro game a big boost with his magnetism.

GRANGE was born at Wheaton, Ill., in 1903. His mother died when he was five. A younger brother, Garland, also played at Illinois and was considered by some as even a better football player.

Since he quit pro football, Grange has spent most of his career in broadcasting. He still is doing that and does a fine job at it.

Tar Heels Granted Permission To Drop Out Of Tournament

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference Tuesday granted the University of North Carolina permission to withdraw from this year's championship basketball tournament. The ACC left the door open for a change of heart by the university with the statement that "such withdrawal is not mandatory."

Chancellor William B. Aycock of the University of North Carolina could not be reached immediately for comment. Aycock Monday dispatched notice to ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver here that the university wished to drop out of the tournament because it was under one-year NCAA probation and ineligible to play for the national title.

Aycock said "in the interest of fair play" a team ineligible to play for the NCAA title should not compete against teams with a chance to try for the national title.

The North Carolina team, fourth ranked nationally, has a 12-2 record and has won its last 10 games.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of America's favorite sports is telling the other guy how to spend his money or run his business and that leads us into the annual "suggestion box" for the athletic industry.

They—meaning the men in command — probably won't but why don't they do something like this:

Adopt for all of baseball a suggestion by the Pacific Coast League to let a pinch-hitter bat for a weak-hitting pitcher and allow the pitcher to remain in the game to do what he does best—pitch.

On intentional walks, automatically send the runner to first base without wasting time with four deliberately wide pitches.

Names On Uniforms

Provide player uniforms with names as well as numbers for all televised baseball, football and basketball games. TV cameras frequently take a viewer much closer to the action than a fan in the grandstand but even if you have a numbered roster at your chairside, how can you read it in a dimly lighted living room to identify players? (The "names" idea is beginning to catch on but let's make it unanimous.)

Raise the basket from 10 to 12 feet to cut down the scoring in basketball.

Widen the nets to increase scoring in hockey, thereby reducing the chances for tie games, probably increasing interest among new fans and taking some of the heat off the goalies who take most of the raps for defeats. (This campaign now is 25 years old and remains exactly where it began—nowhere.)

Announce the scoring at the end of each round in a boxing match so the crowds and the fighters know where they stand. Or at least add up the totals just before the last round begins and, if it's a draw to that point, let 'em all know to put more drama in the final round.

Make the football pros boot conversion points from the 15 yard line—at least.

More "Wild Cards"

In college football, make all backfield men "wild cards who can come and go as they please.

In major tennis tournaments for men (Wimbledon, U.S. championships), make the early rounds the best two of three sets instead of best of five going to "best of five" from the quarter-finals on.

Match play golf tournaments schedule early matches at 18 holes before going to 36 near the end. Keeps the schedule uncluttered.

Put the annual PGA golf championship back on a match play basis instead of 72-hole stroke play like every other tournament on the tour.

Make perfected electronic gadgets like the phototimer (in track) the official judge of finishes instead of letting the vulnerable human eye decide winners.

Have scoreboards in baseball that tell you who's warming up in the bullpen.

Settle the pro football war and give us a "world series" between champions of the two leagues.

Battered Cup Goes To Toronto Leafs

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs think the Governors' Cup looks more like a booby prize than a pennant trophy after collecting the cup for winning the International League flag during the 1960 Baseball season. The cup is 25 years old. And it looks it.

When the cup arrived here Monday, it had a chipped base, a bent lid and blotched and peeling silver plating.

General Manager Frank Pollock of the Leafs said "there's nothing to indicate what teams have won it. I'm going to suggest at our league meeting this Saturday that the names of the pennant winners be engraved on the cup."

Chargers Transfer To San Diego Assured

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Transfer of the American League football Chargers from Los Angeles to San Diego was assured Tuesday when the City Council agreed to proposed improvements at city-owned Balboa Stadium.

It instructed City Manager George Bean to negotiate a contract with the Chargers, and go forward with stadium improvements.

The action followed appearance before the council of Barron Hilton, owner of the Chargers, who wanted to move the team here because of lack of support by Los Angeles fans.

Five Of Top PVC Quints Will See Action Tonight

Beall-Fort Ashby, Petersburg-Keyser Battles Top Card

Five of the six teams in the thick of the fight for the Potomac Valley Conference basketball championship will see action tonight at Keyser, Bayard, Fort Ashby and Piedmont.

Petersburg's Vikings, occupants of second place with a 9-1 record, do battle with "Eck" Miers' Keyser High Golden Tornado at Keyser.

Beall At Fort Ashby

Beall High, holder of the runner-up spot back of LaSalle (4-0) with a 4-1 record, engages Fort Ashby's Eagles on the latter's court. Fort Ashby, Moorefield and Elk Garden are deadlocked for third place with 7-2 records.

Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden quint tackles Bayard High at Bayard and LaMar Sager's Moorefield Yellowjackets face Piedmont High on the Lions' court.

Petersburg won the series opener from Keyser, 68-52, and the Golden Tornado will be seeking revenge although it is practically out of the title running with a 3-4 mark.

Beall opened the season with a 66-49 decision over Fort Ashby but Quentin Sayers' quint, paced by the high scoring Paul Price, who is averaging 31 points a game in P.V.C. competition, may make it mighty interesting for the Mountaineers in the return tilt.

Lions Seek Revenge

Moorefield holds a 40-39 decision over "Huck" Miers' Lions who will be out for revenge on their home floor. Piedmont is 4-5 in the league.

Bayard has failed to win a P.V.C. game in four outings and will be trying to avenge an earlier 59-51 setback when it tackles Elk Garden in Grant county tonight.

Beagle Qualifying Trial Is Postponed

The all-age qualifying trial scheduled Sunday by the Allegany Beagle Club has been postponed because of the inclement weather, officials of the organization announced last night.

CHRYSLER
1959 Studebaker Lark Wag.
This is a local one owner wagon that has never been in commercial use. This wagon has been through the garage and is in A-1 condition. It is a solid color of light green finish and the interior is spotless. It has a six cylinder engine with standard shift that gives you a lot of miles to the gallon of gas. The equipment includes heater, defroster, signal lights, side mirror, foam rubber seats, plus the small accessories. This wagon has been winterized with anti-freeze and snow tread tires. This is a wonderful opportunity to own a 59 wagon for just

Broad And Active Market Is Erratic And Indecisive

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market Tuesday was active, broad, erratic, and indecisive. The popular averages never strayed very far from home but many individual price changes were large.

International Business Machines climbed a whopping 24½ points following its 3-for-2 split and dividend boost. H. J. Heinz tacked on 8 on split rumors and Hercules Powder lost 6½, or nearly all of Monday's big jump.

The overall market of 1,294 issues showed more losers than gainers — 556 to 490 and the Dow Jones industrial average agreed by dropping 1.03 to 638.79. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks, however, registered a small rise. New highs outnumbered new lows by 79 to 5.

The railroad issues made the difference, falling 1.38 to 140.57, according to D-J. This was largely due to Great Northern, off 1⅛ and C&O off 1½. The C&O was down more than 3 at one time as traders reacted to an advisory service's suggestion that the carrier's dividend might be jeopardized if the B&O merger came off. A denial by President Walter J. Tuohy quelled some fears and the stock recovered half its loss.

Utility stocks gained 0.46 to 104.05. Volume dipped to 4,280,000 shares from 4,450,000 Monday.

Ampex was the most active stock, trading 89,000 shares and rising ⅝. Following were Pfizer up 1⅝, Twentieth Century-Fox off 1⅛, AVCO up ⅜ and National Theatres off ½. American Telephone placed eighth on the list and added ⅞ to 110 and a new high. Nine of the top 15 closed higher, five were lower and elastic stop nut did not change.

Racing To Resume At Bowie Today

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The $4,500 Salisbury Purse features the reopening of Bowie Race Course Wednesday after a one-day cancellation because of foul weather.

Ten candidates were named for the five furlongs speed test for 3-year-olds on the nine race program.

The Southern Maryland oval cancelled its second day of a 48-day program Monday because snow covered most of the approach roads. Tuesdays are normally dark days at the track but the cancelled program will be made up Jan 31.

Vikings Team To Be Stocked By NFL Rivals

Minnesota To Pick 3 From Each Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League Tuesday decided on a formula to stock the new Minnesota franchise — each team except Dallas to make a list of eight players, three to be chosen by the Vikings.

The Vikings will pay a total of $550,000 to the other NFL clubs for the players, about $15,611 a man.

Last year, when Dallas was added to the league, the club was picked from a list of 11 players from each of the other teams. But Commissioner Pete Rozelle pointed out that Dallas did not participate in the draft.

The Vikings already have picked up 20 players (not signed yet) in the draft and have obtained quarterback George Shaw from the New York Giants.

The league also voted that players who were injured late last season must be included on the regular roster. Heretofore, injured players were placed on the reserve list.

The clubs will have to have their lists in by noon (EST) Wednesday, and the Vikings will have until noon Thursday to make their selections.

The selections won't be made public, Rozelle said, until the trading club has told the players. General Manager Bert Rose, Coach Norm Van Brocklin and talent scout Joe Thomas, will make the selections for the Vikings.

No decision was made on which conference the Vikings would enter. The Eastern conference has first choice of either the Vikings or Dallas, which operated as a swing team last season.

"If we had a choice," said Rose, "we'd lean toward the Western Conference because of the geographical proximity to Chicago and Green Bay, which would make for a natural rivalry."

SPORT SLANTS

the finish with all eyes focused on Prof. Ritchie's team from the Tri-Towns.

LYCOMING College, of Williamsport, Pa., will make its first appearance on a Frostburg State Teachers College schedule when it plays the Bobcat soccer team this year.

Maybe you've never heard of the school before but believe it or not it was founded in 1812. Student enrollment there is about 900.

Coach Ken Babcock of the Bobcats is now trying to Akron (Ohio) University for a pre-season warmup game.

WILLIAM "Shad" Hunt's St. Maria Goretti High School quint at Hagerstown has won 8 out of its first 12 games while Glenn Smith's Williamsport (Md.) High School team owns a 6-2 record.

ADOLPH POPP, 27, of Morgantown, is the new golf professional at the Mill Creek Country Club, Burlington, W.Va., and will take charge April 1.

Last year Popp captained the West Virginia University golf team.

In 1959 he was runner-up to Bill Campbell in the state amateur tourney at White Sulphur Springs.

A NEWS ITEM about Charleston (W. Va.) being unable to field a team in the American Association this year following on the heels of a story that Johnstown (Pa.) will return to organized ball after an absence of several years revives memories of the Middle Atlantic League days when teams from those cities battled it out with Cumberland's Colts for the championship.

In 1925, the first year of the M.A., Johnstown copped the title by winning both halves of the split season schedule. Joe Cronin, now president of the American League, was Johnstown's shortstop that year and on the same team was James "Rip" Collins, of Nantyglo, Pa., who has been appointed coach of the Chicago Cubs for 1961.

Cumberland won its first championship in organized ball in 1927 by defeating Johnstown in the post-season series.

In 1931 when the Middle Atlantic became a 12-club circuit, Cumberland defeated Watt Powell's Charleston Senators for the championship.

At Johnstown this year the Boston Red Sox will be the parent club and will try to succeed where the then Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants and St. Louis Browns failed. All three of those teams are now in new locations.—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Baltimore—in that order.

Manager of the new Johnstown team of the Eastern League is Eddie Popowski, who has been in baseball since 1936. He got his first crack at managing a team in 1941 when his Centerville (Md.) club finished fourth in the Eastern Shore League. Eddie has piloted at least a dozen teams in the minors.

Johnstown, incidentally, obtained the franchise held in the Eastern loop last year by Erie, Pa.

In the 1920s there were at least 20 cities within a radius of 150 miles of Cumberland with minor league teams. Today Johnstown is the only one.

REMEMBER John Red, the Texas horse trainer, who developed the mechanical hot walker for thoroughbreds and used it at Fairgo about ten years ago?

AND speaking of thoroughbred racing, Nelson Dunstan, 68, one of the most reliable turf writers in the business, died Saturday in New York after a long illness.

Dunstan was a columnist for the Morning Telegraph for 25 years and was president of the New York Turf Writers Association for six consecutive terms.

WALLY DOW, program secretary at the Central YMCA, informs us that the home of Mrs. George A. "Babe" Saportas, owner and trainer of race horses for many years, was destroyed the other day at Monkton, Md. Dow's home is at Monkton, a community noted for its horse breeding farms.

Mrs. Saportas, who holds the record for saddling winners at Fairgo, was at the Charles Town track at the time her home was prey to the flames.

Cincinnati Signs Frank Robinson

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Frank Robinson, major league slugging champion, Tuesday became the 13th member of the Cincinnati Reds to sign his 1961 contract.

Robinson, a 26 - year - old outfielder, had a slugging average of .595 to lead both leagues in 1960. His batting average was .297 and he hit 31 home runs, drove in 83 runs and had 70 extra-base hits.

No salary figure was disclosed, but Robinson said he was "satisfied with the terms."

No mention was made of what position he will play in 1961. He finished 1960 as an outfielder, but has played first base and has been mentioned as a third base possibility. Robinson said he prefers the outfield.

Symington Says Bad Loser Overseas Heavy Liability

American Athletes Should Be Careful About Their Manners

NEW YORK (AP)—The American sports competitor often attracts more attention overseas than our diplomat, and so we should be very careful about our manners, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Tuesday night.

"We may be able to absorb a flareup of bad sportsmanship in an event here, but the bad loser overseas is a heavy liability to all Americans," the senator added in an address prepared for delivery to the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

Symington declard there is no better ground of common interest than the field of sports for winning friends in other countries, and he added:

"Sports not only provide a means for friendly contact with people on the other side of the Iron Curtain, they also offer us a way to cement friendships at the people-to-people level with the companion countries of the free world."

Ussery Scores Aboard Trio Of Hialeah Longshots

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—Jockey Bob Ussery stole the play from John Sellers at Hialeah today as he rode three long-priced winners—including Be Cautious in the featured seventh race before 15,148 fans.

Be Cautious, a 23-1 shot, defeated heavily-favored Indian Maid, ridden by Sellers, by two lengths. Staretta was third and Make Sail fourth.

Ussery also won with Baroda ($21.20) in the third race and Alamo Maid ($16.20) in the fourth.

Be Cautious, making his first start since Oct. 6, moved into contention along the rail with a bold rush on the stretch turn and went outside to challenge front-running Staretta. He went past the leader inside the eighth pole and drew out. Indian Maid, fourth down the backstretch, closed fast to get second money, a head in front of Staretta.

Sellers, who started the day with a record of having won at least two races each day of the meeting, won the race—the fifth race on White Label ($9.60). He finished out of the money on Sho Lea, the 1-to-2 favorite, in the sixth race. He has won 16 races, 10 more than runner-up Sam Boulmetis.

Half-Billion Budget Asked

(State Budget Charts On Page 3)

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes went before the Maryland Legislature Tuesday with $515 million in spending plans and a sales tax proposal designed to keep the state treasury jingling for the next two years.

He submitted a state operating budget of $506,110,475—Maryland's first to pass the half billion mark—to a joint session of the Senate and House. It is $27 million higher than the spending program for the current year and chiefly reflects expansion of state services in health, education and welfare.

Tawes announced $9 million more will be added to the total in a supplemental budget later in the session. It will cover proposals of the Legislative Council's James Committee on fiscal matters to give local governments $6.4 million in increased aid to education and $2.5 million more for welfare programs.

Tawes plans to finance this portion of his program by lowering the sales tax to purchases of 25 cents, instead of the present 51-cent starting point, and applying the tax to restaurant meals and any other food prepared outside the home.

Would Balance

Tax officials expect this to bring in $9,404,000 in new revenue its first year. It will hit hardest the 25-and 50-cent purchaser now exempt. Beer, hamburgers, cigarets, small dime and drug store purchases and a flock of other items would fall under the tax if they cost 25 cents or more. And a purchase of 34 cents or more would require two pennies.

The tax adjustment, if adopted, would take effect June 1.

The governor's entire program of $515 million could be balanced without any tax increase and with an estimated $10 million left over next year toward balancing the fiscal 1963 budget.

But Tawes told the assembly this would not be the responsible thing to do, in view of the $18 million two-year cost of the aid program and the fact that it would head the state into almost certain financial straits next year. The budget is expected to increase $17 million without the James recommendations.

"I believe it is my financial responsibility to recommend to you for enactment at this session a revenue program which will provide this amount over a two-year period," he told the Legislature.

Others Tax Food

". . .I have consulted with the Legislative Council committee and legislative leaders and I believe it is our joint opinion that the base of the sales tax should be reduced to 25 cents and the same rate of tax should also be levied on the sales of prepared food.

"Maryland presently has one of the highest sales tax bases, and we are the only state levying a sales tax which does not tax food. . .

"The adoption by you of my recommended program to aid Baltimore City and the counties will, I firmly believe, insure a balanced budget for fiscal 1963 without recourse to further taxation. . ."

The governor made no mention of another James Committee proposal which he has endorsed—to levy a statewide tobacco tax of six cents a pack on cigarets and refund all of the increase to local governments.

But he indicated his proposed hike of $9 million in sales tax will be the last program of this type he will undertake on behalf of subdivisions. Tawes told newsmen at an advance briefing on the budget he would initiate action between the state and local governments to find new tax sources for the counties to levy without calling on the state for help.

Rejects Proposal

When officials of the State County Commissioners Association appeared before him Monday to propose the counties add a penny sales tax and boost the state income tax by ½ per cent to get new revenue, he turned them down cold.

Tawes Includes Research Unit In Md. Budget

Center Considered Boon To West Md.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday included funds for the establishment of a Western Maryland center for research and education in his budget presented to the General Assembly.

The research center was proposed by the Department of Research and Education with a view toward "improving yields from forests, game and fishing in that area and toward better protection of water from wastes."

Tawes asked the legislature to create five new positions for the research center — a conservation education specialist, three biologists and a stenographer. He included funds totaling $34,954 to get the project under way — $20,227 for salaries and $14,947 for operating expenses.

Location Not Set

As proposed, the center would be geared to conduct research on a number of projects in the area and acquaint the people with Western Maryland's resources.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the research agency, has proposed the center as a means of increasing the recreational and financial yield of the Western Maryland area.

Cronin said the center would serve Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties. It is to be located at some spot convenient to all four counties.

Legislators Pleased

The news was greeted with jubilation by Allegany County legislators, who began a drive for the center some four years ago.

'It's a great thing for Western Maryland," said Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the delegation.

He said plans call for the center to be opened in 1962 and that the budget message pointed out the ecenomy of the area can be substantially improved by better utilization of timber land, development of fishing and hunting as recreation and the prevention of pollution and poor conservation practices.

Kel-Co Credit Union Elects 1961 Officers

Members of the Kel-Co Federal Credit Union elected 1961 officers at their sixth annual meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Two new members were elected to the board of directors. They are Robert D. Swarner, secretary, and Herbert H. Randolph.

Re-elected to the board were Melvin E. Dye, president; A. E. Johnson, vice president; Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer-manager; A. J. Jenkins, J. D. Brandenburg, Jack B. Ruggles, A. F. Young, Floyd P. Grace, G. M. Yost and H. H. Randolph.

Named to the Credit Committee were James Stein and Marshall Houdersheldt, and to the Supervisory committee, Harold Fishell, Charles Little and Garnet Yost.

The credit union was formed January 25, 1955, to serve employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

It began operations in a small room in the Rubber Workers Hall at 152 North Mechanic Street and recently moved into its new building at Lee and Paca streets along the route to the Kelly plant.

Mr. O'Baker, treasurer, reported that the credit union had 1,658 members on December 31, and assets of $852,078.50.

Loans outstanding totaled $800,737.11, he said, and members shares amounted to $706,451.69. It was the fourth consecutive year, Mr. O'Baker said, that the credit union has paid a five per cent dividend on members' savings.

Speaks At YMCA Dinner

W. H. Edmund, executive consultant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, seated center, is shown conferring with the dinner co-chairmen before speaking at the 87th annual dinner meeting last night of the YMCA. Seated at the left is H. D. Barber, co-chairman, while standing at the right is J. Carson Dowell, the other co-chairman, who introduced Mr. Edmund.

150 Citizens Attend Annual YMCA Dinner

Goodyear Consultant Addresses Group

Some 150 persons attending the 87th annual meeting of Central YMCA last night in the "Y" community room were reminded that American corporations today are playing a role that goes far beyond the conventional operations that call for manufacture and sale of products.

The speaker was W. H. Edmund, executive consultant for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio. He is presently on special assignment by the company, from coast to coast, after having served 17 years in Goodyear's industrial relations division.

"The companies themselves recognize the necessity of being good citizens, that they should be concerned with more than making a profit and paying taxes, and that they should make contributions to the overall welfare of the country," Mr. Edmund said.

Commends YMCA

The speaker then paid tribute to the YMCA for offering one of the atmospheres for this service. He pointed out that while 150 interested citizens were attending the 87th annual dinner here last night, some 4,000 in Chicago were attending the 103th annual YMCA dinner there at the McCormick Exposition Center.

In the course of his remarks, the Goodyear consultant attempted to carry his audience figuratively 40 years hence to the year 2000. In view of the great strides being made in research, he said it is almost immpossible to picture civilization as it will be 40 years hence. Forecasters estimated that there will be twice as many people in the United States when the 21st century gets started.

Our government will have an important role to assure that the free enterprise system is still preserved in 2000, Mr. Edmund said. There also is a governmental responsibility to assure that education is improved through better teaching at all levels.

Tulsa Choir To Present Double Musical Treat

A double concert treat is in store for Cumberland area music lovers Saturday night when the Tulsa (Okla.) Modern Choir presents a two-part program at Fort Hill auditorium that includes Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah," plus a program of modern musical comedy and operetta ranging from Gilbert and Sullivan to Hammerstein and Rodgers.

Sponsored by the Lions Club of Cumberland for its welfare and charity fund, the Tulsa chorus includes Cumberland with Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit and New York in its annual eastern schedule. Cumberland, in fact, is the only place in 12 years where the Oklahomans have appeared every year without a break.

Under Arthur Hestwood, the director, who formerly was associated with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, the Tulsa chorus regards its annual concert in Cumberland as the highlight of its eastern tour.

Tickets are only $1 and are available from any member of the Lions Club.

Ridgeley To Open First Aid Course Tonight At 7

A standard Red Cross first aid course, being sponsored by the Ridgeley Volunteer Ambulance Unit, will begin this evening at 7 in the fire hall of that community.

Donald Jewell, a captain in the unit who is in charge of arranging the course, said interested persons over 15 who live in the Ridgeley area are invited to attend the 10-hour course being offered by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Vincent Dela Grange will be the instructor of the course, which will be taught this evening as well as the evenings of January 31, February 2 and 7. The fourth session will be a little longer than the three other classes, he said.

Mr. Jewell pointed out last night that last year at least five persons from Cumberland took a similar course sponsored by the unit.

Observance Set

The Mayor and Council this week issued a proclamation calling on citizens to join in the observance of New March of Dimes Week here January 23-29.

Auto Collides With Truck; 17 Sheep Killed

A 25-year-old Cresaptown man who teaches school in Rockville escaped serious injury early Monday when his car was demolished near Frederick when it hit and upset a sheep truck, killing 17 of the animals.

Thomas E. Rowan, who teaches at Broome Junior High School, was admitted to Frederick Memorial Hospital, although he was not seriously injured. He is expected to be discharged this morning and will return to his home in Cresaptown.

Rowan was driving alone about 1:30 a.m. Monday and was traveling south on Route 240 about three and a half miles east of Frederick toward Rockville.

Police said the driver of the sheep truck left the vehicle abandoned on the highway and when the Rowan car ran into it, the truck was upset, killing the animals.

Rowan sustained a slight concussion as well as abrasions of his hand and face. He was charged with reckless driving, according to police, who said the truck driver was charged with leaving an unattended vehicle on the highway.

Rowan, who graduated from Fort Hill High School and Frostburg State Teachers College, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowan of Cresaptown.

Bids Authorized

The Mayor and Council this week authorized the Street Commissioner to advertise for bids for chairs and air conditioning equipment for the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Baby Awakens Mother; Home Is On Fire

Fireman Is Hurt When Hit By Car

A Wiley Ford area mother, awakened early yesterday morning by her crying 15-month-old child, detected smoke and discovered their two-story log house was on fire.

While firemen were going to the fire, one of the volunteers who had been directing traffic was struck and knocked unconscious by a car, and later was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation.

He is Harry Wright, 35, who was reported in "good" condition last night.

Mrs. John Wilfong, who resides with her husband and child on Death Valley Road, detected the smoke in the house at 12:20 a.m., and firemen were reached from a telephone at a neighbor's home.

Volunteers from Wiley Ford and Ridgeley fought the blaze which turned out to be a fire around the flue in the ceiling of a downstairs room and the floor of a bedroom upstairs.

The family was forced to vacate the home while firemen quenched the blaze. Some of the furnishings of the house were removed and later were placed back in the home when the fire was out.

The Wilfongs were able to stay at their home after the fire had been put out and the rooms had been mopped up by the volunteers.

The injured fireman recalls seeing a car coming toward him while he was directing traffic. The car went into a skid and the rear of the vehicle struck him, knocking him unconscious, a fire company spokesman said.

Fire Chief William Lindsay and Trooper Robert Noechel of the West Virginia State Police at Keyser are investigating the accident.

B&O Tracks Cleared After Wreck

B&O rail traffic in the vicinity of Stricker about 14 miles west of Keyser, W. Va., disrupted Monday morning when 16 freight cars derailed, was back to normal yesterday morning, a railroad spokesman said.

Two tracks were back in service by 9 a. m. and the derailed cars had been removed prior to that time by work crews of Cumberland and Grafton.

The spokesman said an investigation of the accident is underway and there has been no estimate of damage.

Officials of the railroad said the pileup was caused when the 11th car of the eastbound freight derailed as the train was starting down the 17-mile grade.

During the tie-up, trains were re-routed through Connellsville on the Pittsburgh Division and then over the Chieftain branch to Fairmont and Grafton.

The accident occurred on the Cumberland Division of the B&O. Work crews had trouble getting to the wreck scene due to the snow-covered roads.

Pike Firemen Change Site Of Installation

Baltimore Pike Fire Company has shifted the site of its installation of officers to the fire hall.

The ceremony and dinner were scheduled for the hall of the Church of the Seven Dolors at Bean's Cove, but drifting snow has made the roads difficult to travel.

The program will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and dinner will be served by the women of the Bean's Cove church.

Industrial Gas Deliveries Cut By 40% Today

Columbia Must Save For Colder Weather

Local industries were notified late yesterday that their gas supplies will be reduced by 40 per cent at 8 a. m. today because of the cold weather.

Columbia Gas System of Maryland, Inc., said the reduction in deliveries will be made this morning because of forecasts calling for sub-zero weather.

J. S. Wilson, assistant district manager here, said the procedure is called for in agreements under which Columbia Gas sells gas to industrial customers.

He said most plants have installed standby fuel sources of their own for such periods.

Mr. Wilson said the reduction which takes place this morning will be in effect until the weather warms up.

He explained that gas supplies are not now in critical shape, but he noted that the long-range weather prediction calls for a cold February.

The winter already has been so cold, he said, that the gas company thought it best to make the reduction and conserve gas before the anticipated cold weather next month. Otherwise, he said, the gas supply could become critically short during February.

John Humbird PTA Will See Demonstration

Mouth - to - mouth resuscitation will be demonstrated at a meeting of the John Humbird School PTA tomorrow night.

Herman Cunningham of the plant protection department of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant at North Branch will conduct the demonstration at 8 p.m.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with classroom visits, during which teachers will discuss a publication furnished by the Maryland State Teachers Association titled "How Parents Can Help Johnny Read."

At 7:30 p.m. the Cub Scouts will open the program with the flag salute. Rev. Harold McClay of Emmanuel Methodist Church will offer prayer, and Mrs. Henry S. Pittman, president, will conduct the business session.

Mr. Cunningham's demonstration will follow, and refreshments will be served afterwards by the home room mothers under leadership of Mrs. Vernon Nazelrod, chairman.

The program committee, headed by Mrs. Barbara Riley and assisted by Mrs. Paul Crites and Mrs. Paul Stansbury, arranged the program.

B'er Chayim To Induct 14

Temple B'er Chayim will induct 14 new members who have joined the congregation in the past year at a special service of consecration Friday at 8 p. m.

The new members are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Bauer, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Brodell, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Edelman, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Feldman, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Horwin, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Schindler, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shrager.

Rabbi Max Selinger will conduct the service.

Meeting Planned By Clockers Club

The Clockers Club will meet Sunday at the club garage at 7:30 p. m. Members are asked to be present to discuss plans for a club dragster and an area safety campaign.

The club recently elected officers for 1961. They are Bob Smith, president; David Stull, vice president; Dale Vanderhout, secretary, and Lester Knight, treasurer.

Below-Zero Weather Is Due Today

Drifting Snow And High Winds Menace Travel

The mercury is expected to dip to 10 or 12 degrees below zero this morning in Garrett County, and additional snow flurries and continued cold and windy weather are forecast for today.

Highways of the area remain in a slippery and hazardous condition, according to police, who are recommending that motorists use care while driving.

Ralph Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said last night that by 9:30 the temperature was zero and he looked to temperatures as low as 12 below during the early morning hours.

Real winter weather continues in that county, where about four inches of fresh snow fell late Monday and early yesterday. There is about 15 inches of snow on the ground, Mr. Weber said.

High Winds Noted

Winds up to 30 miles or better blew during the day and the sun managed to break through during the afternoon. The high temperature during the day was 18 degrees and by 5 p. m. it slid to eight above zero.

Robert Golden, weather observer here, said the wind blew hard yesterday and got up to about 45 miles an hour at times. There was a trace of snow yesterday. And last night there was a skiff of snow which blew into Cumberland and covered the streets.

The high temperature here yesterday was 27 degres and the temperature had dropped to 12 degrees by 8 p. m.

Mr. Golden said he figured it would drop to zero sometime this morning.

Blizzard-like weather was reported in Frostburg last night, according to Walter Hayes, weather observer, who said there were flurries of snow off and on during the day and the temperature was about four above zero at 9:45 p. m.

Coldest In Four Years?

The coldest weather in four years is expected to hit West Virginia full force this morning, sending the mercury to a 5 to 15 degrees below zero.

A mass of fast-moving frigid air from the Arctic regions of Canada began moving into the state yesterday morning and sent temperatures steadily downward.

The Weather Bureau sums up the outlook for Maryland today in two words—very cold.

Over 300 Enjoy First Night Of Ice Skating Here

More than 300 persons turned up last night at Gephart Playground to enjoy the first night of skating offered this season by the City Recreation Department.

A blazing bonfire and recorded music provided cheer and timing for the skaters who ignored the blizzard to participate.

After the skating ended, Recreation Department workers scraped the skating area, which will be ready for use again tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Hot chocolate and coffee were served at cost by the Rec Department.

Garrett Schools Close Early

Because the mid-morning blowing of snow was causing much drifting on county roads, Garrett County public schools closed about 11 a. m. yesterday for the rest of the day.

Last night, Willard Hawkins, Garrett County school superintendent, said he was undecided about school today. However, at that time he was planning to have school today. Only one day in the week immediately before Christmas have Garrett County schools remained closed all day.

Class Meet Postponed

A meeting of the Class of 1952 of Allegany High School, scheduled for this evening at the Fiesta Room of Central YMCA, has been postponed until further notice.
